Little Girl at Kirkland Fatally Injured by Dogs

Seven-year-old Germaine Lafortune, whose parents reside at Kirkland Lake, was terribly mutilated and died after being worried by two mongrel pups, within 200 yards of the house occupied jointly by her parents and the owners of the dogs, on Monday of this week.

The little girl had been outside playing with the pups, 9 months old, and apparently had started back for the house when attacked by the animals. Her scalp was torn from her head, and her clothing strewn about the spot where the attack was made, but the child was still living when found by the owner of the dogs, as he was returning home from town at twilight. The man, Mr. Bougie, carried the little girl into the house, and medical aid was summoned. The tiny tot was beyond the help of medical skill, however, and passed away in a very short time.

A thrill of horror ran across the town when the story was told here Tuesday evening, and parents who have been allowing their children to play around without feeling alarm up to now, are making sure that they are supervised in their outdoor activities, to guard against such an occurrence taking place here.

The young dogs had never previously shown any signs of viciousness, and the sudden attack has not yet been satisfactorily explained, but it is a certainty that the animals will be destroyed immediately.

It was stated yesterday that the Lafortune family were at one time residents of Haileybury, living in the south end of the town, but efforts to verify this were unavailing.

The annual Burns' Dinner will be held at Hotel Haileybury, on Friday, January 25th, this year again, and preparations are practically complete. One hundred sprigs of heather arrived at Hotel Haileybury this week from Scotland and each guest will wear a sprig of the bonnie heather, tied with a small tartan bow. The haggis is on the way from Glasgow, and the pipers have been engaged. This dinner promises to be even a greater affair than the last one, which was such a pronounced success.

Mayor Billy Weeks was re-elected Mayor of Englehart by a majority of one hundred over D. Korman, ex-mayor.

Charbonneau Elected Mayor, Four 1928 Councillors Win

Ex-Mayor Taylor Pipe Defeated by Large Majority; W. J. Adair, 1928 Councillor Also Goes Out; Heavy Vote Polled; E. Simard, New Councillor

Wilfred Charbonneau, who stepped into the mayoralty by acclamation last summer, when Mayor Pipe resigned the position following the passing of the by-law for the paving of the upper end of Main Street, won a decisive victory over Mr. Pipe at the election on Monday and will preside over the council meetings for this year. The vote was a heavy one, in spite of the cold day, and the majority of 157 rolled up for Charbonneau left no doubt as to the wishes of the electors. In every poll the mayor was given the heavy end of the vote and only in the south and north was the vote at all close. In the extreme south end of the town Mr. Pipe came within 11 votes of his opponent, and in the north the majority was 30, while in the two central polls Mr. Charbonneau had his largest majorities. The total vote is the second largest that has been cast in a mayoralty contest since the fire in 1922, and the majority for the mayor is the largest.

Of the five members of the 1928 council who were in the running four were elected. They are Councillors Pickard, Graham, Fleming and Piche. The two new men are E. Simard and J. A. McKinnon, the latter being an old councillor who has had some five years' experience and the former being new to municipal affairs. Incidentally Mr. Simard proved his popularity by running a good third on the list. Councillor W. Adair went down to defeat, although short only eight votes from the total polled by Councillor Piche, who was the lowest man of those elected. The other candidates were M. Austin and F. Leslie.

The vote by polls was as follows:

	FOR MAYOR	FOR COUNCIL
Charbonneau	111 72 135 73—391	Pickard 152 70 103 32—357
Pipe	81 41 50 62—234	Graham 156 71 85 30—342
		Simard 58 62 123 84—327
		McKinnon .. 104 67 70 44—285

There were plenty of cars in use taking the electors out to vote and at least some of the candidates had scrutineers at the polls, which were kept open until six o'clock in order that there might be an opportunity for everyone to exercise his or her franchise. This fact made the returns late in coming in, and the fact that there were the additional two ballots for the by-laws made the work of counting up slow. There was a good crowd out at the town office to hear the results and a little quiet celebrating was done later in the evening.

Hospital and High School By-Laws Pass

Majority for Both in Monday's Election; Rotary Club Lent Assistance

The ratepayers of the town of Haileybury gave their assent to the two by-laws submitted at the municipal election on Monday, although in the case of the one providing for the addition to the technical department of the High School and the improvements to the old building, there was considerable opposition. The by-law providing for the grant of $5,000 to the Sisters of Mercy in connection with the building of the new hospital was carried by a large majority. It was simply a repetition of one already carried when the Sisters of Providence proposed to rebuild a couple of years ago.

The High School by-law was submitted at the instance of the Board when the council of 1928 declined to take the responsibility of passing it without the consent of the ratepayers. There was considerable work done in the campaign to make it go through, as it was feared that the extra debentures which will be necessary would bring the tax rate perilously near the limit of 54 mills set by the Ontario Government for the town when the special act of 1923 provided for the province taking over a portion of the town's debenture debt as a fire relief measure.

One of the mayoralty candidates, Taylor Pipe, in his statement to the electors, made it plain that he was not entirely confident that the proposed enlargement of the school would prove the benefit that it was expected to by its sponsors, and in every poll there was a considerable number of votes registered against the by-law. In the south end of town there was even an adverse vote, when thirty-four ballots were marked as against the project and only twenty-nine in its favor. However, the by-law carried by a substantial majority and the High School Board (Continued on Page 4)
