

Pictorial and Cartoon Page for Readers of The Haileyburian

No Casualties When Cutter Rams Liner

The coast liner Prince George is shown above limping into port at Boston after her crash fifty-five miles off shore in the early morning fog with the coastguard patrol boat Agassiz. Below are seen some of the 249 passengers who were rescued and safely ferried in small boats to the Agassiz and the cutter Mojave. The Agassiz is shown at right, with stove-in bow, at the Charleston Navy Yard, after the collision.

Helps Canada to Victory

Lieut. Desmond Burke, of Ottawa, famous Canadian rifleman, who was a member of the Canadian team which won the coveted Kolapore Cup, and tied with Col. Blair, of Vancouver, only to lose in the shoot-off for King's Prize.

Made a Baron

Baden-Powell, organizer and leader of the Boy Scout movement throughout the world, who has been made a baron by His Majesty on the occasion of the celebration of the twenty-first anniversary of the Boy Scout movement

May Head Grain Board

Duncan A. McGibbon, Professor of Economics at the University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the vacancy in the chairmanship of the Dominion Grain Board. The position was formerly held by Leslie Boyd, K.C.

Famous French General Tours Continent

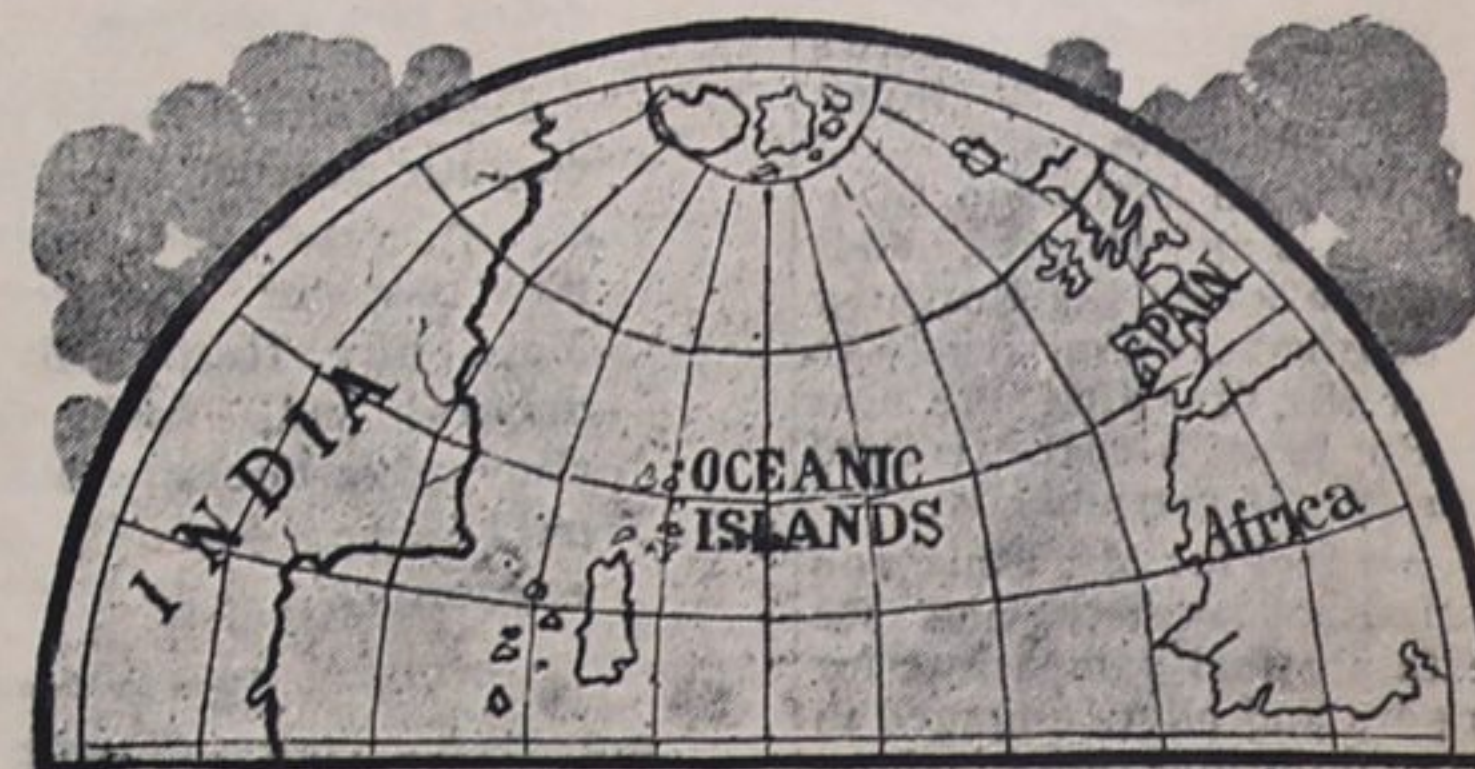

General Henry Joseph E. Gouraud, Military Governor of Paris, one of France's war heroes, who was enthusiastically greeted on his arrival at New York to be a guest of the Rainbow Division of the United States army, which saw service under the command of the one-armed French General.

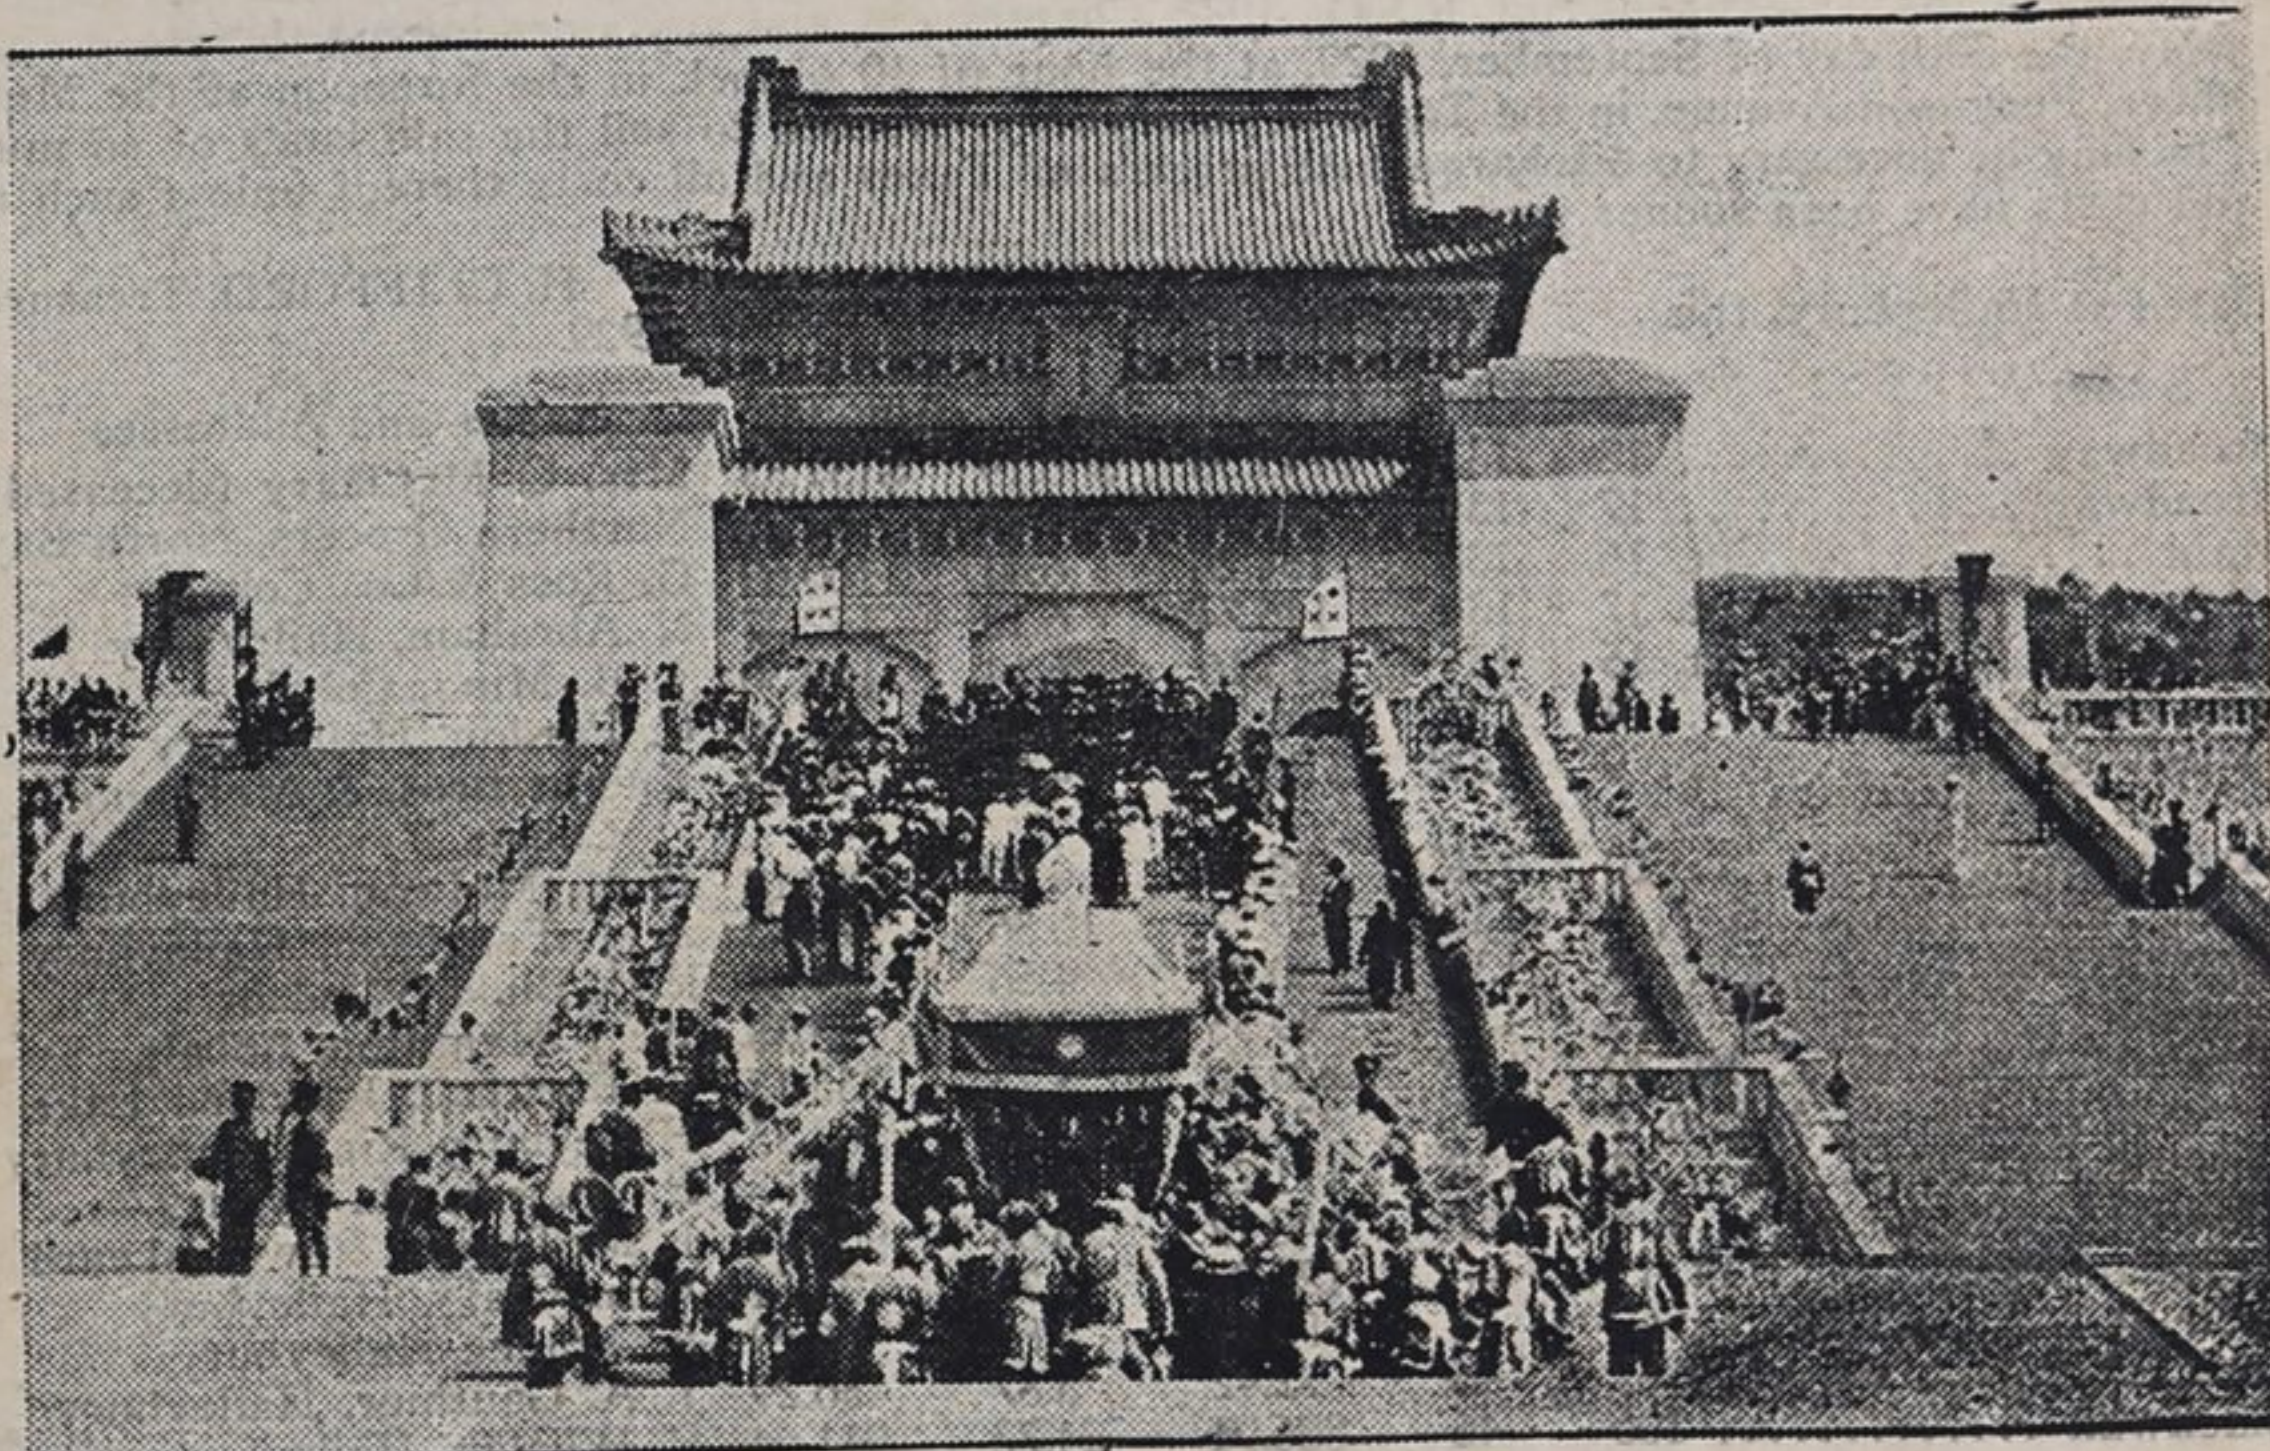

George: "Do you believe in clubs for women?"
Earl: "Yes, if kindness fails."

The Humorist, London

Portuguese Claims Countryman Found America

The Portuguese Consul, A. de Oliveira Aguas, top, right, advances an interesting argument that Corte-Real actually discovered America nineteen years before Columbus landed here, though Achille G. Vervena, left, student of maritime history in New York, refuses to be convinced of this. Below is an ancient map, showing a portion of the globe, as charted in 1492, by Martin Behaim, and shows the erroneous designation of the New World as "India."

This casket bears the remains of Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, late President of the Nationalist Party of China, who died four years ago, as it was brought up the steps of the new mausoleum at Peking, and laid to rest with solemn ceremony.

The tremendous interest of men and women today in art in all its forms has caused a well known professor on psychology to make the statement that the present so-called "modern art" appeals to the masses because it is of them and for them. Above are some examples: Left, "Adolescent," sculpture by Sava Boxtaris, young Servo-Greek artist, showing trend of modern art. Above, centre, a striking black and white conception of an economic phase in the life of Russia today, drawn by Slavie artist. Inset, Prof. Marston, lecturer on psychology at Columbia University, who has made remarkable discoveries about the latest "freak art." Right is the artist Boxtaris, with another of his modern works "Portrait of Ernest Thesiger," a noted British actor.