Tulle may be Tailored

The coolest color in the rainbow—the daintiest, sheerest fabric imaginable! What could be more entrancing under a summer moon than this evening frock of bluebell tulle sketched above? And, best of all, this model is delicate as a gossamer spider's web, but at the same time, sleek and tailored.

The secret of its achievement is told with the revelation that the entire dress is cut in three layers of tulle—the circular skirt, the peplum, and the tiny bertha cap which flutters long in the back to lure a summer zephyr.

Hats Crown the Summer Diver

Milady no longer finds golden tresses her crowning glory, especially during the dinner hour. For the halo that covers chic heads now in the most exclusive restaurants, is a smart, small hat. When it takes on the sophisticated gesture of the turban, the summer diner may be blasé with good reason.

Capping a flowered chiffon frock with a snug fitting little hat of some brilliant material—both brilliant in color and texture—is the essence of chic. Just think how fashion-wise you'd feel in the bright green lacquered mesh turban sketched above if you wore it with a green and black chiffon dinner dress.

Notes of the North

Mr. E. C. Ward, whose garden is one of the beauty spots in town, has the distinction of having already some ripe tomatoes on his vines. This shows what can be done here in the cultivation of vegetables and fruits. The plants did not receive any special care, in fact are grown in from the afternoon sun and yet a plot where they are shaded the fruit is perfect and plenty more to come.—Cochrane Northland Post.

T. A. Jamieson, a brother of Geo. Jamieson of Kamiskotia fame, was in town last week on business and had samples with him that would seem to indicate that T. A. has found an important gold property in the Kamiskotia district. He has 14 claims in the township of Byers, about ten miles from the Hollinger's Kamiskotia properties. The Byers claims are gold ones and Mr. Jamieson's many samples from the property suggested that there is the right geology and formation with every chance of making a big mine.—Porcupine Advance.

R. W. Bro. L. H. Saunders, Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario West will pay an official visit to South Temiskaming County Orange Lodge No. 60 on August 10th.

The meeting will be held in the Orange Hall, New Liskeard at 8 o'clock in the evening. Delegates are expected from every Orange Lodge in the County and invitations are being sent out to Lodges of the L. O. B. A., True Blue and Orange Young Britons to meet the Grand Master.—New Liskeard Speaker.

Hollinger Consolidated directors and Premier Ferguson got very much closer this week on the project to build a railway from Timmins into Kamiskotia. Signs were that any day would see a settlement of the points of difference between them and an announcement of an early start on this new branch of the T. & N. O. Railway.

The government has adopted the stand that it is willing to construct the line and operate it at cost, if necessary, provided the gold mine does not ask the people of the province to take a loss on it. The Prime Minister has remained firm in this attitude.—Northern Miner.

Information received by Town Clerk Harrington in reply to his letter to the Old Age Pensions Board at Toronto asking for the proper forms for use, stated that the Temiskaming Old Age Pension Board will be comprised of R. R. Woods, of New Liskeard, John Clark, of Englehart and A. K. Roberts, of Cobalt, with the latter as secretary. The letter written by Dr. D. Jamieson, chairman of the Mother's Allowance Board, intimated that applicants for pensions should take their applications direct to members of the district board.—Cobalt Northern News.

Several residents of the Township of Ingram were arranged before Magistrate Atkinson at Police Court on Tuesday for illegally having moose meat in their possession during the close season. One pleaded not guilty and was dismissed, one was let out on suspended sentence, and the rest were fined. Game Warden Wm. Armstrong prosecuted. We understand the matter has been taken up by Hon. THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Mitchell

With You

It rests with you if joy or care prevail,
With you to tune your days to song or sigh;
No force, no foe, can make you wholly fail

With you the issue: victory, defeat;
Though it is true the wide world gives renown,
It rests with you to make your trials sweet
And wear your weight of trouble like a crown.

It rests with you. The wise have always known
There is no magic spell to charm delight,
No potent potion king or clown can own
To flood his path with loveliness and light.

With you, then, all the price of triumph lies
When gladness out of grief you wrest at last,
As when beneath the sullen autumn skies,
The falling leaf takes on its fairest cast.

Old Friends

Though it is often well to get away
From dull routine that rules us day on day,
When I leave home I miss such faithful friends,
I'm happiest the day my journey ends.

The firelight greets me here when I get back,
Its flames aglow with lights all strange fires lack,
And in my corner of the ingle-nook
I find my well-worn chair, my dearest book.

And here upon the mantel-shelf a voice,
"Tic-tock, tic-tock," that makes my heart rejoice;
The clock whose steady accents only seem
To add fresh quiet to this tranquil dream.
Old friends they are, friends honest, true and tried;
When I go out to wander far and wide
So much I miss their notes from life's refrain,
That I'm gladdest when I'm home again!

Crea, and application has been made through him for the remission of fines in certain cases.—Englehart Times.

Kirkland Lake is to have a Pipe Band! This was decided at a recent meeting of the Kirkland Lake Post of the Canadian Legion and the organization of the band is now underway. At the present time there are seven or eight pipers and two drummers enrolled and practising. The committee in charge are desirous of securing a bass drummer and would welcome more pipers.—Kirkland Lake Northern News.

Health Service of the Canadian Medical Association

WHAT HAPPENS

The need for and value of a properly staffed health department with an adequate budget have been referred to on many occasions. It has also been pointed out that, through the organization of County and Rural Health Units, the whole Dominion could secure the same high type of health service as now provided for the residents of the larger cities.

Just what this means is clearly shown by the experience of the City of Toronto in Tuberculosis. In the year 1918, out of every 100,000 persons in that city, over 100 died of Tuberculosis, whereas in 1928, the number was 54. In other words, the actual number of deaths in 1928 was but half of what it would have been if the same conditions as existed ten years previously had persisted. This represents the avoiding of approximately 300 deaths in a single year from one disease.

Results such as these can be secured all over Canada. They are not arrived at by chance, but are the direct result of a tremendous effort, carried along on proper lines and consistently maintained year after year. Such results represent the expenditure of a considerable sum of money. This actual expenditure, however is considerably less than it would have been necessary to spend on the care of cases in attempting to cure them if their occurrence had not been prevented. Add to the cost of sickness, the value of human life, the broken homes, the children left fatherless or motherless, and it is plain to be seen that the investment in health work pays a very real dividend in money and human happiness. Those communities which have not as yet a proper health department, those rural areas which are not as yet being served by full-time health units, should ask themselves if they can afford to miss what others now enjoy. Each individual should remember that personal and family protection against disease rests largely upon living under the supervision of an efficient health department. Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered. Tonight, last showing of "Submarine" at Broadway Theatre. Management highly recommends this picture.
