

Held Meeting Here In Liberal Interests

Chas. A. Byam Speaks to Voters of Haileybury; Is Supported by Local Men

The final public meeting of the election campaign in Haileybury was held on Monday night, when a large audience in the Broadway Theatre greeted Chas. A. Byam, the Liberal candidate, on his first and only appearance here to address the electors on his own behalf during the fight.

Jos. A. Legris, president of the Haileybury Liberal Association, was chairman of the meeting and the speakers, R. S. Taylor, Mac. Lang, M.P., J. M. Beeman, of New Liskeard, who spoke in French, H. G. Pickard and the candidate were all given a good hearing. A volunteer orchestra, under the direction of P. R. Craven, of New Liskeard, contributed several selections during the evening which were greatly enjoyed.

In making his appeal for the support of Haileybury voters, Mr. Byam recalled the night of October 4th, 1922, when this town suffered such a great loss in the big fire. He was here on that occasion, he said, and it had afforded him pleasure to come again and see how that disaster had been overcome.

Mr. Byam stated that the settlement of Temiskaming had been made possible by a Liberal administration which had projected and carried into effect the building of the T. & N. O. Railway. A rumor had been circulated, he said, that if the Liberals were returned to power they intended to hand over that railway to the Canadian National, and he read an extract from a letter of the leader, Mr. Sinclair, to the effect that nothing of this nature was intended, but on the contrary, the party was prepared to extend the road to James Bay and to do all in their power for the development of the North.

The province's finances showed an "orgy of expenditure" he said, and he pointed out several ways in which this would be improved under a Liberal Government.

A change in the administration of the Northern Development Branch would be inaugurated, he said. First, it would be his business to see that men got a living wage. Then estimates of the requirements of each township would be received before the money was voted, and there would be an equitable distribution and all accounts would be made public.

In opening the meeting, Mr. Legris referred to a recent address made in the interests of A. J. Kennedy by Louis Cousineau, ex-mayor of Hull, said that this was "well sewed up with a tissue of lies." When Mr. Cousineau was telling about the conditions in Hull, owing to the prevalence of "blind pigs," he neglected to state that he, Cousineau, was the "king of the blind piggers himself" and that the election in which he was defeated for the mayoralty was fought out on that issue.

R. S. Taylor, who was the first speaker, criticised the present government for bringing on an election this year, for their administration of the Northern Development Branch, for the building of the road through Cobalt on the eve of an election, which he termed a "bribe" and for the unrestricted sale of liquor under the L.C.A.

Mac. Lang, M.P., spoke briefly and personally to the people here, saying that there was no reason why Temiskaming should always return a Conservative member. "Isn't now the time for a change" he asked. He spoke of the creditable standing of Mr. Byam in the community and foresaw that the people of Temiskaming were not always going to be classed as Conservatives, but would think things out for themselves.

Mr. Beeman gave an earnest talk in French for the benefit of those whose English might be a bit weak. He was followed by Mr. H. G. Pickard, who declared that the candidate, Mr. Byam, represented Liberalism in its best form, as it was represented also by Mac. Lang. His address was chiefly a comparison of what had been done in the past by the Liberal and Conservative parties, to the detriment of the latter, and he dwelt in particular on the settlement of the boundary question between Ontario and Manitoba, giving Sir Oliver Womat credit for saving for Ontario vast areas which had later become important mining districts. Mr. Pickard took issue with a Conservative speaker who had criticised the Security Frauds Prevention Act, saying that the latter had made a plain misstatement of fact when he declared that the Act was retarding the mining industry.

Mr. Pickard was followed by Mr. Byam and the meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.
