Extra Care Needed
of Property To-night

Keep Doors Locked and Assist the Police in Preventing Hallowe'en Damage

While all possible precautions will be taken to ensure that the damage usually committed on Hallowe'en by those who have a mistaken sense of humor, it is pointed out by police officers that residents should exercise a little extra care tonight. There will be special police engaged and an effort will be made to reduce the pranks to a minimum, but it is impossible for a comparatively few men to cover all parts of a town so wide spread as Haileybury. In the past there have been complaints of damage done that was serious enough in some cases and it is hoped to avoid this to the greatest possible extent.

This is written at the request of the chief of police and included a warning to those who find some amusement in making free with other people's property that they will be severely dealt with if they are caught.

All citizens are also requested to assist the police by making sure that their doors are fastened and that no articles of value are left lying around where they may be found by the jokesters.

A great many of the pranks committed are of a harmless nature, but in many cases the damage is serious and the citizens can do considerable towards preventing this. It can also be impressed on the youth that they should avoid doing harm when they are out celebrating and thus perhaps save themselves serious trouble later on.

Temiskaming Again
Goes Strongly Tory

mity in all parts of the constituency, is taken by local party leaders as indicative of district approval of the records of the Ferguson administration and the local representative.

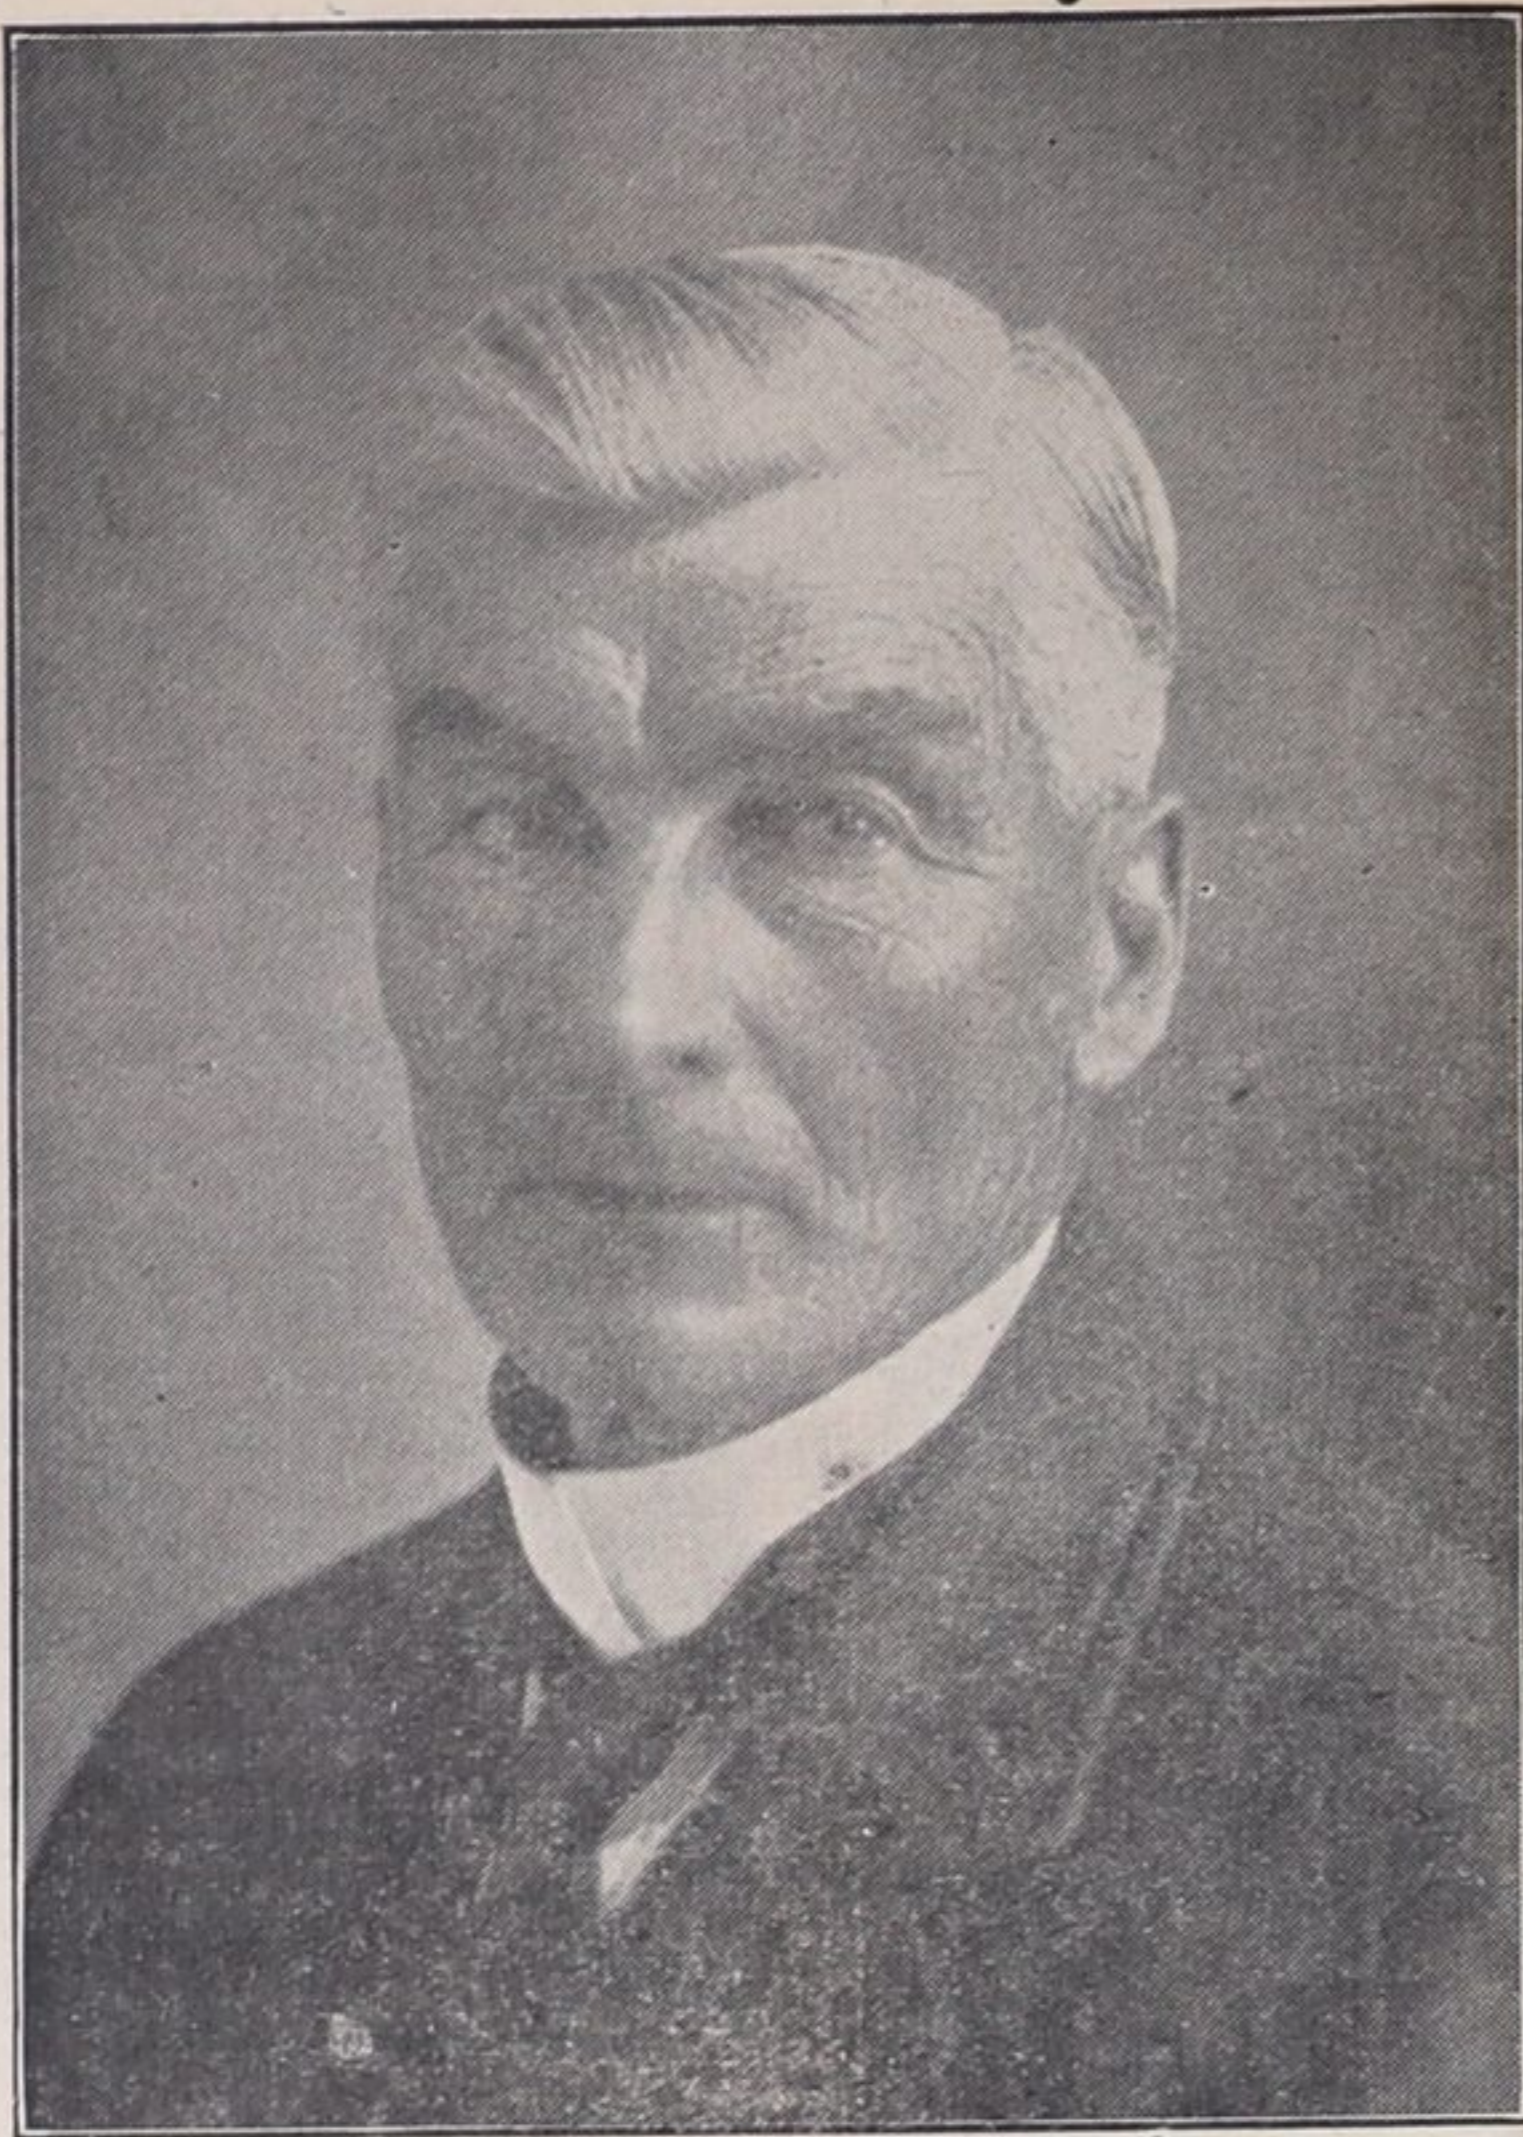

The campaign in Temiskaming was somewhat quieter than in other elections and was conducted on a high plane, with a total absence of rancor and personalities. It is generally admitted that the Liberal candidate, Mr. Byam, put up a vigorous, gentlemanly fight. He was defeated by a member whose record in the Legislature has been without a blemish, in an election culminating in a Conservative avalanche throughout the province.

Scenes of tumultuous enthusiasm marked Mr. Kennedy's victory in New Liskeard, when crowds thronged the streets on election night and a procession of more than fifty automobiles followed the re-elected member on a triumphal journey to Haileybury and Cobalt when his victory was conceded. Mr. Kennedy heard the returns quietly at his home in the early part of the evening, then went to the Liberal-Conservative committee rooms, where he received a great reception. Cheering crowds, the din of cowbells and automobile horns and the congratulations of the townsfolk indicated the popular sentiment in favor of his return to the Legislature, and it was some time before Mr. Kennedy could break away to go on to the other towns, there to thank the electors for the confidence they had displayed in him.

KENNEDY MAJORITY

said Mr. Kennedy. "I'm sure I am thankful to the electors of this town and of the entire riding for the splendid support they have given me. Perhaps, next time, they'll have to get another man. In the meantime I want to say that I'm sure I'll never be able to repay the people who have elected me, but that I hope to do all I can for the citizens of Haileybury and for the people of Temiskaming while I am their representative."

Thomas Magladery, former M. P. P. for Temiskaming, accompanied Mr. Kennedy and was called upon for a few words, amid shouts introducing him as "the next member at Ottawa."

"It's great to be down here with a Haileybury crowd again to see the eagle of victory perched on the Conservative banner," declared Mr. Magladery. "We have them on the run, without a doubt. When the next Federal election comes around, get a man from Haileybury and lick Mac. Lang!" This sentiment created much enthusiasm.

When a telegram was received at 11.30 to the effect that the Conservatives were conceded 92 seats and when a tabulation of returns indicated that Northern Ontario would send a solid Tory representation to the next Legislature, the crowd in the committee room dispersed. One man, evidently satiated by victory, ventured the opinion that this was "rubbing it in too much."

Body of Fire Victim Is Buried in Toronto

The remains of Selig Swedlove who was fatally burned in a fire at New Liskeard on Thursday morning last, was taken to Toronto for burial on Saturday evening. The body was transported by motor, Ira Gibson, of Thorpe & Branchaud, taking charge.

As Mr. Swedlove was of the Jewish faith it was impossible to take the body away before sundown on Saturday, so Mr. Gibson drove to the city that night, arriving Sunday morning.

A brother of the deceased came north from Toronto to make the arrangements. There was no inquest ordered as the fire will likely be investigated by the Fire Marshall's Department.

One Incident Mars Harmony of Campaign

So far as one is able to observe only one incident marred the harmony of the campaign in Haileybury, which was otherwise fought without bitterness or ill feeling on either side. The exception was when a speaker at the Liberal rally on Monday night, in referring to a speech of one of the Conservative speakers at a previous meeting, said that the latter had hinted at intemperance on the part of the Liberal candidate.

What the Conservative speaker really said was: "Ask Byam where he stands on the liquor question," and was plainly a reference to Conservative contention throughout the campaign that the Liberal party had no definite policy on this question. No reflection was cast on Mr. Byam's temperance principles.

John Lowdeski, convicted of stabbing William Birnie at the Lake Shore Mine and sentenced to ten years in Kingston, is lodged in the district jail here pending his removal south.

A. P. Mewhinney, Liberal candidate in North Bruce, died on Tuesday and the election in that constituency has been deferred to a later date, as provided by the Ontario Elections Act.

THE RIGHT DIRECTION

An amusing incident occurred in one of the district polling places yesterday when one would-be voter was asked his place of residence.

"Haileybury," he replied. "Which way are you heading?" he was asked, in order to forestall any possibility that the man might be on his way to his home town to vote. "Conservative, of course," he answered.

Mining Court Sits Here
Wednesday, November 6th

A sitting of the Mining Court, under Mr. Justice Godson, will be held in the court house here on Wednesday, November 6th, commencing at 11 a.m.

Up to this week four cases have been listed for hearing. The first on the list is the Barry Hollinger Gold Mines vs., Theophilous Olsen, and is described as an application to deposit talings, etc., in a creek or stream.

John Burke and Frank McDonald are the principals in the second action, the former making application for an interest in mining claim T20326 in Gillies' Limit.

The third case on the list is that of Lorne Teeple vs. George Whitton. It is a dispute over two claims in Bryce Township, and a similar action is involved in the fourth case concerning a claim in Catherine Township, in which Albert Johnson and Stanley Miller Clapp are the principals.

Spent Pleasant Evening at Mrs. Brewer's Birthday Party

A very enjoyable time was spent at the home of Mrs. J. Brewer, Browning Street, on Friday evening last when a party of neighbors gathered to honor her on her birthday. There were several out-of-town guests who came to wish Mrs. Brewer many happy returns of the day and express the hope that she would be many more birthdays.

Refreshments were served and everyone present declared that they had a very pleasant evening. Mrs. Brewer was made the recipient of several costly gifts, which she received with thanks, expressing the hope that all would be present on her next birthday.
