

Iroquois Falls Juniors Gain a Five-Goal Lead

Defeat Cobalt Miners 6-1 in First of Play-Off Games; Fight Mars the Closing Minutes

Cobalt Juniors are much perturbed over the first of the home and home games played to decide which team will meet the Soo Greyhounds for the N.O.H.A. kid title. They went to Iroquois Falls to play on Tuesday evening, and were forced to accept a man as referee who played for the Falls Senior team, and who, in former years, was coach of the Cub Eskimos.

The Falls scored a goal in the first canto, and the Cobalt boys evened it up early in the second frame. Then, they state, Cobalt players were fenced without just case, during the rest of the battle and the Miners were playing shorthanded for practically the whole of remaining two periods.

Cobalt's version of the start-of the first fight in the third period is that Foyle, skating backward, hit the referee, and the official swung at him. Roy Bennett then gave Fahey a push and the arbiter fell. Both Foyle and Roy Bennett were penalized.

A news despatch to The Nugget, written by a Cobalt man, does not bear out the Cobalt lads' contention. It states that Fahey handled a strict, but straight, game, and all penalties inflicted were deserved. The report also states that the Cobalters tried to stop the game on account of the illness of a player in the sub-box, and when Fahey would not stop, one of the players tried to pick up the puck. This player was penalized, and Foyle and R. Bennett started after Fahey, hitting him. They both were penalized, but no goals resulted after the fracas.

According to what can be gathered, Charlie Roach of Timmins, was supposed to handle the game, but missed his train, and Percy Fahey was put in to handle the fracas.

The score of 6-1 does not really represent the merits of the two teams, and Cobalt boys are determined to show that they are a much better team than that. It is expected that the Cobalt rink will be jammed to the doors on Friday night when the return tilt is played, and Wm. "Sky" Eason, past president of the O.H.A., and one of the best referees in the country, will handle the bell.

Roy Bennett got the lone Cobalt tally in the game up north on a pass from Roberts. Max Bennett, former Cobalter, and brother of Roy, accounted for three of the Falls' goals.

FINDLAY'S DOG RACE FOR BOYS UNDER 14 TO BE HELD ON MARCH 1st

The annual dog race for boys, held by Frank Findlay, New Liskeard druggist and sportsman, will be run this year on Saturday of this week, March 1st, at 2.30 p.m. This event is open to boys under 14 years of age, the prizes are engraved silver medals for first, second and third place.

It is open to all boys of this immediate district and Mr. Findlay says he will be glad to pay the car fares for boys from Haileybury who wish to enter. There will also be a handicap dog race on the same afternoon, based on the time of the winner in the first event, and two silver medals will be awarded.

In connection with Mr. Findlay's annual event, there will be ski races and snowshoe races for school children and probably a treasure hunt around the town. Haileybury boys who have sleigh dogs should not overlook the big race, which in past years has proved a great success.

history of the North Country, was the statement of one old timer to The Haileyburian on Tuesday. He informs us that either 26 or 27 years ago, a thaw commenced on February 22nd, with the result that practically all the snow disappeared, the snow roads broke up and a large amount of timber was left in the bush. No severe winter weather followed the thaw on that occasion, our friend states, and he does not look for much cold weather again this season.

Sport Notes

The Bantam hockey team of Duke of Connaught School, Toronto, coached and managed by Harold A. Carson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Carson, Haileybury, defeated the Bantams of Frankland School in their last semi-final match, 1-0. The Connaught boys are now the Champions of Eastern Toronto and will play off for the city championship (Bantam) early in March at the Mutual Street Arena.

Haileybury Junior hockey boys may play in Temiskaming Friday evening of this week. The team from that town wrote asking for a game, and the local club accepted, and are just waiting confirmation. They will likely go by way of Ville Marie, and will travel across the lake by bus and down the C.P.R. branch to the foot of the lake. The team at Temiskaming contains players over Junior age limit, but they claim to be of good Junior O.H.A. calibre, so a smart game should result.

The Alberta rink, headed by Bobbie Munroe, youngest skip in the competition, looks to be headed for the Dominion Curling tilt, now being played at the Granite Club, Toronto. They were well out in front late yesterday afternoon, having won four straight games, while no other rink had gone undefeated. Quebec and Manitoba followed, while Northern Ontario's record was one won and three lost.

Big Thaw Follows Coldest Day of Year

Almost a Week of Spring Weather Makes Conditions Unusual in North

The extremely warm weather of the past week has been exceptional here. It followed closely the coldest day of the winter which, according to the records kept at the Experimental Farm at New Liskeard, was Sunday, February 16th. The mercury reached 44 below zero on that date.

On Wednesday last, the thaw commenced and, in spite of the predictions that three days would be the limit, it continued over the week-end, with the result that this week saw more than half of the snow gone, streams beginning to open up and a general appearance of spring. For days there were steady streams of water flowing down the hill to the lake, lawns began to show up with a tinge of green and a few inches of water covered the ice. On Sunday night there were a few degrees of frost, but on Monday the temperature again rose and the snow continued to melt. One resident reported pansies in bud in his garden and it was stated that a number of wild geese had been seen in an open space in the Montreal river.

However, there came a change on Monday night with about 22 degrees of frost and winter is again with us. Skating, curling and other winter sports, which had been suspended during the mild spell, were resumed and it appears that the cold weather may last for some weeks yet.

The break was a pleasant one, as a relief from the steady cold which has prevailed throughout the winter, and it is unlikely that there will be very severe cold to follow.

WARNING!

Having disposed of my Coal business it stands to reason that I am wanting a settlement of my book accounts as soon as possible.

It is one month since I sold and have not pressed anyone, but I feel now I have the right at this time to ask a settlement.

I have no desire to cause any hardship to anyone, but I must say plainly if those owing me do not call by March 10th and either pay or arrange time for payment their account will be placed out for collection.
