

Pictorial and Cartoon Page for Readers of The Haileyburian

Tells of Antarctic Ice Perils

Lady Wilkins listening to Sir Hubert Wilkins broadcast to a large radio audience the perils encountered in the Polar regions by the second Hearst-Wilkins Antarctic expedition. He foresees the time when submarines as well as aeroplanes would aid explorers in finding and charting new lands.

British Envoy at White House

The new British Ambassador to the United States, Sir Ronald Lindsay (right), is here seen leaving the White House, Washington, after presenting his credentials to President Hoover. He is shown with Captain Buchanan (left), the President's aide

Phil Scott Gets Another Fight

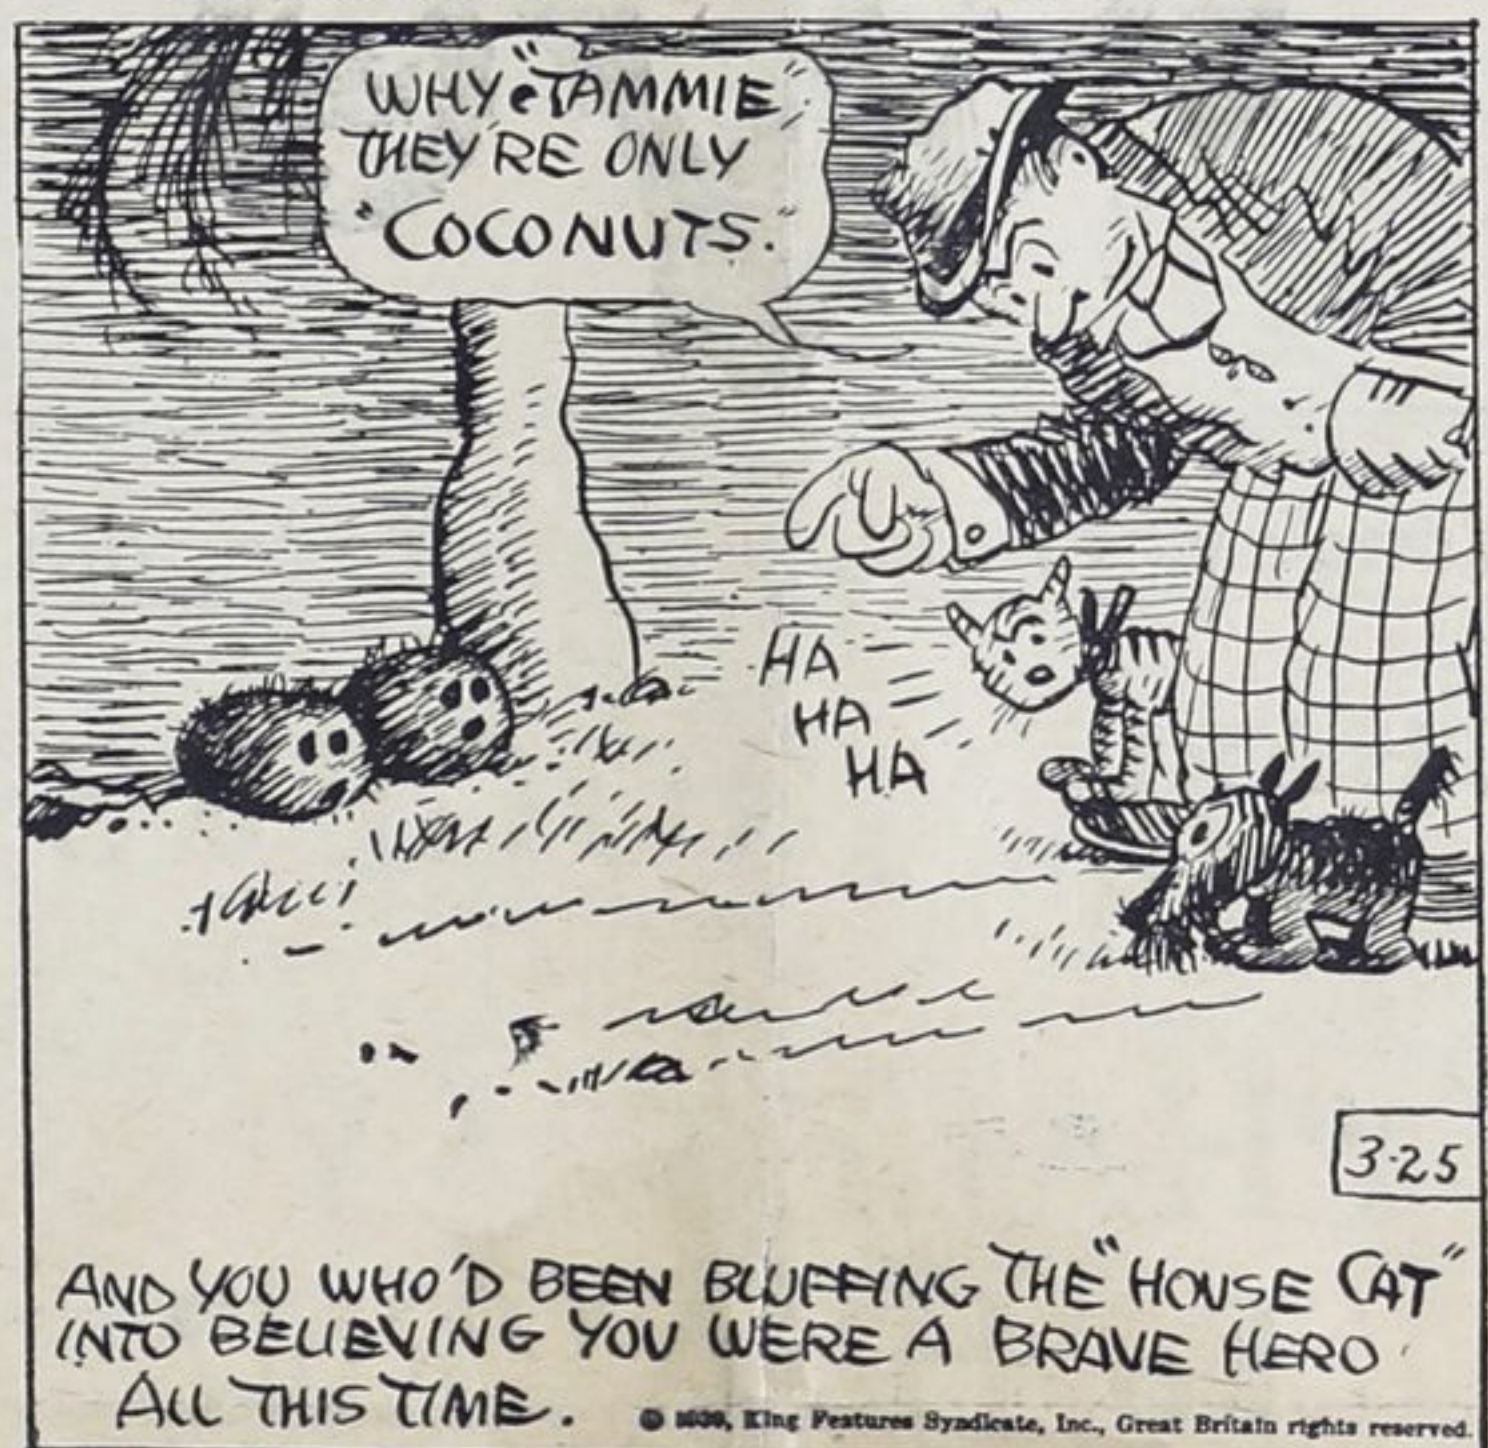

Phil Scott, the British heavyweight champion, who was defeated by Jack Sharkey at Miami, Florida, last month, has signed to fight Young Stribling, United States heavyweight, in London early in May. Above are pictures of the two fighters, Phil Scott (left) and Stribling (right)

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Terrified Maid: "Oh, Mr. McPherson, there's a man at the door who says he'll either commit suicide or murder if he doesn't receive some money!"
McPherson: "Ask him which he means to do, an' if h e says murder, gi'e him this shillun'" —The Humorist

Movie Actress' Press Agent: "Sorry to mess you up this way, Glorianna, but we've got to make this robbery look like the real thing." —The Passing Show, London

Budget Makers Get Busy

Taking the School to the Scholar

Providing schooling for children in the isolated sections of Northern Ontario long baffled the Ontario Department of Education. The little red school house—if it had been built—would have stood alone with no sign of human habitation for miles around or, if there had been a few houses near, the cost of upkeep would have been too heavy a burden on a few scattered families. So the Canadian Pacific Railway was called into consultation and the result is the travelling school car which has been operated during the winter months with increasing success for the past few years. Every child loves a train, but when that train comes especially to him and becomes his school—well, you have to go to fairy tales to get the like of that. So they come enthusiastically from miles around, French-Canadians, Rumanian, Indian, Italian, English-Canadian—all races and ages from five to fifteen years of age. They come on snowshoes, skis, by dog team, from near and far. They get the three R's and they get acquainted among themselves. Difference of speech makes little difference to them and soon they are all using English. Children of pioneers, they are bright and adaptable. Lay-out shows exterior of car, interior with class. of boys and girls all set for lessons; another interior showing teacher and black board; and two typical school children on their way to the car.

W
ch
T
w e d
:

Above is Princess Mary presenting shamrocks to the officers of the Irish Guards who are stationed at the Tower of London, on Shamrock Day.