Town Council Meets In Special Session

Discuss Traffic Problems and Garbage Collection; Ban Parking in Block

When the town council met in special session on Thursday night last to consider the proposed new dairy by-law, there were several other matters dealt with, these having been left over from the regular meeting.

From the Police Committee came the request for several additional "stop" signs necessary for the main highway, and the question of parking on the downtown streets caused considerable discussion. The signs were authorized, but no definite steps were taken towards making any change in the parking regulations, although by some members it was thought that there should be a forbidden area close to the main street corners. A block on the Lake Shore Road, between Probyn and Florence Streets, is to be made a "no parking" area, and the McKinlay Service Station at the corner of Main and Rorke was given permission to place a similar restriction on Rorke from the corner to the lane.

W. Baxter, the garbage collector, about whom there had been some complaints made at the previous meeting, was present to present his side of the question. He told the council that in some cases he had not been paid for three years, while in others he had received a couple of dollars for the whole winter. His greatest trouble was collecting for his work, he said, and while he does not often complain, "sometimes it makes me hot." Mr. Baxter said that where he knows there is no money in the house, he never asks for any but does the work just the same. Even the council, he declared, had cut off some of his revenue by refusing to pay for the destruction of dead dogs picked up on the streets. Apparently the council was completely satisfied with the explanation made.

The Salvation Army asked permission of council to hold a tag day on Saturday, May 31st, but this was not granted on account of the community bazaar. It was suggested that the Army postpone it till after June 23rd.

A letter from S. J. Mason, town auditor, submitted a statement of the arena affairs during the operations of 1927-28, which had been requested from the Commission in charge. This statement was made up, according to Mr. Mason's letter, from the bank book and what information was available. He had been told by members of the Commission that receipts, vouchers, etc., had been inadvertently destroyed. The statement, according to remark by one councillor, showed the disbursements in detail, but the receipts only in a total sum. The council directed that the statement be referred to the town solicitor for advice.

Before the session closed a letter from the town of Cobalt was read, asking if Haileybury was likely to adopt daylight sav-

To Frame New By-Law to Regulate Dairies

Council Confers With Dairymen and Will Put New Law in force July 15th

The proposed by-law to make compulsory the testing of all dairy cows from which milk is supplied to the town was discussed at a special meeting of the town council on Thursday night last, when the various dairymen were invited to attend and present their views on the matter. The proposal as outlined by Dr. W. C. Arnold, M.O.H., is that each dairy man, before receiving a license to sell milk, shall present to the municipal authorities two certificates, one to the effect that his cows have been tested by a qualified veterinary surgeon and found free from tuberculosis and, second, that their premises have been inspected and found to comply with the health by-laws of the town. The latter certificate to be issued by the local Board of Health and signed by the M.O.H. The council at a previous meeting had proposed to make the by-law apply to any person who kept more than one cow.

When the dairymen were expressing their views on the matter, it developed that they objected to the clause which fixed the number of cows. They declared that in many cases parties with only one cow were selling milk and some of them without much care as to cleanliness in handling. The dairymen said that all should be included, even those who sell cream alone and they asked that the sale at the market be placed under the same restrictions.

The council were willing to include the owners of a single cow, but could not make the by-law apply to the market, as the law was very definite on this point. The dairymen were asked if they would be satisfied if the by-law was made to apply to everyone who kept a cow, and the men were apparently content to let it rest at that, but some of them feared that it might prove too great a hardship if it was found that some of the cows had to be gotten rid of. One dairy herd, that of Alex. McRae, of North Cobalt, had already been tested and Mr. McRae told the council that he was very glad that he had it done. Out of his ten cows one was found to be affected and would have to be destroyed.

Other dairymen who attended the meeting were Jos. Huard, E. J. Lytle, J. A. Larocque and several other smaller owners. They discussed the question of pasteurization, which would comply with the law as a substitute for the tests of the herds, and other matters pertaining to the milk supply, but appeared to be chiefly concerned with bringing ing for the summer. The reply directed to be sent the neighboring town was that the council of Haileybury had not been approached in the matter. It was decided to hold the June meeting on the 19th.

all owners of cows under any by-law that would be passed. The council proposed that the new regulations be put into effect on July 1st, but the dairymen thought this was not giving them enough leeway. Mr. Huard suggested that they be given at least three months, but the council was willing to extend the time until July 15th only. In the meantime the by-law will be prepared, as provided for by a resolution by Councillors Legris and Carson and carried unanimously.

DOG BITE REQUIRES STITCHES IN HAND

Ira Gibson, of Thorpe & Branchaud's undertaking parlors, is suffering with a lacerated hand this week, as the result of a bite from a neighbor's dog on Saturday. The dog's teeth penetrated Mr. Gibson's hand in several places and some stitches were necessary to close the wounds. The dog, which is a small terrier, was quite familiar with the Gibson family and had never been known to bite. He snapped when Mr. Gibson attempted to pet him.

The Campaign in Haileybury

With two well known citizens of Haileybury as candidates in the coming election campaign, it will certainly have a special significance for local people. There will be an added interest in the fight and possibly some divisions among otherwise close friends, but knowing the calibre of the two men concerned, we may feel assured that nothing of a personal nature will arise to instil bitterness into the fight. Both the present member, Mac. Lang, and his opponent, W. A. Gordon, K.C., are men of high standing in the community and there will be no hard feelings when the battle is over.

Perhaps the rest of us may well try to keep our politics on the same plane that the candidates are sure to do, endeavor to keep our tempers sweet and thus go through the campaign in a truly community spirit. We have not, in recent years at any rate, had a similar situation in Haileybury, but we have too much evidence of the real good feeling that exists among the townspeople to fear greatly that there will be any real bitterness. We have no doubt that both Liberals and Conservatives will come through this fight and remain the same good friends that they have always been, and neither have we any doubt that whichever gentleman wins the election will continue to do his very best for the interests of Haileybury and the whole North Country.

Men Wanted

In our "Want Ads" this week will be found a call for pulpwood cutters from the Government Employment Office at Cobalt. This bushmen's work is a part of one of the strongest industries of Canada and employment in it is obtainable almost during the entire year, yet the superintendent of the office informs us that he was obliged recently to send a call for 90 men to North Bay for work in the Northern woods. Surely there is little excuse for any talk of unemployment here when this is the case.

It is suggested that now, while the mining industry is somewhat depressed, able-bodied men may well turn to this work rather than remain idle. It is a fine, healthy occupation, there is nothing like the great outdoors, and there is little fear of accidents in the woods. The pay may not be the highest, but neither is it the lowest.
