

Anniversary of Famous Battle Observed Here

Local Veterans Are Guests Of I. O. D. E. at Banquet On Vimy Night

Haileybury veterans of the Great War again recalled the anniversary of the famous battle of Vimy on Thursday night last, when they were the guests of the local Chapter of the I. O. D. E. at the usual banquet in the Oddfellows' hall. There was a large gathering, a splendid supper served by the ladies and a program of addresses and songs that was greatly enjoyed by all.

Chas. E. Fleming president of the Haileybury branch of the Canadian Legion, was chairman for the evening and in opening the program spoke with regret of the absence from the gathering of Mrs. C. C. Farr and Mrs. H. C. Dunbar, both prominent in the councils of the I.O.D.E. and particular friends of the veterans. Both of the ladies were on the sick list. The chairman welcomed to the gathering the members of the juvenile hockey team which had won the championship of the town league, the "Whizz-Bangs," who were guests at the banquet.

Col. E. F. Armstrong, of Cobalt proposed the toast to The King, to open the program, in a speech in which he referred to the recent illness of His Majesty, to the love and respect that was held throughout the Empire for the Prince of Wales and to the new Governor-General of Canada. The latter, he stated, is an Irishman and his "excellent lady" is French thus serving to weld closer the two great races of Canada.

Rev. Fred Smith, also of Cobalt, proposed the toast to "Our Fallen Comrades", speaking of the great part played by the Canadian soldiers in all theatres of the war. The thought of the fallen, he said, brought memories of the great sacrifice they had made and of the great benefit that had come to the world through 12 years of peace. There was still a duty, the speaker said, and a higher and more noble service for the future. We should put the best we can into our citizenship, not glory in war but accept the challenge to see that there shall be no more war.

In proposing the toast to "Canada" Rev. Canon Hincks sketched briefly some of the historic events and great men who had taken part in the Dominion's affairs.

its geographical position, ideal climate, great natural resources and the two great nationalities which are welded together to form its population. He spoke of the important part Canada played in the league of Nations, her high ideals and great principles and her loyalty to the British Empire as a great, democratic, self-governing country, and ended with an exhortation that the principles of loyalty, justice, honor and truth for which the fallen had laid down their lives, be maintained, together with a spirit of godliness which would make Canada a country worth dying for.

H. A. Day proposed the toast to the I. O. D. E., in a speech in which he combined humor and a serious tribute to the work of the women during the great war. Problems had been solved at that time, he said, that appeared to puzzle the people of today, they apparently having lost the spirit of self sacrifice that carried them through the years of the great struggle. There had been the same conditions throughout history, the speaker said, particularly following the Napoleonic wars, when the exaltation of spirit that had existed during the crisis had dimmed. Mr. Day said that he thought it proper that gatherings of the nature of this should be held, in order that people might look back and realize to what heights humanity can rise when the need is great. This, he believed, would help in solving present day problems and in improving conditions as they are.

That the founder of the Canadian Legion was a man who wished to perpetuate memories the most vivid and touching ever held by men, was the statement of R. H. McGowan, of Cobalt, in proposing the toast to the body. He did not know who the founder of the Legion was, but he gave credit to the late Earl Haig, as a friend and counsellor of the organization, who was inspired to instil the spirit, which had carried their comrades into death, in the men who returned and to carry that spirit into their future life. The Canadian soldier had wrote a very glorious page on the scroll of fame, the speaker said, and he was glad to see a number of young men invited to the gathering, not in the sense of glorifying war, but that they might be taught something of the spirit that had sent the older men forth to fight for truth and justice. The Canadian Legion had done wonders, but with a larger membership it might have done more. It was the most exclusive club in the world and the greatest Mayor Hamilton entertained the audience with a very touching and appropriate recitation, written to the women who worked so faithfully during the war years, and those who contributed to the musical part of the program were: Mrs. A. Woods, Mr. Jos. Isherwood, and Mr. W. T. Joy. Miss Grace Stephen played the accompaniments, and at the close of the two minute silence following the toast to "Our Fallen Comrades" the Last Post was sounded by Bugler W. G. P. Lewis.

NINE CHILDREN BADLY IN NEED OF CLOTHING AT THE SHELTER HERE

Mr. John R. McCracken, superintendent for the Children's Aid Society, asks us to make known the fact that there are nine children, recently brought to the Shelter here, who are badly in need of clothing. He hopes that the citizens of Haileybury, who have been very generous in the past, will be able to provide at least a part of the articles needed.

The children comprise two families, both mothers having been compelled to go into hospital and leave their little ones temporarily at the shelter. There are girls aged 7, 10, 11, 12 and 13 and boys aged 2, 4, 5, and 7. Any article of clothing will be gratefully received if left at the shelter, or if Mr. McCracken is notified they will be called for.

JUMPS FROM TRAIN AND ESCAPES WITH ONLY A SHAKING AND BRUISES

To jump from a train going between 25 and 30 miles an hour and escape with only a shaking and a few bruises was the experience of a man whose identity was not learned on Saturday last. The unknown boarded No. 2 at Swastika, bought a ticket from Conductor T. Hamilton and, somewhere between Krugerdorf and Mindoka, made his exit through the front door of the second class coach. He apparently worked his way to the outside of the vestibule next the baggage car and one of the passengers saw him as he rolled clear of the tracks. The onlooker told the conductor, about 10 minutes later, that he had seen the man perform the daring stunt and when the train reached Englehart, the section men went up the line to investigate. They discovered that there had been no serious injury suffered, but did not learn who the man was. It is believed that he was under the influence of liquor.

Injured Brakeman Recovering Removed to Home in Englehart

Samuel Smith, the T. & N. O. brakeman who lost both his legs in an accident in the Cobalt yards on February 21st last, and has spent the intervening time in the Mines Hospital there, was sufficiently recovered on Saturday last to be removed to his home in Englehart. With Mr. Smith, who has stayed in Cobalt since the injury to her husband, he made the trip without difficulty and is now recuperating at home. Both Mr. Smith's legs were amputated below the knees, after being badly crushed under the wheels of a freight car while switching in the yards.
