Canadian Press Executive Killed in Crash

"CANADA SENT US THIS ORDER BUY CANADIAN PRODUCE"

This interesting picture, just received from England, shows the latest campaign designed by the hard-working Empire Marketing Board to boost the Dominions and Colonies in the British Isles. The photograph shows a number of huge cases on one of the station platforms in England containing a consignment of British steel for Canada. On the sides and tops of these cases are nailed boldly colored labels bearing the words "Made in Great Britain for Canada". Under these words are the Union Jack and the Canadian Ensign in color and the words "Canada sent us this order, buy Canadian produce." This message is intended by the Empire Marketing Board to convey to all who may see it, whether at the workshops before departure, or in the course of the journey to the ports, that Canada is buying goods from the Motherland and that the people in the British Isles should reciprocate. The new scheme is meeting with an encouraging response.
