form of indictment against his client, with Crown Attorney F. L. Smiley, K.C., replying for the prosecution.

There were no civil cases for the court, and three other criminal charges have been allotted special dates. One bail was ordered estreated. The Grand Jury foreman, L. J. Fitzpatrick, of Haileybury, told the judge the members of that panel desired to inspect some of the public buildings...

The Grand Jury urged upon His Honor a recommendation that more adequate provision be made at the district jail for the accommodation of violent and insane persons awaiting transfer to provincial institutions. They suggested that special arrangements should be made in this respect, instead of placing these people in ordinary cells. At the same time, a larger plant for fumigation purposes was suggested after inspection of the jail. The judge promised to have the recommendations forwarded to the proper authorities, but said he could not promise any real action would follow.
