Little Girl from Buffalo Dies in Haileybury Hospital

The death of little Dorothy Gibbons, aged eight years, took place in the Misericordia Hospital, Haileybury, on Saturday morning, after an operation for appendicitis had been performed on Friday night. The little girl, whose home was in Buffalo, was brought in suffering from the affliction, which had progressed so far that there was little or no chance of saving her life. With her mother she had been visiting on the Quebec side of the lake, where Mrs. Gibbons was formerly a resident. The funeral was held on Monday morning at Guigues.

Miss Mary Vandervliet, New Liskeard athlete who competed in the recent Olympic Games at Los Angeles, was presented with a gold wrist watch by the citizens of her home town in a big reception held last week.

Gus Sonneberg, former world's champion heavyweight wrestler, was forced to enter hospital at Kirkland Lake last week after suffering a return of an injury to his knee following a bout in the mining town.

The dates for New Liskeard Fall Fair, the big agricultural event of Temiskaming South, are September 8th, 9th and 10th. The Fair will be held at the Beach.

MAKING REPAIRS WHERE RINK COLLAPSED UNTIL COUNCIL HOLDS SESSION

With a crack that startled occupants of nearby houses, part of the Cobalt rink collapsed about two o'clock yesterday afternoon, but arrangements have been made for temporary repairs pending the next meeting of the town council, scheduled for September 12. The wall on the end nearer Commission street gave way, and four of the wooden "ribs" which hold up the roof came down. Present damage is confined to one end.

Members of the council, with Fire Chief William Stinson, who is building inspector, made enquiry, and Bruno Gascon was instructed to take steps to prevent further damage meantime. The question of more extensive repairs will come up at the meeting on Monday week. The rink is municipally owned, and its affairs are administered by a Commission, whose members also are being consulted.

The building was erected 24 years ago, when professional hockey made its debut in Haileybury and Cobalt during the early boom days of this camp. Some years ago, the then owners were required to provide additional supports for the structure, and some further work was done after the municipality became the owners.

Big Swim Results

In the men's 15-mile swim at the Canadian National Exhibition yesterday, the following is the order of finish of the first five:

- 1.—George Blagden,
- 2.—Gianni Gambi,
- 3.—Isadore Spondor.
- 4.—Marvin Nelson.
- 5.—Bill Goll.

The final round in the President's Cup will be played Saturday afternoon at the Haileybury Golf Club. Right now R. D. Cumming appears to have the margin necessary to win, but several other players are within striking distance and a good 18-hole round by one of them and a slightly off-form round for Mr. Cumming would swing the event into a toss-up.

The Purchas Cup, emblematic of the Haileybury Golf Club title of leading golfer, will be played for next week, with the opening matches billed for Tuesday afternoon. It is expected that a large number of entries will be in for this main event of the season, and that keen competition will result. The course is in wonderful shape, and there will be no excuses to offer on that score.

Six men of Finnish nationality were deported from Kirkland Lake last week after an investigation which disclosed that they had been receiving municipal relief for a year past.

Penitentiary Grounds Are Out of Bounds For Aircraft

One of the many regulations which govern the operation of air travel in Canada is the ban on flying over or near any penitentiary or other like institution, and the attention of all pilots and operators of aircraft to this rule is called in a circular issued last week by the controller of civil aviation. The warning to all flying men is backed up by the following: "In future, any aircraft observed intentionally flying over such institutions for any purpose whatever, will be considered to have committed an infringement of Paragraph 113, Air Regulations, 1930."

Latchford Lumber Piles on Fire Cause Excitement There

Some excitement was created at Latchford about one o'clock on Monday morning, when two of the lumber piles in the yard of Grant's mill were discovered to be on fire from an unknown cause. Men from the forestry branch there, with other citizens, subdued the flames before they had spread to any great extent, and the actual loss will be small, it is stated. Two pumps were brought into action. The mill yard is crammed with lumber to the extent of many millions of feet. The piles on fire were located at the extreme south end of the yard, information here indicates.

Bride-to-be Is Honored by Fellow Club Members

Miss Eletta Lowery was the recipient of a beautiful framed picture of the Haileybury Golf Course at the monthly dance of the club, held on Friday evening last. The gift was a token of esteem from the club members to Miss Lowery, whose marriage will take place this month. She has been this year the convenor of the entertainment committee, and has been a prominent member of the club. With the gift went the best wishes of all the members for her future happiness.

One Hundred Now Employed On Extension of West Road

plies for the camps are hauled out with teams and trucks, and each Saturday night a number of trucks bring in men who are either being laid off for the time or want to visit their homes for Sunday.

An interesting operation in connection with the road building under modern conditions, witnessed during the trip, was the system used in ditching. In one section which runs through a stretch of muskeg, the ditches are opened up by the use of dynamite, a string of holes being punched with a wooden stick along the line of the ditch and a piece of the explosive placed in each. Then by firing two or three of the charges simultaneously, with fuse and detonators, the shock is carried from one to another and the whole string explodes at once and the mass of roots encountered in every piece of ground of this nature is torn up and thrown aside, thus enabling the workmen to simply shovel out the ditch to the required depth with no interference. In the more solid ground it is necessary to use fuse and a detonator for each charge, but the use of the explosive saves hours and hours of exhaustive labor on the part of the men.

As a rule, Mr. Thompson says, the men who are employed are good, law-abiding citizens, but occasionally there is found one who has little or no respect for authority and is out to "beat" the government. A case of this kind was encountered last week, when one of the workmen was suspected, after some of the camp blankets were found to be missing. A search of his pack, which he had ready to bring home on Saturday night, revealed the presence of two good government blankets stowed away carefully under his clothing. On arrival in town he was placed under arrest, his home was searched and another pair of blankets identified as belonging to the camp and a charge of theft laid. He will appear in police court tomorrow to face the charge.

On the whole, the job has been a great help to workers of this neighborhood, has been treated in the nature of relief employment and we believe has been greatly appreciated by those who have benefitted. It will continue for some weeks yet and when completed will open up considerable new territory, will facilitate the protection of the forests by providing access to a section that was formerly hard to reach and will provide a fine drive for motorists to some very good fishing grounds on the Montreal River.

Honour Memory of Brother Oddfellows

Post by Bro. E. White, of Cobalt Lodge. All known graves of Oddfellows and Rebekahs in both cemeteries were decorated with flowers during an intermission in the ceremony. Members of Northern Light Rebekah Lodge were present in a body and a number of townspeople not identified with the Order attended and joined in the service.

In his address, Bro. Byam spoke of Oddfellowship as something more than a mere beneficial society, rather a great fraternal organization whose work is never ceasing. "The brethren who lie here," he said, "made a great contribution to humanity and assisted in the noble work of benevolence, and it is left for us to carry on that work. We all realize the obligation of the Order to its members and to the brotherhood, but we should also recognize the larger obligation to humanity and that we are our 'brothers' keepers'. We are honoring their memory today for their good deeds, and if we wish to be similarly honored when we have passed on, we should emulate their example and so live that our memory will be also kept green by those who are left. I can conceive of no greater honor for any man or woman than to be recognized as a member of the great brotherhood of Oddfellowship and if we carry out the traditions of the Order our brethren of the future will come to do honor to our memory," concluded Bro. Byam.

Rev. McAllister spoke from the text "In the midst of life we are in death," stating that a good example of the Three Links might be drawn from the scriptural doctrines of life, death and the resurrection. He declared that, while it was a great thing to live, all should make preparation for death, which was not repellant but merely an entrance into the greater life to come. "We would not bring back the ones in whose memory we are meeting today," he said, "but we can all go to them on the great resurrection morning if we so live that when the call comes we are not found wanting. The whole service, carried out during a beautiful sunny afternoon, was a particularly fitting and impressive one and a suitable tribute to the memory of the men who had endeavored to carry out the principles of Friendship, Love and Truth, which are enjoined upon all Oddfellows.

Seldom Are Substitutes Equal in Quality

INSIST UPON BRANDED, Trade-Marked and Advertised Merchandise. Do not accept a substitute for what you name. Long experience has shown that goods which are widely and steadily advertised in the newspapers are the ones that are worthy of your faith.

Modern Newspaper Advertising does you a great service; it permits you to accept without fear goods you have never tested. What others have believed in and accepted you also may buy with confidence.

Advertisers must be, and remain, honest, if they want to be successful in business today. Their announcements bear their names and signatures. They tell the truth to protect themselves as well as to safeguard you.

A Newspaper Advertisement is a publicly printed bond between advertising merchants and the buying public. It is the strongest guarantee for goods of honest quality at fair and competitive prices.

Thrifty Shoppers will buy Advertised Goods and refuse to accept any substitutes.
