CANADA HONORS MEMORY OF GREAT NATURE LOVER

A close-up of the memorial sundial which stands in the centre of the beautiful Macoun Memorial Garden at Ottawa, which was opened on June 6th by Premier Mackenzie King. Erected to the memory of Dr. W. T. Macoun, Dominion Horticulturist, who died in 1933, the garden is a fitting memorial to a man whose love of gardens and flowers was deep and abiding.

PREMIER KING OPENS THE MACOUN MEMORIAL GARDEN AT OTTAWA

To commemorate in an appropriate and lasting form the life and work of the late Dr. W. T. Macoun, Dominion Horticulturist, who passed away in 1933, a memorial garden was opened on June 6th by Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, on the site of Dr. Macoun's former home. Above is a general view of the Macoun Memorial Garden which contains many of the varieties of lilacs, roses, and other flowers originated at the Experimental Farm during the life-time of the late Dominion Horticulturist, also shrubs and perennials.

OHIOAN MARKS 111TH BIRTHDAY

Instead of offering a formula for longevity, John H. Davis celebrated his 111th birthday at his home near Washington Court House, Ohio, by playing cards for three hours, greeting relatives and friends and telling pioneer stories to several of his 100 grand-children. Davis is pictured here with Joe Francis Hansford of Wilmington, his 100th grand-child. He reads without glasses and has voted in every presidential election since 1846.

BRITISHERS MAKE BOLD BID TO CONQUER EVEREST

The greatest challenge to the physical resources of man remains Mount Everest, haughty queen peak of the Himalayas, which towers 29,000 feet above sea level. Months of preparation and training went into advance work necessary before the British expedition could take off from its base at Gamtak, Sikkim, India. Hugh Rutledge, is leader of the expedition which comprises several famous explorers and mountain climbers, including J.M. Scott. Avalanches, monsoons, blizzards and the rarified atmosphere are obstacles which have cost the lives of explorers attempting to scale the peak.

PRIME MINISTER OPENS NEW ADMINISTRATION BUILDING AT OTTAWA

The new administration building at the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa which was opened by Premier W. L. Mackenzie King a few days ago. This new building was named the William Saunders building in honor of a man who contributed more to Canadian agriculture than any other man in the history of the Dominion. The chain of Dominion Experimental Farms and Stations across Canada is virtually a monument to the work he began 50 years ago, and the new building above stands upon the site of his former home.
