JOLLY PARTY HELD TO SPEED BRIDEGROOM ON WAY TO MARRIED BLISS

By way of speeding Max Whitby local business man who will join the ranks of the benedicts on Saturday, on his way to married bliss, a jolly stag party was held in the Oddfellows' Temple, on Tuesday night, when a large number of his friends gathered to wish him the best of luck and to present, as a token of their esteem, a beautiful bridge lamp.

The evening was very pleasantly spent with card games, sing-songs, a general fellowship meeting and just two speeches. To C. F. Tuer, K.C., was allotted the pleasant task of making the presentation, after the good wishes of the gathering had been extended to Mr. Whitby in a neat speech by Leslie McFarlane, and both were in a happy frame of mind, while the applause showed that the sentiments expressed were entirely unanimous in the audience. Refreshments served under the direction of Arthur Hewitt were greatly appreciated and the evening was an especially jolly one.

Mr. Whitby will leave this evening for Toronto and on Saturday he will be married to Miss Mary Eleanor Harkness, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew H. Harkness of that city. The engagement was announced early this month.

The ceremony was performed in St. John's Lutheran Church, Concord Avenue, Toronto, by the Rev. Ernest Hahn. Only immediate relatives and friends of the bride and groom were present.

Mr. Fraser has returned to Haileybury and has been receiving the congratulations of his friends here, who had no intimation that he contemplated a change from his bachelor's life. He will be joined by Mrs. Fraser later on.

OBITUARY

MRS. GEORGE KEELER

A resident of the North Country for more than half a century, Mrs. George Keeler, died at her home in Hilliardton on Monday of this week, August 24th, 1936, after an illness that commenced several months ago when she suffered a broken hip bone in a fall. She would have reached her 89th birthday next month.

Born in Quyon, Que., in September of 1847, she was first married to the late Captain Halcrow, who sailed on Lake Temiskaming in the early days of navigation, and it was some 45 years ago that she was married to Mr. Keeler, who had come to Haileybury to erect a mill on the lake shore here for the Foster interests. They continued to live in Haileybury for more than twenty years before removing to Hilliardton, then a comparatively new settlement in the district, where since then they have conducted a general store business, together with the post office, and latterly a service station.

Mrs. Keeler visited Haileybury quite frequently and had a wide circle of friends and acquaintances both here and throughout the district. Since her accident late last fall she had never regained her health, chiefly on account of her advanced age, and had been forced to remain quietly at home. Mrs. Keeler is survived by her husband only, but during her long life she took charge of and raised several orphan children, to all of whom she proved a real mother and friend. In this way she proved herself a true citizen and her good works remain as a monument to her memory.

Mrs. Keeler was a devout member of the Roman Catholic faith and her funeral was held here yesterday morning, with the service in Holy Cross Cathedral. Many old friends were present to pay their last respects and to offer their sympathy to Mr. Keeler.

Samuel Robertson, 75-year-old retired C.N.R. car foreman of North Bay, died from injuries received in a motor accident on Sunday. The car was being driven by his daughter, got out of control and turned on its side in the ditch.

Garden as Hobby Invaluable In A Strenuous Life

Speaker Tells Rotarians That Man Needs Something to Take Mind Off Work

Modern life has become so strenuous that every man needs something to help him take his mind off his work, Rev. Richard Haines, rector of St. Paul's Church, told members of the local Rotary Club at their weekly meeting on Monday, and he suggested gardening as one of the most healthful and pleasant recreations. "Gardening as a Hobby," was the subject of his address, and in advancing his argument he said that, while many men could not afford to play golf, nearly everyone could afford a garden and the pleasure to be derived was immeasurable. Mr. Haines is an enthusiastic grower himself and has been complimented on the beauty of the rectory grounds.

The speaker declared that he believed his work in the garden was almost as important as the other duties of his position as a minister of the gospel. "In the pulpit," he said, "my voice reaches only my own people, while in the garden I can preach to all comers. It is there that the 'Unseen Gardener' comes closer to mortals, and we must remember that the supreme agony of the Master was suffered in a garden."

Both philosophy and psychology had become important factors in modern life, Mr. Haines said, and he cited the case of a prominent physician who set his patients suffering from mental derangement to digging ditches, then making them fill them up again, with the result that in many instances a complete cure resulted. His plan, the speaker said, would be to put them to work in gardens and he believed the result would be the same.

There was a certain fraternity among gardeners, just as among fishermen and members of other crafts, and even the King could get no more satisfaction from his rare flowers with their high-sounding names than the humblest of his subjects from their common everyday blooms. Even in a vegetable garden, which was a material thing as compared to the more spiritual flower garden, the scattering of a few blooms made a great difference. Rev. Mr. Haines concluded his talk with the reading of a poem, "The Glory of the Garden" by Kipling, and received a hearty vote of thanks conveyed on behalf of the club by Dr. W. C. Arnold.

L. H. Saunders, Past Grand Master of the L.O.L., visited the Haileybury L.O.L. No. 1162 at regular meeting on Friday night.
