BEHIND EVERY CRIME CAREER LOOMS A WOMAN

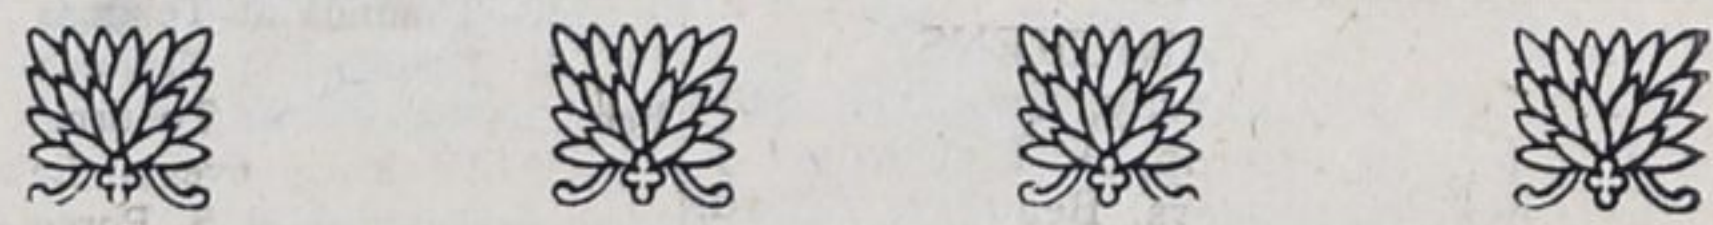

Behind every public enemy in his life of crime is a woman. Such is the observation of J. Edgar Hoover, head G-man, who is of the opinion that the women actually involved in crime themselves are more vicious and cruel than most men. Among instances cited by him in illustration of his point are Katherine Kelly, wife of "Machine Gun" Kelly, who aided him in the kidnapping of Charles Urschel, Oklahoma oil man; Helen Gillis, wife of "Baby Face" Nelson and his constant companion during his criminal career; Evelyn Frechette, Dillinger's girl friend and accomplice; "Ma" Barker, who dominated the Karpis-Barker gang and died with a machine gun in her hands.

FRANCE DECIDES TO CLOSE DOWN "DEVIL'S ISLAND" COLONY

The notorious French penal colony, Devil's Island, will not receive any more prisoners from France, according to an announcement made recently by the Government. Considered by many Frenchmen as a disgrace to the French penal system, the dread prison colony provides very few means of escape. Occasionally prisoners do break away from the colony, but few ever withstand the harrowing journey of hardship and privation which have to be experienced in order to reach the nearest port of call, Trinidad, British West Indies. Our main picture shows a group of convicts boarding the French convict ship "La Martiniere" en route to Devil's Isle, while inset are four men who were successful in escaping from the island and reached Trinidad in an open boat.
