Friends—Far From Home

(Photo: Can. Nat'l Rys)

WHEN their mother, Crown Princess Juliana of The Netherlands, gave a reception to the crew of a Dutch warship at Pictou Lodge, overlooking the shining waters of the Northumberland Strait in Nova Scotia, many of the seamen saw the children of the Dutch royal family for the first time. In the above photo, a Dutch sailor tries to gain the attention of Princess Beatrice, 3, (left) while Princess Irene, 2, looks wistfully at the camera, probably wondering why they all have to be so far from their native Holland.

FATHER, 52, JOINS NAVY TO BE WITH 7 SONS

A special order from Washington waiving the navy reserve age limit enabled Clarence Floyd Patten, 52, of Richfield, Wash., to join up and serve with his seven sons in Uncle Sam's fleet. ABOVE, Patten is shown with Chief Turret Captain Charles Farrell as he signed recruiting papers.

SPITSBERGEN LEADER CHATS WITH QUEEN

Brigadier A. E. Potts, commander of the mixed Canadian and Norwegian force who raided Spitsbergen, is pictured here chatting with Queen Elizabeth during an inspection of a Saskatchewan regiment of which he was C.O. At the time this picture was taken Brigadier Potts was a lieutenant-colonel.

Roosevelt Tells His Navy to "Shoot First"

Wearing black armband and necktie in mourning for his mother, President Roosevelt sits at his desk in the Oval room of the White House to deliver his "shoot first" message by radio to the United States. His speech was short-waved to virtually every nation of the world.

Heads Jap General Staff

A recent photo of General Otozo Yamada, of the Japanese general staff, who was named commander-in-chief of the new "National Defence Headquarters," which is to be responsible for all phases of national defence of Japan and its possessions. All defence activities as well as garrisons and air forces in Korea and Formosa will come under General Yamada's direct control.

SISTER SHIP OF U.S. FREIGHTER SUNK IN RED SEA

The 5,719-ton American freighter Steel Seafarer, which closely resembled the 5,687-ton steel mariner, pictured ABOVE, was bombed and sunk in the Red Sea, the state department announced. The department said it had been informed by Alexander Kirk, American minister in Cairo, Egypt, of the sinking. According to Kirk's report, the ship was struck by an aerial bomb dropped by an unidentified plane. All aboard were reported safe.

THESE ADMIRALS WILL CARRY OUT PRESIDENT'S ORDERS

Admiral Harold R. Stark, standing RIGHT, U.S. chief of naval operations, was the recipient of President Roosevelt's shoot-on-sight orders with regard to Axis submarines and raiders appearing in American defence waters. Admiral F. J. King, LEFT, commander of the U.S. Atlantic fleet, will largely share the responsibility for keeping the sea lanes open. The two admirals are pictured here with the president and Prime Minister Churchill during the recent historic meeting of the two leaders aboard H.M.S. Prince of Wales.

Odessa Preparing for a Last-Ditch Fight

This photo, radioed from Moscow shows a street scene in beleaguered Odessa, great grain port of the Ukraine on the Black Sea. Barricades are thrown up in the streets, paving blocks and sandbags being used for defences. The port is completely encircled on the land side by German forces, but the garrison has so far repulsed all attempts to storm the city.
