AIR MARSHAL GREETED BY SON

Visiting Toronto recently, Air Marshal W. A. Bishop, V.C., was proudly greeted by his only son, 18-year-old Arthur Bishop. He enlisted in Ottawa a few days ago and is now stationed at Manning Depot, Toronto.

WARNS U.S. AGAINST INFLATION

Bernard M. Baruch, who headed the U.S. war industries board during the world war No. 1, is pictured urging Congress "to put a ceiling over the whole price structure including wages, rents and farm prices." Baruch, who appeared before the House Banking and Currency committee, advocated a much more drastic price control bill than that planned by the administration.

QUEEN MARY REVIEWS CAN. REGIMENT

Her Majesty Queen Mary chats with the lieutenant-colonel (unidentified) of an Ontario regiment during a recent comprehensive visit to various army establishments in the south of England. She inspected the army school of cookery, a home for children of soldiers' families, and took the salute at a march past of the Ontario regiment, of which she is colonel-in-chief. This is the first picture of the queen-mother to reach Canada in many months.

CLOSE PLEDGE WEEK

Closing the week of reconsecration, which marked the anniversary of Canada's declaration of war upon Germany in a fitting manner, thousands gathered on Parliament Hill in Ottawa to unite in prayers for victory and renew the pledge to continue the fight until the war is won. This photograph shows the Rt. Rev. Robert Jefferson, Bishop of Ottawa, at the microphone, as he led in reading of the Reconsecration pledge. Behind him is Col. the Most Reverend G. A. Wells, chief chaplain (Protestant) of the Canadian army.

NEW HATS FOR LONDON POSTWOMEN

Each week shows the women of England playing an increasingly important role in their country's war effort. A postwoman, LEFT, tries on a new type of hat with the help of a mirror. The old type, worn by the young lady on the RIGHT, had a tendency to getting knocked off by the overhanging roof of the mail van, albeit the old model, somewhat like that of the Aussies, had a certain fashion flare about it.

CANADIAN JOURNALISTS GO TO ENGLAND

Women Take Over Job Handling England's Balloons

The experiment of replacing men balloon operators by members of the women's air auxiliary in England, has proven successful beyond expectation and is being continued on a larger scale. The first women to be engaged in this work quickly mastered the none-to-easy technique of the balloon and learned the unruly habits and vagaries of their charges. Three of the air auxiliary members are shown bringing a balloon to roost.
