

Next Wednesday is Closing Date For Contest Entries

Final Opportunity to Try Luck on Lake Clearing; Only One to Each Customer

Next Wednesday, April 12th, is the closing date for entries in The Haileyburian's annual guessing contest on the date of the ice leaving Lake Temiskaming, and the coupon below affords the last chance to try your luck this year.

The entries have been coming in nicely during the past week, with the majority appearing to believe the ice will go out considerably earlier than last year. One optimist has set the date as April 20 while on the other hand there is a pessimist who has no hope of the lake being clear before the middle of May.

It appears we did not make the rules entirely clear in announcing the contest this spring. One is to the effect that only one entry is allowed each contestant, and we have already received a couple of doubles. In each case one has been destroyed. It is permissible for different members of a family to enter guesses, but only one subscription will be given to a family, if some member picks the correct date. The record over the past year and the entry coupon are given below:

Notes of the North

HIGHWAY TROUBLES

Now you see it and now you don't could be said of the south road this week. The plow reached Porquis on Wednesday, reopening the road for the first time this year, and starting back as far as Devonshire when Wednesday night's storm struck. It returned to Porquis, and is expected to be back here Friday.

It is recommended that motorists do not try to use the road at present; the clearing will be widened in the next few days and traffic will then be able to pass.—Cochrane Northland Post.

PASTOR WRITES BOOK

Rev. E. Gilmour Smith, pastor of Mountjoy United Church in Timmins, is the author of an interesting non-fiction book distributed recently by Fleming H. Revell Company under the title "Modern Parables." The volume contains several woodcuts by the well-known Kirkland Lake artist, Dorothy Sweezy Ashton.

The tenor of this work is well illustrated by a passage from the chapter "Vitamins and Life's Quality": "Let us beware of thinking that a satisfying, happy life for the individual or for a nation can be founded on material wealth alone."—Timmins Press.

PERSISTENCE PAYS

Turned down thirteen times when he sought to serve with the Dominion forces, Ralph Taylor has finally made the grade and today, at the 14th bidding, he leaves to join the Royal Canadian Navy. He enters that service as a writer and he will be in the same service as his twin brother, Tom. The brothers are sons of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Taylor of New Liskeard—Temiskaming Speaker.

NEW MINERS' UNION

At a meeting of Kirkland Lake mine workers held in the Orange Hall, recently, it was decided to seek affiliation with the Amalgamated Unions of Canada, an independent organization functioning in Canada under provincial and federal laws.

A branch of the Amalgamated Unions of Canada was recently established in Kirkland Lake and it is understood miners at six of the local mines, and miners at district mines, have already decided to seek affiliation with the Amalgamated Unions of Canada.

The Amalgamated Unions of Canada is sharply opposed to the C.I.O. and its international direction. Registered in Canada it is subject to, and answerable to government, for all its actions relating to Canadian mine workers enrolled as members.—Kirkland Lake Northern News.

PAYS HEAVY FINE

The heaviest fine at police court this week was one of $240.00—$20 each for 12 beaver pelts in illegal possession. Game Warden Don Sylvester told of seeing Joffre Paul throw these off a truck in Deloro township. The game warden said he immediately secured possession of the bag of furs and that the accused had said they were his and that there were 12 beaver skins. This count was verified at the police station. Inspector Beacock gave evidence to the effect that he had heard the accused admit in the police station that the furs were his and laughingly refer to the time and trouble they had cost to secure and the further loss there would be in a fine.—Porcupine Advance.

OBSERVE CENTENARY

In recognition of the centenary of the first Consumers' Co-Operative organized by the Weavers of Rochdale, England, in 1844, the Noranda Co-Operative Association held a general meeting at the community hall last evening for all who were interested.

J. L. Brunet, a C.N.R. employee versed in the movement, gave very interesting and informative talks in English and French, and answered questions. The success achieved at Val d'Or by a co-operative started by fourteen workers, he said, offers encouragement to the Noranda group, which was started by twelve workers about two years ago.—Rouyn-Noranda Press.

QUADRUPED CHICK

street, on Friday, because when later in the year the bird is stuffed and roasted there'll be a drumstick for each person at the table. The chicken had four legs when it emerged from the shell. One of the shafts is apparently perfect. The other three are slightly deformed and handicap the youngster somewhat in its efforts to move about. But the chick is alert and pert and is just as much interested in what is going on in its own little world as are its brothers and sisters who were introduced to feathered society on the same day. — North Bay Nugget.

IMPORTANT CITY

"Sudbury is one of the most important small cities of the world today," stated John Fisher, CBC commentator, in addressing the Women's Canadian Club in Sudbury on Friday evening. Expanding on this statement he declared "Put any one of these nickel mines out of condition and see what happens to Canada's war effort, or the war effort as a whole. The pulsing profile of the Northern city can be seen against the scarlet sky reflected in the dumping of the molten slag on the Copper Cliff slag heaps. Maybe to you Sudburians this is a familiar sight, but to a stranger, it is a thing of startling and breathtaking beauty."—Sudbury Star.

Latest talk of secession in Northern Ontario comes from Port Arthur, where it was suggested by an ex-mayor that that section of the province would do better by joining Manitoba.

We Can Do Better

In the past, wars have brought with them a high cost of living, ending with inflation.

This sapped the strength of nations and added poverty and injustice to the other tragedies of war.

Later it has led to falling prices and unemployment.

In this war, we Canadians are determined to head off this danger.

We have done much to avoid a repetition of the disastrous price rises of previous wars. We have paid higher taxes. We have bought Victory Bonds. We have severely limited profits.

We have put a ceiling on prices. And to make it possible to hold the ceiling, wages and salaries have been controlled.

In one way or another most increased costs have been absorbed and very few passed on to the consumer.

Holding the ceiling has been a struggle. But the results have been worth while. From 1914 to 1919 prices rose 60%. From 1939 to 1944 the rise has been only 18%.

This effort of the Canadian people has been successful enough to be noted in other countries.

But we must continue to hold the line. We need not let history repeat itself. We can do better.

We can all help—

By cutting down unnecessary spending, and buying Victory Bonds instead.

By not hoarding or buying in black markets.

By not taking advantage of the war situation to press claims for higher prices, higher wages, higher rents or higher profits.

(This advertisement is one of a series being issued by the Government of Canada to emphasize the importance of preventing a further increase in the cost of living now and deflation later.)
