OBITUARY

GERALD BRADLEY

The community of Latchford and a great circle of friends in the district were shocked to hear of the sudden passing of Gerald Ralph Bradley, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira B. Bradley of Latchford, last Saturday morning.

The late Mr. Bradley was employed by the Opeonga Lumber Company at Beapuchene, Que. near Kipawa, and with a younger man as passenger, was driving home for the week-end, at which time he was going to celebrate his 37th birthday.

About 4 o'clock, when he was within an hour of arriving home, just south of Temagami, the car apparently went out of control left the road and plunged down a steep embankment. His passenger was thrown clear and escaped with minor injuries, and Gerald was also apparently thrown out, only to hit a rock and die instantly from a fractured skull.

The body was taken to North Bay and later to the Buttam Funeral home at Cobalt, and Monday it was taken to the family home in Latchford, where it lay with the casket draped in the Union Jack until the funeral service on Tuesday.

Gerald was born in Latchford. He was educated there and at the Haileybury Mining School. In 1940, he enlisted with the Canadian Forestry Corps and went overseas with No. 11 Company of that unit, commanded by Major W. A. H. Ferguson of Haileybury, serving in Scotland until he got a transfer to Ordinance and in 1945 again transferred, this time to infantry and served in Holland until he came home in 1945.

After returning he worked for various lumbering and construction companies, spent a year at Yellowknife and finally with the company near Kipawa.

He was sports minded, taking part in baseball, football and hockey with Latchford teams for some years.

Gerald was a member of Silver Lodge, A. F. & A. M., Cobalt, and is survived by his father and his mother and two brothers, Reid and Stanley, in Latchford.

The funeral was held under joint Masonic and Canadian Legion auspices at the Latchford United Church on Tuesday afternoon, with Rev. George Brown officiating. The pallbearers were Arthur Burns, Max Sullivan and Ralph Lafleur of Latchford, Don Nicolson of Haileybury, Geoff Dixon of Cobalt and P. Whelan of New Liskeard. Interment was made in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Haileybury.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Wainman former residents of Haileybury were in town this week for a short visit with old friends. Mr. Wainman left Haileybury almost thirty-three years ago.

Haileybury Pumping System Will Soon Be Renovated

Two New Vertical Pumps Costing $9,000 to be Installed; Will Be Equipped with Automatic Control Replace Present Pair, Installed Back in 1912; Decision of the Town Council

Haileybury's water supply will be provided by a new and up-to-date pumping system in the not-too-distant future, according to a decision made by the town council at the regular meeting of that body on Monday night.

Two new vertical pumps, equipped with automatic controls and of a capacity sufficient to take care of the town's needs for many years to come, will replace the present pair, which have been in operation since the system was installed around the year 1912. They have shown the effects of use and have required repairs on different occasions, especially following the fire of October 4th, 1922, when the pumphouse, located on the shore of Lake Temiskaming, was burned down. Oddly enough, the filtration plant, which stands on higher ground adjacent to the pumphouse, was not seriously damaged by the fire which destroyed about three-quarters of the town.

The new pumps will cost approximately $9,000, according to an estimate by the Sutcliffe Company of New Liskeard, which handles the town's engineering problems. Councillor John W.

Lecky, chairman of the water-works committee, has been studying the project with the engineering firm for some time past.

The council decided to go ahead with the installation of the new plant, if the approval of the Department of Municipal Affairs is forthcoming. The money will come from the Town's fund for capital expenditure, set up some years ago.

Other business at the Monday session was light. The Rotary Club asked if the town could provide half a dozen cement benches for the park and beach, something similar to those near the Cenotaph in the Main street park. The council thought it could be done by town workmen as opportunity arose.

Provincial constable Barry told the council that larger signs marking the 30-mile speed limit on the main highway at each entrance to the municipality might help to reduce speeding. No action was taken immediately.

Final item on the agenda was an estimate of $287 for painting the interior of the public library, which was turned down, as the expenditure had not been provided for in the budget.

No Structural Changes This Year in Local Schools

One Dissenting Trustee Holds up Proposals of Balance of School Board

As published in these columns two months ago, both the High and Public School Boards contemplated improvements to the public school building for the permanent occupancy of both schools in the one building. It had been hoped that part of the program could have been completed before school re-opens in September, but all structural changes have been deferred until 1952. New equipment has been ordered for the high school Laboratory and is being installed during the holiday while the public school board is re-decorating the basement areas.

Both Boards had discussed plans for a better school for the pupils but, rather than borrow money this year, have agreed to make recommendations along these lines to the incoming Board of Education which will have the authority over both schools.

At present a majority of the high school board have adopted the proposed consolidation of both schools, with one Trustee neutral and one dissenting. The public school board were unanimous in agreement and the separate school board, while only indirectly interested, has not made any objections. The dissenting Trustee is definitely opposed to the proposals and has refused to recognize the right of the majority of the board to carry out its adopted policy, although the Departments of Municipal Affairs and Education have concurred. Rather than start work now L. Bettjol, Mabel and Orlando, Mr. and Mrs. G. Giannini, Mr. and Mrs. O. Fonucci, Mr. and Mrs. H. Cecol, Miss E. Cecol, Mr. R. Bettjol, all of Kirkland Lake; Mr. O. Bettjol, Larder Lake; Mr. and Mrs. E. Champagne, Mr. and Mrs. A. Blain, Mr. and Mrs. O. Duhamel, New Liskeard.

It has been suggested that the question should be submitted to the ratepayers at the next Municipal Election when all facts as to costs of operation, building etc., would be presented. In the meantime, the pupils who would be the beneficiaries of the proposed improvements, will have to continue to make the best of what can be provided to meet the situation.

Members of the Canadian Legion, who have already contributed volunteer labor, are also going to build a handy fireplace. Other service clubs are assisting in this effort to supply a recreation centre
