You Ought To Know AP&I—That you may think that it's cold here sometimes but Rusty Smith doesn't think we know anything about severe weather from Yukeno Mines where he has been working for a year. Rusty wrote to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith, enclosing a picture of a bird hovering over this observation: "This bird looks just like a buzzard, it's large, it's hideous, it's old, in the night as it circles the North Pole. Crying Kee, Kee, Kee-ripes but it's cold!"

Day averted what might have been worse last week... a parked car in front of the post office took off and headed out into the main street and across the road... Mr. Day lost no time getting into action and got the vehicle out of the way of oncoming traffic whizzing into town from the North.

That the Rotary International Conference begins tomorrow at Bath. That the culture of fruit in most home gardens can be both an interesting hobby and a profitable undertaking. But this cannot be achieved unless the highly probable pitfall of selecting species or types of fruit which are unsuitable are avoided. Information on the selection of varieties need not be guesswork but may be obtained from the Department of Agriculture. If planting is being done for family use, remember that a 15-year-old MacIntosh apple tree yields more than ten bushels of apples; a thirty-foot row of raspberries will yield 15 quarts; a thirty-foot row of strawberries should yield twenty quarts.

That Bill Inch was drawmaster for the Mixed Bonspiel and curlers would like to say "Thanks" for the smooth running of the draw. That the Haileybury Art Club is indeed fortunate in obtaining the Adrian Verdonk collection of paintings which will be on display in the High School on March 28th and 29th.
