THE BALLOT SPEAKS

The citizens of Haileybury were fortunate indeed on Monday in that they were able to mark a ballot for Mayor carrying the names of two good men.

It is a fitting tribute to Herbert A. Day that after long years of association and devoted interest in the welfare of this community he should receive recognition from north to south, from east to west and crown his well spent years as the Mayor of the Town of Haileybury. Moreover, next year, we celebrate our fiftieth anniversary and it is nice to think that an active pioneer will lead the way.

Mayor Arthur H. Cooke has served this town faithfully and well for five years. He is deserving of a well earned rest and the community will look forward to having him back in the municipal field in the years to come.

The return of four councillors to the council table is their assurance that the citizens are well satisfied and should give them added impetus to keep up the good work. Particularly gratifying was the vote for the chairman of Finance, D. H. Millar, whose capabilities in this direction have been clearly recognized. The entrance of Alex Mosher and Don Gardner to the municipal field will be a great benefit to the affairs of the town.

Never before in the history of Education have Boards of Education across Canada faced so many difficult problems and the sweeping return of the chairman of the Board, Harry Jenkins and the two present members is a nice way for the citizens to say that they are pleased with the school and that their children are in good hands. One newcomer to the Board, Neil McAulay, with his experience in municipal affairs and father of two young sons will be a valuable asset.

TRUE SERVICE

In every corner of every community there are thousands of people pursuing their daily tasks. The importance of each task is measured not so much by the task itself as to how well it is done and the resulting benefits which thread their unseen strands into the lives and happiness of so many people.

This thought came to us as we had occasion to seek information in the accession register and the records of the Haileybury Free Public Library. Records which have been kept by the retiring Librarian, Mrs. R. P. Teare in such perfect order. Assuming the position of Librarian in 1942, Mrs. Teare retired this year due to ill health. That quality so essential to a good Librarian — to meet, to be interested in and to understand the public was hers in a large measure. She read voraciously and thus was able to recommend books for every taste which she took the trouble to know. It is notable that there was a marked increase in the circulation of children's books during her period of office. The auditor has said of her annual reports that not once in all the years was there an eraser mark, a blot or a mistake. Nor did her interest in the Library end with office hours. But after hours, she devoted her time and energy to every phase of this important structure.

It was with regret that the Board accepted her resignation and the community as a whole recognize a great debt.

TO-MORROW'S NEWS TODAY

The Haileyburian, on January 14th 1954: Failure to see a warning signal at Korke Avenue and Main Street was the cause of a head-on collision yesterday which resulted in the death of two people.

Crowded

Its Christmas time, you know and it seems the stores in downtown Toronto are something to be avoided. We heard this week about a man who went down to Eaton's and came home battered and bruised to report that it was so crowded, he saw two women trying to get into the same girdle.

LIBRARY NOTES

Pardon My Parka, by Joan Walker. Joan, a sophisticated English journalist, meets a Canadian Major in war-time London, marries up with him and comes to Val d'Or. After dreaming all the way over of a quaint little French-Canadian village, all red roofs and snow like a Christmas card, if Joan wakes up with a jolt she does not let it get her down. Living in the hotel, where the same key opens every door, attending the local cinema, where pop bottle came rolling down the inclined floor, building her bungalow under war-time shortages, all were advantages, and young and starry eyed Joan gets by.

Pardon My Parka is light and amusing reading. To us it brought a slight nostalgia. We once lived at the Cobalt Hotel crept under cover of darkness in to the "Idle Hour", ate at an earlier "Greasy Spoon".

BILL GROZELLE COACHING KINSMEN MIDGETS FOR 1953-1954 SEASON

Fourteen young midget hockey players from North Cobalt and Haileybury attended the first meeting of the season in Hotel Haileybury on Friday evening.

J. H. Hallworth will take over the duties of manager and Billy Grozelle will coach the youngsters. Cap Burns has offered to give any assistant coaching he can to the goalie and George Weston and Norman Abraham have offered their services as referees.

The team which showed great promise last year under the able coaching of A. W. Stollery, will be without the services of Bill Fleming, Ronald Parent and Kenny O'Grady. However, it is expected that new material will fill the breach and the team will have the enthusiastic support of the community.

As in the past, they are sponsored by the Kinsmen and new blue and white sweaters are on order. The Recreation Committee is prepared to pay for the practice ice in New Liskeard.

Further meetings will decide the possibility of forming a Tri-Town team with the cream of the three towns entering a league and trying for the crown in midget hockey.

Tickets will be sold for the season at $2.50 for home games Haileybury-North Cobalt midgets only.
