LIBRARY NOTES

Madame de Pompadour by Nancy Mitford - an intimate portrait of this brilliant mistress of Louis XV, whose only fault was that she lost America for France. Not strictly beautiful, but wonderfully pretty with very lovely eyes, highly endowed with brains and charm, she had exquisite taste and delighted to plan and oversee the execution of beautiful things, large and small. Her tapestries, jewels, her gardens, were a dream of beauty. Nancy Mitford tells an engrossing story and one lives in the society of this wonderful woman.

Out of the Earth - by G. H. Langford - a short, fascinating trip through the mining industry - prospecting, staking, mining, processing, financing - fun, fame and fortune.

Receiving Home at Dane, One of C.A.S Many Services

Not long ago, a wealthy American offered a large sum of money for the construction of a beautifully modern orphanage in his community. Fortunately, no one took him up on the offer. The orphan's home as we used to know it has almost disappeared in civilized countries - and no one regrets its passing.

But even with a policy of placing homeless and friendless dependent children in foster or adoption homes, most Children's Aid Societies in Ontario find the need of a special shelter where children may be cared for temporarily until suitable foster homes can be located. The Children's Aid Society in this district is fortunate in having an ideal receiving home at Dane, and ideal houseparents in Mr. and Mrs. Konrad Hollander who have taken scores of youngsters to their hearts since they became "Mummy" and "Daddy" to the children at Dane.

The Hollanders, who came to Canada from their native Latvia four years ago, face all the headaches and heartaches of average parents - and then some! Fortunately, they are devoted to children and possess an understanding which enables them to make their young guests feel at home within minutes of their arrival. Mrs. Hollander is a warm, motherly person whom no child can resist. Mr. Hollander is a favorite with the boys and spends many hours guiding them in handicrafts and games. Mrs. Hollander's mother, Mrs. Minna Seimbacher, is "grandmother" to all the youngsters at Dane and, although she speaks no English, she and the children share a perfect understanding.

Designed as a temporary shelter for children who will later be placed in private homes, Dane also serves as a home for those children who have been so badly disturbed by their experiences before coming to the Society's attention that they cannot adjust readily to family life. Such children are a special concern of Mr. and Mrs. Hollander, who achieve wonderful results in restoring these frightened and unhappy children to a more optimistic outlook on life. The number of children cared for at any one time at Dane varies from 10 to 15. During their stay, all receive careful medical and dental examination new clothing and habit-training if needed.

When it is remembered that many children admitted to the care of the Society by the courts are poorly-nourished, dirty, sick and untrained, the importance of a bright, cheerful and warm receiving home can be readily seen. Friends of the Society are invited to visit Dane and look through the facilities available there. Visitors are asked to contact staff members at Kirkland Lake or Haileybury offices to arrange visits. The receiving home is just one of many child welfare services provided by your Children's Aid Society and made possible by your contribution during the annual appeal for funds.

An amount of $1,500 is needed from the Haileybury area if the campaign objective is to be reached. Donations may be sent to the Children's Aid Society, Court House, or given to the canvasser who will call.
