Haileybury Art Club Exhibition at High School at Week-End

In the North Bay Nugget last week were cited comments from newspapers in Chatham, Windsor, Ingersoll and St. Thomas to show the wide interest aroused in Southwestern Ontario by the NOAA Exhibition now on tour.

The Windsor Daily News describes Muriel Smith's turpentine wash drawings as "interesting and unusual."

Ingersoll Tribune pays tribute to Enid Symington's oil "White River Country" also gains favorable notice.

The Haileybury Art Club's annual exhibition at the High School this week-end will provide local people with the opportunity to appraise the progress of the group.

On view will be the pictures that will represent the Club on the Northern Ontario Spring Circuit, which starts in North Bay on Easter Week.

Nearly 3,700,000 people, about one Canadian in four, receive salaries, pensions, allowances or other monthly payments from the Federal Government, amounting to a total payment of about $5,000,000 a day.

Every summer off Canada's east coast the International Ice

Patrol uses ships and planes to trace the movements of icebergs brought down from the Arctic by the Labrador Current to threaten Atlantic ship lanes.

The growth of industry has made Canadians mostly urban dwellers. Nearly two-thirds of Canadians now live in cities and towns.

Spring Is Coming!

Spring is just around the corner or at least we hope! However after the last couple of days it seems very doubtful. There is one man in Haileybury who reassures us that it can't be far off and he is Leigh Day, who is very proud of his daffodils, about three inches high, peeking through the snow.
