Horticultural Society Notes

No doubt many Haileyburians heard Bob Keith, last Sunday morning, talk on planting and pruning roses. Two years ago Society furnished printed directions for planting roses, recommending that the callons on the root stalk from which the green branches spring, be set three inches below the soil surface.

If your roses are not already pruned, it is advisable to do the job now. Cut the stems back to within four or five inches of the soil surface. This applies to polyanthus, this spring's premium and to hybrid teas, the type given two years ago.

After pruning it is well to draw the soil up around and to the top of the canes. By keeping the mound of soil moist, the bark on the stems will soften and the growth of buds hastened. The mound may be left around the stems for three or four weeks. Do not let your roses get dry.

Partridge Has Wild Ride In Grill of Motor Car

On Tuesday morning a motorist pulled up in front of the Good Food Grill for quick snack little knowing that trapped in between the grill of the car and the radiator was what some people consider a real snack.

In some manner a partially-grown partridge had become trapped and from the feathers and what not in the grill it appeared as though it had been there for some time.

A pedestrian passing the car as it was parked on the street heard the bird and soon a small crowd gathered. The bird was soon removed from the car and found to be uninjured and when released near The Haileyburian Office was last seen heading for the tall timbers.
