Worth Remembering

Though horse-racing existed over 3000 years ago, the Thoroughbred is a modern development. Nearly every thoroughbred racing today is descended from one of three stallions imported to England from the Near East around 1728. These horses, incidentally, are the only animals termed "Thoroughbreds". Pedigreed dogs, cattle, etc. are called "Pure-bred". Another sports fact worth remembering!

The CCF is the Party of CO-OPERATION

The letters CCF stand for Co-operative Commonwealth Federation. The CCF believes that the idea of co-operation, which has proved so beneficial in farmers' marketing organizations, credit unions and consumers' co-ops, should also apply in our government. The public health insurance and auto insurance programs advocated by the CCF are examples of how we can co-operate through our government for our own benefit.
