Children's Aid Soc. Increases Rates to Foster Parents

Foster parents of the Children's Aid Society will receive increase in maintenance payments ranging from two to five dollars a month, effective September 1. The higher boarding rates for the care of the Society's children in foster homes were announced at the monthly board meeting held in the Hotel Haileybury on Tuesday. New boarding rates are: $30 a month for infants and children up to three years; $28 a month for children between the ages of three and 10 years and $30 a month for children 11 years and over. Provision is again made for the payment of special rates in certain cases.

Members of the Board of Directors were unanimous in their appreciation of the services rendered by the foster parents and problems they must cope with in raising foster children successfully. Mr. J. A. Wilson of Haileybury, termed foster parents "the backbone of the Children's Aid Society." The increases in maintenance, which brought the Temiskaming Society's rates into line with rates paid elsewhere, was a recognition by the Society of difficulties faced by foster parents because the high cost of boarding children.

Tragic Deaths at Temagami Prove Murder and Suicide

Ontario Provincial Police investigating the deaths of three Temagami persons found in a fire gutted house on Friday have ruled out their suspicions of triple murder.

Inspector Harold Graham of the criminal investigation branch said the tragedy seemed to indicate a double murder and suicide.

Allan Doughty, 57, is believed to have bludgeoned his wife, Muriel, 39, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. George Barker, 72, set the building afire with oil had then stabbed himself in the jugular vein. Mr. and Mrs. Doughty were found in their bedroom, lying side by side with their hands folded on their chests. Mrs. Barker's body was found crumpled under a bed in a second bedroom.

Last Saturday, officials of the department of lands and forests went to Doughty's tourist shop and seized $6,000 worth of fishing licenses which were issued to him early this year. They also notified Doughty that he must pay $4,000 he still owes the department for fishing licenses sold last year.

The 57-year-old storekeeper who also operated a freezing plant and wholesale oil business, was reported to have been in debt to several supply firms and was facing lawsuits.

The fire was discovered at 7.40 a.m. Friday morning and Lands and Forests and volunteers were on the scene within a matter of minutes. Flaming oil in the basement floated on top of the water and a chemical fire extinguisher was brought into play to get the fire under control.

It was not until firemen had been on the job for half an hour that the bodies were discovered to be inside the house.

Doughty was a well-respected member of the community while Mrs. Doughty was highly praised by villagers. Their deaths came as a shock to the community.

At Toronto, in 1945, Mr. Doughty married Muriel Barker. Although she was several years younger than her husband, neighbors described the couple as devoted.

Mrs. Doughty was active in the Red Cross, the Women's Institute and the United Church.

Mrs. Barker, in ill-health, came to live with her daughter last year.

Funeral services took place today in Toronto. Rev. Welburn Jones conducted the funeral services. Interment was to be in the York Cemetery.

Rotary Club Park To Have Supervised Summer Activities

The people of Haileybury and surrounding district, flocked to the Haileybury Armouries on Saturday evening last, and were thrilled at the exhibition of square dancing staged by the Primary and Secondary Schools of North Bay.

Their costumes are very colorful and the dancing was superb. Some of the dancers have only been dancing since February of this year.

The local Rotary Club were the sponsors. This year at the Rotary Summer Fair there will be square dancing contest open to all Primary and Secondary Schools of Temiskaming and district. The children are asked to organize their own groups and to contact Ian MacDiarmid for further instructions. There will be three compulsory calls during the contest, one to take place each evening. A draw will take place to choose the call for that evening.

The Rotary Club and the Recreation Committee have again this year made arrangement to have supervised recreation for the children of the town. For the past few years the children have been very fortunate in having these two organizations plan enjoyable summer activities.

Miss Suzanne Lecky and Miss Mollie Millar will be in charge of the park arrangements. Miss Ruth Cumming and Harold Hammerstrom will be in charge of the beach. Claude and Marcel Proulx volunteered their services at the beach. Mr. Peter McGinley has been appointed as caretaker of the park.

Not only do we see the children enjoying these facilities, but adults as well. Let us keep in mind that these organizations work hard to keep things in order, so let us do our part by enjoying these things and not destroying them.

Mr. Leo Gough is the chairman
