Kirkland Lake Chosen as Site of Armored Training

Kirkland Lake is to be the centre of a week-end militia training scheme for all units of the Algonquin 29th Armoured Regiment. The scheme is the result of the re-organization of militia units whereby the Algonquin Regiment is being converted to armor.

Former support and headquarters companies in Kirkland Lake and Virginiatown amalgamate to form "B" Squadron of the Algonquin Regiment. Last night, Wednesday, squadron training sessions began, conducted by regular army instructors at Virginiatown.

This Northern regular force training team will be carrying on a re-conversion in the Haileybury Armouries on Tuesday and Thursday nights from now until some time early in the year. This program is required to standardize the re-conversion and training throughout the entire Northern Regiment.

Major F. L. Charbonneau of Haileybury, who was last week named second in command following the appointment of Col. G. L. Cassidy to command the 16th militia group pointed out that "because of the characteristics of the tank, it is impossible to have them in a built-up area."

The training area will be somewhere north of Kirkland Lake and involves the moving of five squadrons from their local training area to a central area for their tank driving and tactics training. Regimental training officers will be under Major R. E. Rutherford and Major J. R. Walker, both of Kirkland Lake. The change-over from infantry to an armoured unit naturally involves a complete change-over in training and will not be accomplished over-night."

SEPTEMBER WEATHER DISAPPOINTMENT FROM ANY POINT OF VIEW

No one will be surprised to learn that the month of September didn't produce anything very startling other than the rainy season.

Mr. Reavell's records show us that the average daily mean for the month this year was 57.4 as compared with 1952's 57.2 and 1894's lower figure of 53.8.

Winter came early in 1916 for the mercury dropped to 7.0. That conditions have improved in the intervening years is obvious when we learn that in 1952 the maximum was 35.2 and in September of this year, it was 39.

While we basked in a hot summer sun in September, 1952 with the mercury as high as 85, no such good fortune came our way this year when 70 was the highest we could manage. In 1931, a record high for the past forty years was struck with a scorcher at 92.0.

MINOR COLLISION INVESTIGATED BY MUNICIPAL POLICE

One minor accident marred the Thanksgiving week-end in Haileybury when two cars collided on Rorke Avenue, near the entrance to town.

Kevin Kirkwood of Englehart and Lewis Crampe of Kirkland Lake were both travelling south at the time Kirkwood misunderstood a turn signal and in attempting to pass the vehicle ahead, was struck as it swung wide to make the turn.

TOURIST CABIN OPERATOR ENJOYS BEST SEASON YET

The average man giving casual thought to the tourist industry thinks that it couldn't have been a very good year. He probably thinks this because the weather was not favourable to a bumper crop of immigrants but then who knows about the weather before they take off?

At the turn north of Haileybury, Miller's Cabins are snugled back into the side of the hill overlooking the Lake. They make an attractive setting and southerners seeking a holiday think so too because in the five years that Mr. Miller has been operating, this was the best season yet. His seven cabins were constantly in demand.

Cobalt Property Changes Hands
J. G. Fitzgerald has sold his property in Cobalt known as the Nipissing Block to Roy Anderson of New Liskeard. Mr. Anderson, it is understood, does not intend to open a business in Cobalt but has purchased the building only.

Fire-Fighting at Lake Shore Pit Proves Effective

Great sheets of flame shot up 35 feet in the air on Friday night at the lake front. The fire bell cut through the still air. The sound of wheels racing to the scene caused many to wonder where? But the occupants of the cars that lined the waterfront sat back to enjoy this fire. For the Haileybury Fire Brigade was giving a demonstration of just how to fight an oil fire. In the brilliant night, Captain Harold Sadler moved in with two men and in nine seconds had smothered the whole area with a fog spray.

In other demonstration for which the pit was re-filled with oil, firemen used a 30-lb. dry chemical extinguisher which was totally effective in six seconds; soda and acid extinguishers on an oil fire had no effect and in the final blaze, firemen attacked against the wind with a fog spray which was completely satisfactory. Two lines consisting of 200 feet from the hydrant to the pumper on the truck were used in the demonstration. A hydrant pressure of approximately 80 lbs. was increased to 125 lbs. for an effective spray.

Participating firemen were Captain Harold Sadler, Bill Fleming, Bill Hughes, Sam Hughes, E. Campbell, J. Hallworth, J. Gauvreau, I. Sadler, J. Grawel, B. Allen, F. Plaunt and E. St. Louis. Firemen remaining on hall duty were W. Lemay, W. Stevens and C. Belland.

ATTENDANCE AT IMMUNIZATION CLINIC UP DURING THREE YEARS

Haileybury celebrated Immunization Week by holding an immunization clinic on October 7th which broke all records since the change-over three years ago to the Health Unit Services. The analysis of work by the Public Health Nurse, Miss Muriel Rice, shows that 68 babies and pre-school children registered at the clinic. Records show that there were 60 in 1952 and 55 in 1953. Volunteer worker at the clinic to assist Miss Rice was Mrs. John Valentine, who has been helping with the clinic for some years.
