The Rambling Reporter

Temiskaming mourns the death of Alex MacLean this week. The veteran photographer of the north died suddenly on Friday night at a meeting of the chess club. His photographic work was known far and wide, the demand for his pictures, which were a work of art, was exceptional. But what is more important, was always his willingness to give a helping hand to budding photographers who came to him with their problems. Haileybury will miss him, and the vacuum his passing leaves will be hard to fill in the Tri-town area.

This week-end the big T. and N.O. Bonspiel gets under way at Noranda. Instead of the week-long event in vogue for years the spiel has been cut down to about a three day affair. This year they have an entry of about 73 or 74 rinks and with being guaranteed six games it looks as though the boys will be just about curling the clock around in spite of the 12 sheets of exceptionally keen ice. Three rinks are going from New Liskeard and four rinks from Hailey-bury-Cobalt Club will represent the Tri-Town Area. The 'spiel opens at Noranda on Wednesday night with a reception and a draw mostly for local or close-in rinks.

And we think we have trouble with snow. Sure the banks are getting a little higher, but no records have been set—so none will be broken. The other day we had to make a trip to Gravenhurst and that Muskoka town, along with Huntsville and Bracebridge, seem to have their share and then some. Snowbanks on the streets of the towns, side as well as the main drags, barely allow for two vehicles to pass. In fact at Gravenhurst we asked if they didn't believe in snow removal. They said they did and had tried it, but they couldn't keep up with the white fluffy stuff. A motorist could sure pick up points for getting out of his car on the driver's side. If he parks anywhere near where the curb should be he will find snow as high as the roof and the car door won't open. If he gets out on the driver's side, he has to watch—or he won't have a door. But then none of the communities have anything on the community of Owen Sound, where a snow fall was just over nine feet. We imagine the residents who have used the motto, "No snow shovelling after 40" have had to throw it out the window or stay in the house all winter.

The Belleville McFarlands now touring Europe in search of hockey honors will, in all probability, have a couple of supporters from Northern Ontario when they play in The Prague, behind the Iron Curtain. If all goes well, Cec Connelly, now of Ottawa and brother Clarence of Haileybury, both of whom peddle General Motors products for a living are flying to Europe for a holiday with the express purpose of taking in some of the hockey matches the Canadian team are playing. Brother Arnold was also invited to take the trip with them but said he didn't feel up to the effort since his accident last fall.

"If at first you don't succeed, try, try again," seems to be the motto of Les Redford and his McIntyre curlers. Once again the ace of curlers of the Timmins area has emerged successful from the Consols curling competition in the T. & N. O. Association and for the fourth time in five years Les and his three fellow curlers will try their luck at winning the Northern Ontario curling honors and represent the area in the McDonald Brier for the Dominion Curling honors. The boys in this section of the Province will be pulling for Les when the play-offs start next week-end.

If Butch Spooner of Temagami is blushing these days it won't be from the shadow of his beard, or any ribbing he is taking about his VanDyke. Butch is almost in the same category as the boating enthusiast who built his boat in the basement and then found that he couldn't get it out. Butch has built himself a super deluxe fishing hut just to catch the big ones at Lake Temagami during the winter. He has it nicely insulated, so that if they are biting good he could stay even for the night. If they bite late, he has added a bunk to it so that he can stay and start in again in the morning. There is only one thing wrong with it. He built it behind his store, and there it stays. At the present time there is so much snow, the hut is so heavy that he can't find anyway to move it to the better fishing spots on the Lake. The other day he was figuring on adding a checker or a cribbage board and using it as is, where is,—but not for fishing.

The professional instructor for the Figure Skating Club has announced that last Friday and Saturday approximately 150 star tests were tried by skaters ranging from four to twelve years, from both the Haileybury and New Liskeard Clubs. Children of these ages and also anyone who had not passed th preliminary test were eligible to take these tests.

The first red star is given mainly for being able to skate by themselves. The blue star goes for the bunny hop, spiral and snowplough stop. The green star is for five outside edges, five inside edges and a T stop.

The silver star is the outside eight and the gold star is for the inside eight, waltz, three-back inside and back outside edges.

These star tests were judged by bronze and second test skaters.

The tests will be given once a month until the end of the season.

IN MEMORIAM

CARTER—In loving memory of Mrs. Ellen Carter, who passed away a year ago February 8th. "Safe in the arms of Jesus." —Sadly missed by her son, Norman. 49

It is hoped that the tests will give encouragement to the pre-school and junior skaters. Preliminary, first, second and third figure tests and preliminary dance tests will be held in March following the annual carnival.

The dates for the Carnival have been set for March 13 and 14. Approximately 70 skaters from the Haileybury Club will be taking part.
