Slugs In Pay Phone Lead To Jail Term

Sebastien Boucher, who claims he is from Montreal, was charged a heavy fine, together with the costs and a twenty-four hour detention in jail, last week for having used slugs in a pay-phon

Sebastien wanted to phone Montreal. Having placed his call, he was asked by the operator to deposit the required amount in the phone. Having in his possession different slugs, he deposited one in the amount of 25 cents; but since the modern pay-phones can differentiate true from counterfeit money, the mechanism refused to operate as soon as the first slug was inserted.

The operator immediately notified the Local Manager of the Northern Telephone Company, who upon investigating discovered the trouble was caused by a metal slug.

He immediately contacted the Chief of Police and told him of his findings. A quick check showed Boucher was registered at the hotel and a visit was paid to him in his room. There the Chief found a quantity of slugs of various sizes which in actual money would have amounted to $8.00.

At the Police Station when Boucher emptied his pockets a further $2.00 in slugs were found.
