

Celebrate Fifty Years of Marriage

Above Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jenkins display the top layer of their original wedding cake which Mrs. Jenkins thoughtfully put away fifty years ago. The happy couple recently celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary at their home with their three children. The Jenkins have lived in Haileybury ever since their wedding day in 1909.

Pioneer Couple Have Fiftieth Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jenkins, pioneers of Haileybury, celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary on June 21st at their home in Haileybury with a quiet family reunion. The happy couple had the top layer of their original wedding cake on display, thoughtfully put away by Mrs. Jenkins after their marriage in 1909 with this occasion in mind.

Mr. Jenkins came to this country in 1907 and first set his roots in New Liskeard, called Thornloe at that time. Two years later he met and married his wife Miss Grace Greer. In 1911 he moved to Haileybury and started work with the Queen City Oil Co. Two years later the Queen City Oil Co. premises were taken over by the Imperial Oil Co. and Mr. Jenkins went to work for them. From then until the time of his retirement in 1943 he worked with Imperial Oil in Haileybury, increasing their organization in Northern Ontario.

On hand to celebrate the Golden Anniversary were Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins' three children, H. R. Jenkins, Marmora; Dr. J. Jenkins, Gananoque; and Mrs. W. C. Campbell, Toronto.

The Greek warriors of Alexander (356 - 323 B.C.) wore tunics of sheep's wool and were astonished to find in India garments made from "wool which grows on trees." They had encountered the cotton poll.

New Minister At United Church

Reverend Charles E. Peacock, a former Chaplain of the Royal Navy and World War I veteran with an outstanding record of thirty-nine years in ministerial service has come to Haileybury to take over the duties in the United Church.

Mr. Peacock directed his first service in the Haileybury United Church last Sunday, he is continuing the work of Reverend J. W. Wilkinson, who has left to take charge of the large Lake of Bays district around Huntsville.

Born in Grimsby, England, Mr. Peacock first did engineering at Bridgend in Wales and served as a Methodist Local Preacher in England. Since coming to Canada in 1943, he has preached in the CPR division point of Mactier, near Parry Sound, Callander, and in the Lake of Bays Territory, where Mr. Wilkinson has been appointed to serve.

Bayfield, near Goderich, was Mr. Peacock's last charge, he says that he is looking forward to serving in Haileybury.

He is fond of the "high country", which reminds him of Wales, where he spent many years.

Previous to his commission in the Royal Navy, Mr. Peacock spent 16 years in Newfoundland, where he met his wife, the former Pearl Bugden of Epworth, Burin, Newfoundland. They have one daughter and two sons.

A daughter, Mrs. George (Myrtle) Lang who is nursing at the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto. A married son, Harold, is with the Ontario Pulp and Paper in Manitowage; while a single son, John, is manager of the Lakehead Flying School, Fort William.

Hayward - Lewis Committee Review Of Mining Laws

White candelabra and standards filled with white mums, snapdragon and gladioli graced the church at St. Michael and All Angels in Toronto for the wedding of Miss Ruth Irene Lewis and Mr. Stuart Reginald Hayward at which Dr. J. A. Watton officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lewis of Toronto and the groom is the son of Mrs. Arthur Hunton Moss of Cobalt, formerly of Haileybury.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of ivory crystallite, imported from Switzerland, and trimmed with French re-embroidered Alencon lace. The fitted bodice had a deep squared neckline appliqued with lace and seed pearls and featured long, lilly-pointed sleeves. The empire line skirt was enhanced with pearl-beaded appliques cascading down the left side. A double Watteau train fell in soft folds from the shoulders. A coronet of pearls and orange blossoms held her finger-tip veil of silk illusion and she carried a miniature corsage of stephanotis lily of the valley and gardenias with a sprig of heather from Scotland. She wore the groom's gift, a diamond and pearl pendant.

The maid of honor was Miss Margaret Ann Gemmell of Ottawa and attendants were, Miss Helen Austin, Toronto, Miss Anna Lou Little, Kirkland Lake and Miss Dorothy Balsden of Stratford. They were dressed alike in Oleg Cassini designed gowns of mist green featuring an empire line with belled skirt and panelled back. They wore matching headdress and carried cascades of pink, amethyst and yellow spring flowers.

Mr. Murray Hoghen was best man and the ushers were Mr. Stuart Little, Kitchener, Mr. Malcolm Gerner, Toronto and Mr. Howard Hodgkin of London.

The bride's mother received at "The Windsor Arms" wearing a dress of rose chantilly lace and tulle with matching flowered hat and accessories and a corsage of rose orchids. She was assisted by the mother of the groom who chose a sheath dress of beige lace featuring a large collar and a small matching hat and accessories and wearing a corsage of spray orchids.

The couple will reside in Toronto.

The special committee set up early this year to make a complete review of the laws of Ontario and other jurisdictions governing the use of public lands for mining and other purposes will hold its first hearings in Peterborough during the first week in September.

These will be followed by other hearings at Parry Sound, Haileybury, Kirkland Lake, Timmins, Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie, Port Arthur and Kenora. Final arrangements are now being made and dates for the hearings will be announced within the next few days.

Briefs will be presented by interested persons and organizations and they will be considered by the committee when it makes its recommendations for amendments to existing provincial statutes, with a view to attaining the best possible land use consistent with the development of the natural resources of the province. The committee also plans to hold consultations with officials of other provinces.

Under the chairmanship of J. Forbes McFarland, Ontario's mining commissioner, the committee is composed of Major-General Howard Kennedy, Vice-Chairman; H. C. Rickaby and Dr. M. E. Hurst representing the Department of Mines; J. S. Yoerger and F. W. Beatty of the Department of Lands and Forests; John Beattie, executive director of the Ontario Mining Association, and J. J. Rankin representing the Prospectors and Developers Association.
