From Kitchen Table To Swiss Alps

Lucerne, Switzerland,
July 26, 1959.

This is not "Across the Kitchen Table", it is "Across the Swiss Mountains", instead. Our trip has taken us first to Wales, where we were royally entertained by two Welsh Women's Institutes, Colwyn Bay and Wrexham, and visited a coal mine. Then on to England, to stay with Mrs. Hunt in Essex. We also went to the Golden Mile at Southend Lugh-on-Sea, where we went out to the end of the longest pier in the world, a mile and a quarter long. Our European tour started from Victoria Station, London, by train to Doner, boat to Ostend, Belgium and comfortable bus from there on. We travelled through several historical towns including Bruges and Ghent before arriving at Brussels. From there we went on to Holland, which we liked much better than Belgium. Holland fairly glistens, it is so clean (we even saw a woman washing the stable windows). You can hardly get across the streets for bicycles. There are over five million of them registered. They use them with carts attached to carry milk, hay, vegetables. In fact, we passed one man with a large platform on a cart on which were his wife, five kids and a dog, as well as several picnic baskets. The scenery in Germany is lovely, particularly along the Rhine. In the farming area, they practice strip farming and utilize every square inch of land. We are to stay in Lucerne until Tuesday afternoon when we start off for Paris. Mrs. Mac.

electrically

This is only ONE example of the economy you enjoy when you use electricity. In terms of electric energy, a cent will buy a lot—a lot of comfort, convenience, time-saving efficiency, and a lot of entertainment, too.

Here are three of the many bargains you can enjoy with just one cent's worth of electricity:*

- Wash two loads of clothes in an automatic washer
- Watch TV for 4½ hours
- Keep food fresh in an electric refrigerator for 17 hours

You get more out of life when you get the most out of electricity.
