

Despres - Davies

Decorated with autumn flowers, Holy Cross Church, Haileybury, was the setting for the marriage of Margaret Ida Davies and Leo Despres on Saturday morning, September 7, at eleven o'clock with Rev. L. Brunette officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Davies of Haileybury and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Despres of Cobalt.

The organist was Mrs. J. A. Joyal, who also accompanied Mrs. Cecile Veale, who sang the wedding hymns.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding a gown of white lace over peau de soie, the bodice fashioned with a bateau neckline dipping to a vee in the back where it was fastened with tiny buttons. Cut-out lace outlined the neck. The floor-length skirt was highlighted by a bouffant back panel. A pearl tiara held her fingertip all round veil. Her flowers were a cascade of Sunset roses.

Her attendants were Miss Sylvia Larabee as maid of honor, Miss Marie-Reine Covillon and her sister, Miss Rita Davies, as bridesmaids. They were gowned alike in red velvet, fashioned on princess lines with short sleeves and bateau necklines dipping to a vee in the back.

The skirts were street length, flaring from the waist. There head-dresses were matching velvet bandeaus and they carried bouquets of white 'mums.

The groom was attended by Leo Dugas. The bride's brother, Robert Davies and the groom's brother, John Despres, acted as ushers.

For her daughter's wedding and the reception which followed at the Golf Club, Mrs. Davies wore a frock of pale blue organza with matching hat and accessories. The groom's mother chose blue lace with blue hat. Both ladies wore corsages of red roses.

Later the young couple left for a wedding trip to Montreal, Toronto and other points, the bride travelling in a pale blue suit with matching hat and beige accessories. On their return they will make their home in Cobalt.

Guests from out-of-town, who attended the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Yelle, Mr. and Mrs. Henri Yelle, Mr. and Mrs. Romain Poulin, all of Lefaivre, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Derosier, Mr. and Mrs. F. Brydle, all of North Bay, Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Donnell, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Velleneuve of Timmins.

Sir:

It is claimed that people with certain income grow old gracefully and live longer than those who have to earn their bread.

But the income people have a stupid kind of life, and though they may hang on a good many years, they can hardly be said to do much real living. The best one can say is not that they lived so many years, but that it took them so many years to die.

Some people imagine that regular habits produce long life, but that depends somewhat on the habits. Only the other day I read an article written by a physician in which regular habits, good ones, were declared to be quite dangerous. Where life is perfectly regular, all the wear and tear comes on the same nerve, every blow falls on the same place. Variety even in bad direction is a great relief. But living long, has nothing to do with getting old gracefully.

If we could only keep from being annoyed at little things, it would add to the joy of living. Great sorrows are few, and after all do not effect us as much as the many almost nothings that attack us from every side. Many are bothered more with the dust than the mountains. It is a good thing to have an object in life, something to work for and think for. If a man pays starvation wages, thinks only of himself, and his comfort, his own importance, he will not grow old gracefully. More and more his spirit, small and mean, will leave its impression in his face and especially in his eyes.

You look at him and feel that there is no jewel in the casket, that a shriveled soul is living in a tumbled down house. If the business men would stop when they get enough, they might have a chance to grow old gracefully, but most of them go on and on grasping right and left until like the old bush horse stiff and lame they drop dead on the road.

Canada now ranks sixth in the world in manufacturing output and there are as many Canadians directly employed in manufacturing as in the combined industries of farming, forestry, fishing and construction.

When a mother needs a friend

At a time like this, the best friends a mother can have are a modern automatic electric washer and an electric clothes dryer.

They make short work of washing and drying—and they do it automatically. Just set the dials—no heavy lifting, no wet wash to carry—never a care about getting clothes dry for another day of play.

With a modern automatic electric washer and clothes dryer washing is easy—drying is certain—whatever the weather.

You get more out of life when you get the most out of electricity.
