Testing for TB

This simple tuberculin test—a tiny injection made just beneath the surface of the skin—will tell whether these children have been infected by the germs that cause tuberculosis. Tuberculin tests are among the many TB-fighting activities that Christmas Seal contributions help support.

I See by THE PAPERS

TORONTO — Canadians suffer from the worst disease in the world, spectatoritis, Joseph Connell, general secretary of the Kitchener-Waterloo branch of the YMCA, said recently.

He said at the annual York County warden's banquet that Canadians should participate more in recreational activities.

A mother had told him recently her son needed more exercise.

He quoted her as saying: "But we live nine blocks from the Y so do you think you could arrange a car pool to pick him up?"

NEW YORK — Five detectives living as undercover beatniks turned square and put the finger on 13 habitués of Greenwich Village.

The charge: Narcotics violations.

After a month of the Bohemian life — complete with beards, berets and jazzy poetry sessions — the detectives struck as part of a city-wide crackdown during the week-end.

Ninety-five persons were arrested in raids that reached into Brooklyn and Harlem as well as The Village.

Inspector Edward F. Carey put the value of confiscated heroin, cocaine and marijuana at $1,000,000 in the illegal market.

The masquerading detectives spent virtually all of their waking hours in beatnik haunts to gain the confidence of suspected addicts and pushers.

The undercover five cultivated beards, slouched about coffee houses in attitudes of despair, shuffled off to dances, jazz sessions and poetry readings.

Detective George Bermudez wrote off-beat poems and had one recited in a coffee shop.

At the police station, the real beatniks continued living it up. One turned over a waste can and began beating out bongo rhythms, while the others shuffled, chanted, and stamped their feet. Among those arrested was Bill Bailey, 46, identified by police as the brother of singer Pearl Bailey.

VANCOUVER — Pastel colors are even moving into Canadian waterfront buildings.

The annual meeting of the Canadian Port and Harbor Association here was told that bright, attractive colors can mean greater safety and improved work in harbors.

E. J. Alton, representing the National Harbors Board at the meeting, told delegates that work efficiency has increased considerably in Montreal harbor, where interior walls of warehouses have been painted aluminum instead of black or dark shades.

The new Centennial Pier in Vancouver has elevators painted in coral and "sea-mist green", and the Hooker Chemical Company is using bright, contrasting colors on its wharfs.

NEW YORK — Golfers, how about a 14-karat gold putter — price $1,475?

Tiffany and Company, New York jewelers, advertised the putters, but anyone who craves one is out of luck for the time being. They are all gone. The ad carried this postscript:

"This advertisement appears for the record only as the entire stock has been sold."

Tiffany said it is ordering more. The company declined to say how many have been sold.

The putters were advertised as "presentation" items but a company spokesman said some devil-may-care golfers reported they performed well on the greens.

OWEN SOUND — Chief, a collie dog, who walked the night beat for 15 years, died recently of old age.

Police Chief M. C. Moore said Chief "prevented more crime in this city than any two policemen."

The shaggy animal usually lay sprawled on the city hall steps or in the corridor leading to the police office during the day. He spent the night accompanying constables on foot patrols.

Chief Moore said the presence of Chief was especially helpful in the training of recruits. "Chief was a handy friend to have walking down a dark alley."

Nobody knows where Chief came from. He walked into the police department 15 years ago as a pup and defeated all attempts to get rid of him. A few years later he fought off another dog which tried the same thing.

BRANTFORD — Three Brantford hunters told of hiring a bulldozer to build eight miles of road through the bush to bring their 1,800 pounds of moose to Matachewan.

John Fawcett, Orley Ramey and Floyd Papple shot two moose, 950 and 875 pounds and paid a bulldozer operator $5 an hour to make

Miner Overcome By Carbon Monoxide

A New Liskeard man has recovered from a gassing received while working underground at the Langis Silver mine just east of New Liskeard.

Doug McNeil was working on the staging over the mucking machine when he became dizzy, and was taken out to the station by two other workers.

He was brought to the surface and given oxygen. A company spokesman said the gas was probably carbon monoxide.

"If the muck isn't soaked well enough with water, gases can be stirred up by the machine as it works on the pile," he said.

Haileybury Car Mixes With Grader

A car driven by John H. Armstrong of Haileybury was badly damaged last Wednesday when it skidded in loose gravel and smashed into a passing Standard Paving grader working south of Earleton.

No one was hurt, but the car received about $1,000 worth of damage. OPP Constable Glenn Wilberforce of the Haileybury detachment investigated.

a road for them to bring the carcasses out intact.

A bridge had to be built over a river, and a causeway over a creek.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. — Police Sgt. Rene Boutin and patrolman Gilbert Cabral got off to a bad start recently on the desk at New Bedford police headquarters.

First thing, the telephone rang and a New Bedford north end man reported the theft of his 1953 Mercury two-tone sedan.

Then the phone rang again and a New Bedford north end man reported the theft of his 1953 Mercury two-tone sedan.

The phone rang again and a New Bedford north end man reported the theft of, yes, his 1953 Mercury two-tone sedan.

The policemen rechecked just to be sure they weren't getting a report on the same theft from different people. They found the reports were OK. The three same-type cars belonged to Arthur Caissey, Joseph Barboza and Anthony Mulroy.

Boutin and Cabral said that after a few more headache pills they'd be all right.

OTTAWA — The Victorian Order of Nurses is beginning to spend more time with newborn babies and maternity cases and less with old people and chronic cases.

Christine Livingstone, retiring VON director-in-chief, reported this reversal of a previous trend to senior VON officials meeting here.

Miss Livingstone said part of the reason is a growing use of oral medications.

But the new trend was just beginning. "Long term chronic illness still accounts for a major part of our nursing services."

North America is in danger of becoming "an efficient ant colony," Dr. Alexander Laidlaw, national secretary of the Co-operative Union of Canada, said in an address.

He warned Canadians to guard against becoming a country of "dull conformists".

He also said the Canadian home is becoming a "sterile place, with all vital activities removed from it, including recreation."

He warned of an "ever-present menace of Mediocrity" in Canadian society. "We are victims of a strange attitude in Canada that is satisfied with some vague average performance far below what we could be doing."

YOKOHAMA, Japan — Here's one way to discourage drunks. Police at one station here make drunks listen the next morning to a tape recording of the babbling they do after they are hauled in. Worse than a fine, some say.
