Across the Kitchen Table

By MRS. MAC

Do you realize that after this issue of the Haileyburian, there will only be five more before Christmas? It just doesn't seem possible but I guess what happened with me was that I lost two months this summer and haven't made them up yet. Well even if I am a bit behind hand, I have priceless memories of those two months. And I have also eight of my Christmas gifts ready to wrap, that I brought home with me, too.

I have plans made for my Christmas decorations, my husband has the forms made for the wreaths and Christmas trees we are to use outside and my Christmas cards are all ordered. I will have a goodly number of new names on my Christmas card list this year, of the friends I made while overseas. I have already received several cards, including one from Oslo, Norway one from Lancashire, England, and one from Bonnie Scotland.

I've got my Christmas cake baked, too, Gosh, who said I was behind in my preparations? I am not, I'm farther ahead than usual!

Right now I am in the throes of re-doing my bedroom. I painted the floor, then the woodwork looked dingy and dreary, so I did it. With the floor and the woodwork done the walls looked like the very mischief, so now I'm painting the walls! The floor and woodwork are pale grey, the walls pale pink and the ceiling is papered in a small pink rose design on white. I'm going to like it if I ever get it done!

Wouldn't it be nice if we could have a safe and sane Christmas this year, with the real meaning brought back to it? If everyone just gave gifts that they could afford and pay for as they got them instead of having an aftermath of debts to pay in the new year? If people lost the idea that they must drink "because it's Christmas"? If, in short, we would take the time to be thankful for that miraculous happening in Bethlehem so many years ago and celebrate it reverently instead of commercially?

Women's Institute Plans Xmas Party

Ten members and two visitors were present for the November meeting of the Haileybury Women's Institute, held in the Legion Hall. The president, Mrs. Sadler was in the chair.

Plans were made to hold a Christmas party for the children on Dec. 10, with Mrs. R. Sauve as convener. The Institute will buy candy, apples and oranges and the parents will provide gifts.

The party for the members will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Campbell on November 25 and will take the form of a potluck supper. Mrs. Fran Cooke and Mrs. R. Sauve were appointed as the entertainment conveners for it.

The roll call, "name a tree and it's product" proved interesting and brought some good replies.

Following the business session Mrs. J. H. McDonald of New Liskeard showed slides of her trip through the British Isles and the continent, commenting on each as she showed it.

Lunch was served by Mrs. J. Fleming, Mrs. I. McNaught, Mrs. E. Campbell, and Mrs. S. MacIntyre.

News from the Evelyn Shoppe

Evelyn has just returned from a buying trip and her selection of party dresses is amazingly beautiful. The colors range from pastels to jewel tones, the sizes are from regular and half size to the petite junior miss. The materials include lace, which, by the way, is very much in the fashion news this year, beautiful brocades and rich velvets as well as taffetas and crepes. Prices are attractive, too, from $16.95 up.

One lovely dress of velvet is in a warm glowing shade of claret, Martinized, (which means it won't mark) with long, tight sleeves and a beautiful square neckline. As an extra dividend, there are two belts, a plain narrow one and the other, for more dressy occasions, is wider and sparkles with three rows of rhinestones.

Another in palest green brocade with sheath skirt, has tiny sleeves and a smartly draped collar. Still another in the new tone brocade in shades of violet, is accented by a cummerbund of plain amethyst with soft bow.

As well as party dresses Evelyn has a good selection of lovely wools in all wanted shades and sizes.

Come in and see the new flower petal cocktail hats in all colors. Very, very new and smart.
