

Two Cars And A Truck Plus Eight Bullets To Kill Tough Old Moose

Moose in the Temagami area seem to be tough to kill, even if they haven't any regard for the highway code.

Last week an old bull charged into the side of a northbound car about seven miles south of Temagami on Highway 11. It bounced off the car, and was then struck by the rear of a tractor trailer that swerved to avoid it.

When police arrived they found the moose still standing up surrounded by curious tourists. The OPP had just got the tourists out of the danger area, when a little German car came up the highway and hit the moose again.

The moose ended up on top of the car, but the occupants escaped injury. Damage to the car was estimated at about $800. The police decided they had to put the badly injured moose out of its misery before it caused another accident or wandered into the bush.

It took eight shots fired at point blank range into the animal's head before it dropped dead.
