Copper Find

James McGale, well-known prospector, reports an important mineral find in Tudhope Township, near Elk Lake.

In a letter to the Speaker, the prospector said that the bulk of the mineral find is in copper in a basic porphyry, classified as disseminated.

The formation is very large, similar to types that have been blocked out in the United States. According to the staker the Tudhope rocks should be good as they are in the Cobalt series, and considerable silver has been found in the Tudhope property.

Implement Building Struck By Lightning

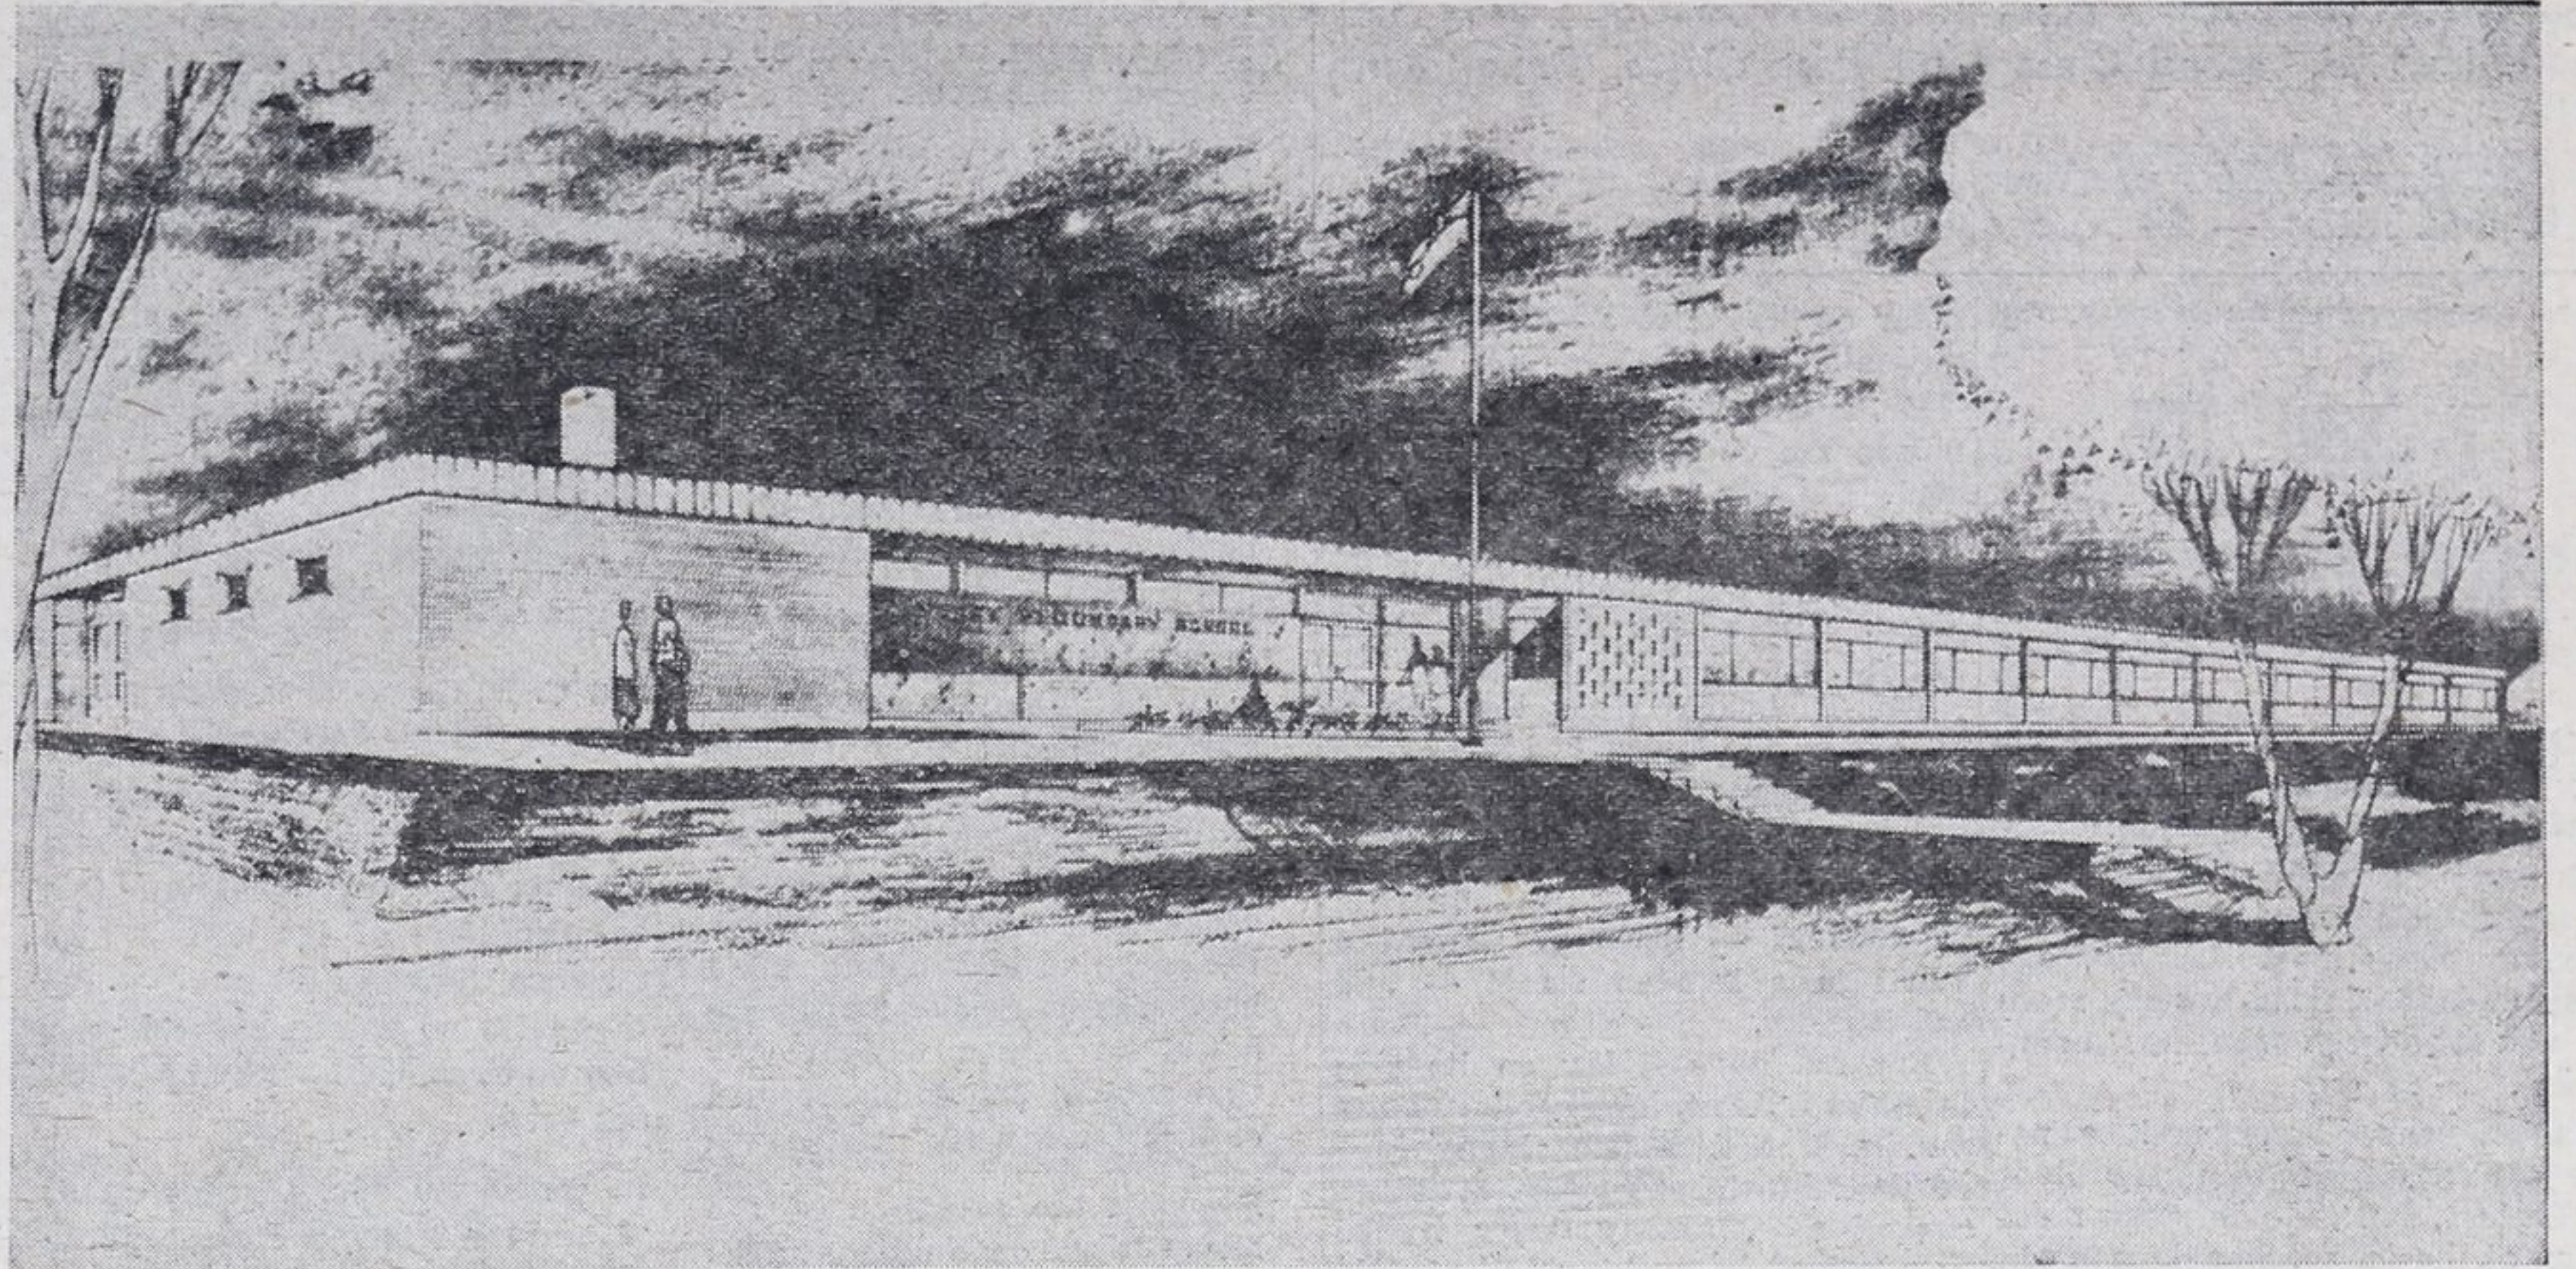

New Liskeard firemen fought a stubborn blaze at Labonte Seed Mill last Friday, and required masks before they could move hoses through heavy smoke to reach the source of the fire.

Fire started when the big quonset type implement building was struck by lightning during a heavy thunderstorm, and fire and smoke worked through the walls of the building into a loft filled with grease-loaded machine parts stored in cartons.

Machinery and equipment were moved from the main part of the building by mill staff and private citizens.

Seventeen firemen under Chief Les Stewart fought the blaze for more than an hour. Chief Stewart thought that a lightning bolt that struck the south-west side of the building had ignited tarpaper insulation which fed the fire to supporting rafters, floors and oil-soaked cartons.

The large seed mill and offices of the company were never threatened by the fire. No estimate of the damage has been released.

Tenders for the new Haileybury High School will be called this fall. Above is an architect's drawing of the fine modern structure being built to take care of Haileybury's growing student body.

Northland Chamber of Commerce Attack Choice of Bypass Route

Northland Chambers of Commerce, an association of Tri-Town, Temagami, Elk Lake, and Ville Marie Chambers have started on a remoulding job for the area, designed to get action from the Ontario Government and offering inducements to a firm in far-off Germany.

The Northland Chambers have forwarded letters to Premier Leslie Frost, asking that the route for the Tri-Town by-pass be changed to bring it closer to Cobalt and Haileybury.

Present plans call for the by-pass to swing around Cobalt and Haileybury from eight to five miles away. Liskeard will be within half a mile of the new road. New Liskeard Chamber is happy with its position regarding the by-pass, but has indicated that it will support Haileybury and Cobalt for a change in the route. In the meantime the department has bought property for the planned change, and work will start in 1961.

The other big project of the Northland Chambers, is to induce Krupp of Germany to build their proposed plant here.

This enterprise received its start from Haileybury's Mayor Art Cooke and Klaas Sroka, District Town businessman.

The pair phoned trans-Atlantic to Dr. W. Sroka, father of the local garageman, and supplied him with material outlining the facilities for industry available in this area. Separate briefs are being prepared by New Liskeard, Haileybury and Cobalt Chambers. Currently the Krupp firm is investigating Whitby, Ontario, as a location for the plant.

Liberals and PC's Chose Candidates

The Temiskaming Provincial Progressive Conservative Association will hold its nominating convention in New Liskeard on Wednesday, August 24.

Members of the Association's executive said that the meeting will be held in the New Liskeard Community Hall. The convention will be held to choose a candidate in the election to fill the seat vacat-

District Pioneers Hold Annual Picnic

From New Liskeard and the surrounding area, from Haileybury, North Cobalt, Cobalt, Thornloe, Hanbury, Kenabeek, Hilliardton, Englehart, Elk Lake, North Bay, Orillia, Toronto, St. Catharines and Ostrander, pioneers of Temiskaming gathered at New Liskeard Beach, Wednesday afternoon, August 10, for the annual Pioneers' Picnic.

Instigated by tiny, white-haired Mrs. Neil McFayden, about fifteen years ago, this picnic has provided an opportunity for old-timers to meet, to talk over the "early days", and be briefed on what their friends are doing now.

Among those from a distance who came back to renew old friendships were Misses Frances and Christene England of Toronto, who first came north in 1902; also from Toronto, Mrs. S. C. Macdonald, 1909; and Mrs. Irene Halsey, 1910; Alfred Munshaw, Orillia, 1898; George Males, North Bay, 1902; Ben Coles, St. Catharines, 1902; and Mrs. Wilnot Reed, Ostrander, 1900.

Other local citizens who arrived in the north in 1900 or earlier include William Goddard, 1900; Thomas Waugh, 1887; William Pringle, the north's first photographer, 1900; Mrs. T. C. Grills and Miss Irene Grills, 1897; Charles McRoberts, 1896; Arthur Fisher, 1899; Allie Bateson, 1890; Mrs. Olive Hilts, 1896; Mrs. Frank Jelly, 1900; Gordon Males, 1896, all of New Liskeard; Mrs. H. McGill, Hilliardton, 1900; Charles Tasse, Cobalt, 1882; Mr. and Mrs. Len Nickle, Hanbury, 1899; Mrs. Neil McFayden, New Liskeard, 1897.

During the afternoon, W. C. Peters, president of the Pioneer Association, spoke briefly, welcoming those present and expressing regret that there were some pioneers who were unable to attend. He then asked that all stand for a minute's silence in memory of those who had passed on during the last year.

Mr. M. F. Cook, agricultural representative, in commenting on the presence of so many pioneers, said that as he had only arrived in New Liskeard in the early 1930's, he could not claim to be a pioneer, but had thoroughly enjoyed his associations with them. Mr. Cook then assisted Mr. Peters in distributing prizes. Mrs. Neil McFayden, ninety-three years of age, received the prize for the oldest lady, and Mr. Charles Tasse, Cobalt, ninety-six, was the oldest gentleman; Mr. and Mrs. George Krick won the prize for the couple with the greatest number of years of married life. Mr. and Mrs. Krick have been married for fifty-two years.

Mrs. S. C. Macdonald of Toronto was the oldest lady visitor and Wilnot Reed of Ostrander, the oldest gentleman visitor.

Driver Hurt

George Card, a resident of New Liskeard, is in the local hospital being treated for injuries received in a car accident last week.

Mr. Card suffered a broken hip, three fractured ribs and other minor injuries when his car failed to make a sharp curve on Highway 65, eight miles west of town.

Municipal Seminar For Tri-town Area

A tentative date of Sept. 12 to 16 has been set for a municipal seminar on industry, the first of its kind in the Temiskaming district.

Tentative site for the five-day panel discussion is Haileybury. The seminar results from a suggestion made at an ONR commission meeting in Haileybury by Planning minister Nickle.

The mayors of Cobalt, Haileybury and New Liskeard as well as Bucke Township officials have been notified concerning the scheme.

Robert Miller, Cobalt councillor and high school principal who is attending a summer course in Toronto had two meetings with department heads.

Mayor William Barr said Friday the Northeastern Ontario Development Association of which he is president is behind the venture and was responsible for setting up a similar successful seminar at Timmins recently. He said the towns industrial committee is also in favour of the idea and an effort is being made to interest municipal officials, Chamber of Commerce members and the citizenry to attend.

The discussions will brief delegates on methods of attracting industry and handling prospective industrialists.

District Liberal Association Ready for Bye-election Fight

At a special meeting of the Temiskaming Liberal Association held at the Bye-Election Campaign Headquarters in New Liskeard, the executive appointed committee heads for three-cornered fight for the Temiskaming seat in the Provincial Legislature.

The nomination committee is headed by Al Kenyon, credential committee, Paul O'Reilly and the convention committee, Mrs. John Damiani of Cobalt.

Assisting with the meeting was Ernie Savard, who was campaign manager for Elmer Sopha, who made a successful bid for the provincial seat in Sudbury.

Mr. Savard spoke of the important aspects of party work which lies immediately ahead, and which must have co-ordination of the biggest order.

He referred to public opinion polls, indicating unmistakable and continuing decline of popular support for John Diefenbaker and Leslie Frost, and which also show a corresponding rise in strength of the Liberal Party.

"Considering the kind of government the Canadian people have been getting, it would be strange if the public polls did not show a changing balance in political attitudes of the people federally and provincially," he said.

Mr. Savard also said that "Indifferent government is not the only factor bringing these changes. Our leaders, Mr. Pearson and Mr. Wintermeyer have had a great deal to do in bringing them about?

"Their leadership in the House of Commons and in the provincial legislature, the work of the Liberal opposition, their relentless tours across the country and their public appearances have registered with the people."

"We in Ontario started this tide of change, in last year's provincial election by doubling our representation," said Mr. Savard, "and this was followed by the wonderful news of Liberal victories in Quebec and New Brunswick."

"We must now move with more vigor to back up these successes by every possible means," he concluded.
