Cobalt District Rescue Teams Out of Finals

The team representing the Nordic Uranium Mine of Rio Algom Mines Limited at Elliot Lake has been declared this year's winner of the annual province-wide Mine Rescue Competition. The announcement was made today by Honourable James A. Maloney, Ontario's Minister of Mines.

Second-place winner was the team representing Geco Mines, and the Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines placed third. Other finalists represented Bicroft Uranium Mines, Falconbridge Nickel Mines, Macassa Gold Mines and Dickenson Mines. These were the winners of the seven district competitions held earlier.

Altogether, 44 teams throughout the province took part in the competition, although the five teams in the Cobalt inspection district were not eligible to compete in the provincial final because these teams use a different type of breathing apparatus.

In the competition, identical problems are set for all the teams who must meet them in similar simulated emergency conditions. The judges in the final competition were R. L. Smith, the Assistant Chief Engineer of Mines; G. G. McPhail, the Inspector of Mine Rescue Training; and R. E. Murray, the District Inspector stationed at Kenora.

The Mine Safety Appliances Trophy will be presented to the Nordic team in the near future.

The passing of an old timer of Haileybury occurred on June 30, 1961.

Tracy Ross had made his home in Haileybury for the past 45 years.

He was in his 78th year. Interment was in the Haileybury Cemetery. Pall-bearers were Jack Halworth, Hugh Armstrong, Leighton Maltby, Henry Adams, Jim Campbell and Jack Belbeck.

Surviving are his wife Lillian and sister May Storie, one son Garnet of Haileybury, (Eleanor) Mrs. James Sheldon, Larder Lake, (Bess) Mrs. Ovila Leveille of Haileybury, (Lois) Mrs. Ted Brown, North Cobalt, also nine grandchildren.

Mr. Ross will be sadly missed by all who knew him.

Your Red Cross reminds fishermen that it's cheaper to lose that lure snagged on the bottom than lose your life trying to retrieve it and ignoring water safety rules.

Never leave a swimming or wading area unsupervised when there are young children around. Drownings can occur swiftly and in very shallow water.
