The Ontario Whole Milk Producers League (the 30-year-old organization representing and negotiating for producers of fluid milk) has moved into high gear after being accused by some — including this column — of dragging its heels on suggestions to develop an over-all milk marketing plan for the province. President Bill Peters announced last Friday they were moving ahead as quickly as possible with plans to seek status as a marketing board and to develop a plan for marketing fluid milk. This was one of the prime recommendations of the study group of three economists made public last winter and one of the first of twelve basic principles laid down by the coordinating board for the establishment of any over-all milk marketing plan.

Apparently the last directors meeting of the league passed a resolution asking the executive to proceed with plans to become a marketing board and also — this is important — to co-operate to the utmost with the cream, cheese and concentrated producers marketing boards in order to develop the over-all plan. It has been suggested that the other groups go it on their own if the fluid producers didn't want to join. There is still some feeling in some of the other groups that they should but perhaps this public indication that fluid milk shippers are taking action and will counteract it.

The first step the league is taking is to circulate a petition (as required by law) to its members requesting a plebiscite some time in the future on a milk marketing plan. Now don't confuse this with a probable subsequent petition to all milk producers — this is just for fluid shippers so that the league may achieve a similar legal status to the other three groups as a marketing board. If the petition receives support by 15 per cent of the almost 12,000 fluid milk shippers, it will be presented to the Milk Industry Board (probably along with a suggested marketing plan) and then, there will be a vote of all producers on the proposed marketing plan for the league. That must come — ac-ording to present recommendations and suggestions — before any petition or vote on an over-all plan.

All in all, it looks as though the dairy industry is going to replace the hog industry as the No. 1 topic of discussion in Ontario in 1961. Incidentally, nothing controversial has come out of hog headquarters since the new marketing board and the new executive took over last spring. That coincided with the retirement of Charlie McInnis from the hog picture to devote his energies to FAME.

Anglican Church On Bear Island Marks 50 Years

St. George's Anglican Church on Bear Island, Temagami Lake, marked its 50th anniversary Sunday. Most Rev. W. L. Wright, D.D., DCL., Archbishop of Algoma and Metropolitan of Ontario, officiated at the ceremony.

He also dedicated a stained glass window in the chancel in memory of Margaret E. Dinsmore, an American tourist. A plaque was also dedicated by the Archbishop.

The plaque reads: "To the glory of God and in thanksgiving for 50 years of worship in St. George's Church, 1911-1961, and in appreciation for the dedicated leadership of Olive Lanoie."

Mrs. Lanoie and her husband have been residents of Bear Island for the past 30 years.

Archbishop Wright was assisted in the evensong service by Canon F. W. Colloton, St. Luke's Cathedral, Sault Ste. Marie; Rev. David Smith, Cobalt; Rev. Roy Nixon, Haileybury; and T. J. Davidson of North Bay, student minister.

Found later in his home by his brother, he was unconscious and still in his ball uniform. He was rushed to hospital where emergency surgery was performed.

Employees of Ontario Hydro, where his father is employed, operated a hand-cranked inhalator to assist the youth's breathing in the unsuccessful fight to save his life.

As well as being a standout participant in Holy Name hockey and baseball teams, Gary only recently had graduated from North Bay Teachers College and was to teach school in Kirkland Lake this fall.

Swimming Lessons

One hundred and seventy-five children are enrolled for the swimming lessons at the Beach. During the forenoon, from 9:30 to noon, instruction is given to beginners, juniors and intermediates.

Senior swimmers are instructed in the afternoon. In this class there are five attending. Pat Lemay, Judy Kirk, Dianne Rudd, Anne Olson and Pat Culhane.

Next week, classes will begin for the Bronze Medal swimmers.
