

Across the Kitchen Table

BY MRS. MAC

Our monthly patches are being applied to the street at the corner of Main and Ferguson again today. I'm sure those men could fill every hole with their eyes shut, by now.

Fall Fairs in this area are now over and officials and exhibitors alike have drawn a long breath of satisfaction over a job well done. I spent the week-end, with my aunt and Mrs. Cameron, at my daughter's home. She too was an exhibitor in the metal craft classes at the Englehart Fair, and out of seven entries got six firsts and one second. The judges were very good to me — out of thirty-eight entries, they gave me nineteen firsts, fifteen seconds and one third. And best of all, I have many of my Christmas presents ready, as well as numerous articles for the two bazaars I have to contribute to.

When we were coming home on Sunday we came around by Tomstown and Hilliardton, and found the road much better than the highway that is under construction from Earlton to Englehart. Friday I helped judge the exhibits at the School Fair at Milberta, in the new Central school just built there. It is a beautiful school with tiled floors and the walls painted in soft colors instead of those horrid dark browns and greens that always used to be plastered over schoolroom walls and floors. Even the black boards are in a soft shade of green that does not glare and reflect the light. No wonder Mr. Napper's eyes shine when he talks about it.

But ah, me! Why was I born so soon? What a joy it would be to go to school now, with central heating instead of a huge box stove that blistered your front while your back froze; when you walked two miles over an unsnow-ploughed road or on a bush trail through swarms of mosquitos and black flies twice a day. Gosh, today's kids are lucky! And they

Even the animal world is all excited these days over the man-made fur fabrics. They really thought they were being invaded by a new species, when they saw these beautiful coats. However, the wise old beaver pointed out that it was a wonderful new fur fabric and when it had fooled them, it must be really good. There was then great rejoicing all over animal land as they realized that they would be left to enjoy life a lot longer. Well, we are not trying to fool YOU, but you will be delighted with all the fur fabric jackets and coats in three-quarter and full length, at the Evelyn Shoppe. Your eyes will glow when you see the quality and low prices, and you will get lightness with warmth too, as they are all millium lined. They come in imitation Persian lamb, mink, beaver and a very fashionable American black broadtail. You must see these handsome coats to appreciate them.

Long black and mink tone French kid gloves are in, to wear with our shorter length suit and coat sleeves. Kid is again high in fashion and we also have eight button length in suede in black and emerald. Shorter gloves of kid in white, bone, various brown tones, grey, red and black, the finest of calf and antelope bags and Liberty silk scarves to complete your costume.

We are pleased to announce that Miss Claudette Sauve of Haileybury was the winner of the $15.00 Gift Certificate drawn last week.

don't appreciate their school buses half as much as we appreciated our dads driving us to school on a stormy day.

The Bible To-day

Among the illustrious names of Canadian men and women, the old province of Canada, which we know as the Maritime Provinces, has provided no inconsiderable list.

An important event in the history of the Maritimes was the formation of a Bible Society in 1818 which now, as part of the Canadian Bible Society, under the distinguished presidency of Mr. Harvey R. Doane, C.A., aids greatly in the distribution of the Scriptures.

Two men, a century apart, distinguished themselves in the field of translation.

In 1853, the Rev. Silas Round translated some portions of the New Testament into the Micmac language for the Indians of Nova Scotia.

In 1953, a native New Brunswick, and graduate of Acadia University, Wolfville, N.S., Rev. Perry B. Allaby, began the translation of the Acts into the Sora tongue. This is the language of a tribe living about half-way between Madras and Calcutta in India, where Mr. Allaby served under the Canadian Baptist Mission Board. Mr. Allaby's work was a continuation of a translation of the Gospel of John and the Book of Proverbs by Miss Ann Munroe, a missionary from Fort William.

Mr. Allaby's wife, the former Edith McNaughton of Grand Manan Island, N.B. produced 500 mimeographed copies of the Acts from stencils written in longhand. Matthew, Luke, Romans, I and II Corinthians were produced on a typewriter modified to write the special symbols of the Sora tongue, and copies were mimeographed.

While on furlough in Nova Scotia in 1960, Mr. Allaby completed the New Testament translation which after approval by the Indian Translations Committee, was published by the British and Foreign Bible Society. So another Christian link between the old and the new world has been forged.

Strong H and S Group Planned for N. Cobalt

The regular monthly meeting of the North Cobalt Home and School Association was held on Tuesday, September 12th in the Public School Auditorium, with the president, L. S. Lafoy, in the chair.

Mrs. M. J. Dwyer led in the reading of the Home and School Prayer, followed by the Code of Ethics led by Principal C. Hawn. Roll call was taken with 16 parents present, and four new members joining.

The banner and check were presented to Principal C. Hawn by Program Chairman Mrs. Nora Perry, for having the most parents present.

A buzz session was the highlight of the evening with the main group breaking into several smaller groups and each having an appointed Recorder for individual group discussion.

Each question was read out, a three minute time period allowed for individual group discussion, with each group then answering question through a recorder.

Number one on the agenda was under the direction of the Membership Committee, the recording of the names and phone numbers and nationality of all present for the Records, these records to be used during the year to assist the Membership committee.

Question No 1: How would you promote membership in our club?
Question No 2: How would you acquire new members for our club?

The answers received showed a very good effort by all the individual groups, some excellent ideas received to assist the club to increase its membership during the year.

The first answer received for Question No. 2 will be put into effect for the October meeting. Quote—All members who fail to bring a new potential member with them as a guest will be forced to pay a 25 cent penalty.

Question No. 3: What is the purpose of a Home and School Association?

The answers received were very good. The phrase from the Home and School Guide Book reads as follows — The common purpose of Home and School Association is to deal intelligently with the childhood of the nation, to discover the causes of inability and delinquency and to remove outstanding handicaps by creating constructional opportunities for health and happiness in the home, in the school, in the church and in the community.

WHAT'S THE "INSTALMENT PLAN" WAY TO SAVE FOR EDUCATION?

It's called Personal Security Program, or PSP—exclusive with The Bank of Nova Scotia. PSP is the "instalment plan" way to save for any project needing long-range planning and organized saving. Here's how it works: you select a goal (from $100 to $2,500) which you reach in 50 equal payments. As you save, you're life-insured for the full amount of your goal—it's a protected savings plan. When you reach your goal, you collect all you've saved, plus a cash bonus. PSP is the ideal way to make sure your most important plans are realized. Ask about PSP at your nearest Scotiabank branch.
