New Roofline For 1962 Oldsmobile

OSHAWA, Ont.—A hardtop with a roofline styling practically identical to that of a convertible, and new engineering features designed to cut lubrication and maintenance costs highlight details of Oldsmobile for 1962, announced here today by General Motors of Canada.

Among the engineering refinements that will cut servicing costs are:

—Replacement of all open-end lubrication fittings by factory-sealed units and revision of generator and distributor lubrication points to eliminate the need for periodic lubrication under normal operating conditions.

—A self-adjusting power braking system which automatically compensates for brake lining wear by adjusting the clearance between lining and drum, eliminating the need for periodic brake adjustments.

The Oldsmobile's over-all length has been increased by nearly two inches. Wheelbases of the three series remain the same — 123" on the 88 series; 126" on the 98. Oldsmobile offers 17 body styles in three series — Dynamic 88, Super 88 and 98. Fifteen exterior colors are available.

In addition, improved performance and increased fuel economy result from Oldsmobile's new combustion chamber and higher (10.25 to 1) compression ratios in Ricket and Skyrocket engines, as well as lowered rear axle gear ratios.

The 280-horsepower Rocket engine is designed to deliver better mileage on premium-grade gasolines. (A 260-horsepower Rocket engine with an 8.75 to 1 compression ratio is available for regular-grade gasoline use.)

Maximum brake horsepower of the Skyrocket engine with four-barrel carburetor has been increased to 330. This engine is standard on the Super 88 and 98.

Diameter of the steering wheel on Oldsmobiles equipped with power steering has been reduced by one inch. This provides improved driving comfort and easier entry and exit for the driver. The steering wheel has also been raised for increased clearance between the wheel and front seat.

General Motors also announced that for the first time two soft-top models — the Sports Convertible and Cutlass Convertible — are being offered in the F-85 range of smaller-sized Oldsmobiles. A hardtop version of the powerful convertible Starfire, introduced in the regular line of Oldsmobiles last season, is also available in the 1962's.

The F-85 this year is available in nine models — the two convertibles; a four-door sedan; a four-door, two-seat station wagon; a four-door, three-seat station wagon and a club coupe; a deluxe four-door sedan; a deluxe four-door, two-seat station wagon and Cutlass Sports Coupe. Fifteen Magic-Mirror exterior colors — including a new Chariot Red — are available.

Two engines — the standard 155-horsepower aluminum Rockette and the optional four-barrel carburetor 185-horsepower Cutlass — are offered by F-85. A new, smoother 3-speed synchromesh transmission is standard. Roto-matic power steering is also available as an extra-cost option.

Styling changes in the F-85 include a completely restyled front end with new hood, grille and headlamp housings. As well, the F-85 has a restyled rear section with twin tail lamps mounted on each side.

In his younger days the great Puritan writer, John Milton, kept a small boarding school in his home near London where he educated his nephews and the sons of some of his friends. Around this time, the newly unhappily married poet was writing numerous pamphlets and they included some in favour of divorce! It was not until much later in life that Milton (by now more happily married) wrote "Paradise Lost" and "Paradise Regained".

Lieut.-Governor

Mr. Mackay mentioned meeting Reeve W. Martin of Coelman. "He is 92 years old and still has youth in his heart . . . I wish him a glorious eventide." He also mentioned Art Moss of Cobalt, with whom he served at the Somme in the First World War.

After the banquet, Mr. Mackay went to the new Public School in New Liskeard, which he officially opened. He was shown around the school by Board Chairman Ernie Cosman.

From New Liskeard the party went to Earlton, where the Lieutenant-Governor was greeted by Mayor J. Brule. They then returned to New Liskeard, and proceeded north to Englehart by private car on the ONR.

At Englehart the party was entertained at a dinner party by Mayor Ruby Bryan, and later the Lieutenant-Governor opened the Englehart Public Library.
