

Trustee conflict of interest hearings

Five Halton school board trustees, including Ethel Gardiner of Georgetown will be in a Milton court Nov. 14 to answer allegations that they breached Conflict of Interest legislation.

The complaint filed by the Taxpayer Coalition Burlington Inc., saying that they should have declared conflicts and not voted on the Board's $272-million budget last year.

On legal advice, Gardiner declared a conflict on the salary and compensation section of the budget and then voted on the whole budget at the end of the debate.

Pool costs

Halton school board trustees went behind closed doors but did not debate a motion from Burlington trustee Joe Pavelka to have the Board continue with the operation and maintenance of swimming pools, at a cost of $160,000, while negotiations continue between the Board and municipalities on operating costs.

Although there was some closed-door discussion on the motion, it was not voted on and remains on the table.

Developer's burn pit moved

Tribute Home's construction material burn pit has been moved further way from existing homes and a park on Argyll Road between Watson Road and Harley Road following complaints from area residents that their homes fill with smoke when the wind shifts.

REGIONAL MUNICIPALITY OF HALTON

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC INFORMATION SESSION FOR URBAN AND RURAL SERVICING GUIDELINES AND HIGHWAY DEDICATION GUIDELINES

The regional Municipality of Halton is seeking public comment on two new Draft Guidelines concerning the "servicing" of new development in Halton. These new Draft Guidelines have been developed in accordance with policies of Halton's new Regional Official Plan and are intended for use when considering the approval of new planning applications.

Halton's Draft "Urban and Rural Servicing Guidelines" primarily deals with the exemption of certain classes of Urban Area properties from the need for full municipal water and wastewater services. It also deals with the Regional Health Department requirements for the Private Supply of Water (Private Wells) and the Private Disposal of Sewage (Septic Tanks and Tile Fields) in Halton's Urban and Rural Areas.

Halton's Draft "Highway Dedication Guidelines" primarily deals with the exemption of certain development proposals in certain locations, e.g. Hamlets, from the need to dedicate lands for road widening purposes or to provide such dedication different from that which is specified in the Regional Official Plan.

Public Information Sessions on both Draft Guidelines will be held on:

1. Tuesday October 8th 1996 at 4:00 pm to 8:00 pm in the (North) Auditorium of the Halton Region Administration Centre 1151 Bronte Road, Oakville; and
2. Thursday October 10th 1996 at 4:00 pm to 8:00 pm in the Hugh Foster Hall, Victoria Park Square, King Street, Town of Milton (Municipal Offices).

Copies of the new Draft Guidelines will be available at the Public Information Sessions or can be obtained from the Regional Municipality of Halton Planning and Public Works Department, 1151 Bronte Road, Oakville, or by calling Ms. Kathy Kiehl at Ext. 7200 at:

825-6161 (Burlington, Oakville, Milton residents)
639-4540 (Aldershot residents)
878-8113 (Georgetown residents)
853-0501 (Acton residents)

I'M TOO SEXY! Throngs gathered Friday night to watch the annual fashion show at Georgetown Marketplace, hosted by Marilyn Denis of City-TV and CHUM FM. Over 60 businesses in the mall participated in the show, featuring items for both youths and adults, formal and casual. (Jamie Harrison photo)
