The prolonged penness of the winter weather. and the absence of good sleighing. s no doubt the principal cause of he duliness in the local trade. Sti there must be other causes which combinu to create such universal stagnation throughout the whole continent, for we in Canada are by remedy, are abstract mestions in the Legislature last week, for which we do not now propose to discuss. We all know that the stagnation prevails, and if we could lis to be made before one of the only be brought to realize the fact fullges for permission to renew the that we are all of us more or less polition. responsible for lit, the remedy might not be far to seek. One the most fruitful causes of uneasiness amongst the business classes. is the difficulty they experience in securing proupt settlement of their outstanding accounts. The farmer complains of his inability to market Himent-in person since the death his produce, and excuses himself for neglecting to pay his bills, on account of the bad state of the roads.
