The Conscience and Future Judgment I sat alone with my conscience,

In a place where time had ceased. And we talked of my former living In the land where the years increased, And I felt I should have to answer The question it put to me, And to face the answer and question

Throughout an eternity. The ghosts of forgotten actions Came floating before my sight, And things that I thought were dead Were alive with a terrible might, and the vision of all my past life

Was an awful thing to face-Alone with my conscience sitting In that solemnly silent place. And I thought of a far-away warning, Of a sorrow that was to be mine, In a land that then was the future, But now is the present time.

And I thought of my former thinking Of the judgment day to be, But sitting alone with my conscience Seemed judgment enough for me, And I wondered if there was a future To this land beyond the grave; But no one gave me an answer,

And no one came to save. Then I felt that the future was present. And that the present would never go by

And I knew the far-away warning Was a warning of yesterday.—
And I pray that I may not forget it,
In this land before the grave, That I may not cry in the future, And no one come to save. -And so I have learnt a lesson '

Which I ought to have known before, And which, though I learnt it dreaming, I hope to forget no more. . So I sit alone with my conscience In the place where the years increase. And I try to remember the future In the land where time will cease,

And I know of the future judgment, How dreadful soe'er it bo. That to sit alone with my conscience Will be judgment enough for me.
