

FOR EVERY MONTH.
FEBRUARY.
You can save garments should be worn;
They will insure her constancy.
True friendship and fidelity.

MARCH.
Who in this world of ours their eyes
In March first open shall be wise;
In days of peril firm and brave,
And meet the onslaught of their grave.

APRIL.
She who from April dates her years
Diamonds should wear, lest bitter tears
For vain repentance flow; this stone
Emblem of innocence is known.

MAY.
Who first behold the light of day
In spring, and see the world array
In green and gold, and see the sun
Shall be a loved and happy wife.

JUNE.
Who open with summer to this earth,
And eyes to gaze on her days of birth,
With ring of age on her hand,
Can health, wealth, and long life command.

JULY.
The glowing ruby should adorn
Those who in summer they are born
Then will they be exempt and free
From love's doubts and anxiety.

AUGUST.
Wear a sardonyx, or for thee
No coajugal fidelity;
The August-born without this stone
Thy said must live unloved and lone.

There are many familiar phrases
In constant use which the majority of people suppose have their origin in the Bible, and use them in that connection. The New York Observer corrects this error in the following manner, but, as the phrases are very fine, we still love to use them.

TO PREVENT MISQUOTATION FROM THE SCRIPTURE, IT GIVES THEM THIS:
"God tempers the wind to the shorn lamb." From Stierne's "Sentimental Journey to Italy."
"Prone to sin as the sparks fly upward." "Borne to trouble as the sparks to fly upwards." Rom. xii: 10.

"A nation shall be born in a day." In Isaiah it reads: "Shall a nation be born in a day?"
"An iron sharpeneth iron so doth a man the countenance of a friend." "Iron sharpeneth; so a man sharpeneth the countenance of his friends." Prov. xxvii: 17.

"Owe no man anything, but to love one another." Rom. xii: 8.
"Prone to sin as the sparks fly upward." "Borne to trouble as the sparks to fly upwards." Rom. xii: 10.

"Exalted to heaven in point of privilege." Not in the Bible.
"Eye was not Adam's helpmate, but merely a help meet for him; nor was Absalom's long hair the instrument of his destruction; his head, and not his hair, was caught in the boughs of the tree." (2 Samuel, xviii: 9.)

"Every human soul has gems of flowers within, and they would open if they could only find sunshine and fresh air to expand in."
"Sir James Simpson was a practical economist. A blank leaf in his little cash book contained this quotation: 'Let not thy recreations be expensive, lest the pain of purchasing them exceed the pleasure thou hast in their enjoyment.'"

"About this he writes: 'The world is a great and glorious theatre, but it is often heaped to mourn-tains rise.
Weight every small expense, and nothing long saved amount to pounds at last.'"

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN
which has been published weekly for the last 23 years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication: in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to MANUFACTURES, MECHANICS, INVENTIONS and NEW DISCOVERIES in ARTS and SCIENCES.

Patents. In connection with the foregoing, the Scientific American has the honor to announce that it has the largest establishment in the world for the preparation of Patents, and that it has the most complete and up-to-date information in regard to the same.
