The Ontario Elections.

The time has been fixed for the Ontario Elections. The writ will be issued in due time to hold the election on Tuesday, 29th May, and the polling on the 6th June. And now will commence the tug of war. All our readers are perfectly well aware of who the two candidates for this constituency are, as we have often repeated their names. We believe that both are working hard, and each is satisfied that the other will remain at home. It is likely that the election will be held throughout the county, when the candidates and their friends will address the electors. The principal electioneering will be the efficiency and the expenditures of the Mevay administration.

British and Foreign Grain Trade.

London, April 15.—The Market Letter relates to the situation of wheat. It is the consensus of wheat similar to that of the last few days does not figure as a plant there will be no cause of apprehension. Probably less than the average price was seen. The land in the south of Scotland is reported to be in excellent working order. Spring wheat is now generally in the ground in the north. Hay and straw are scarce and wintered and winter wheat is being sown in the north. The farmers offered wheat to be sold during the week, both in the north and in the south, but business was dull without any special features of interest. Millers are only opening for immediate requirements. Little was done in foreign wheat. The imports into London were unusually light. Buyers are satisfied that American wheat is a sufficient to cover requirements for any deficiency from other sources. Pending the development of the situation of American wheat, it is quite impossible to forecast the future of prices, but it is noteworthy that the American wheat is being offered here. The holiday has not affected the market. The holiday has not affected the market. The holiday has not affected the market.

DESTRUCTIVE Confession.

By the Rev. J. C. Hill, of the Methodist Church.

At 12:10 o'clock this morning the alarm of the fire bell rang and it was soon ascertained that the work of R. Adams, near the railway station, containing about 900 tons of hay. The fire started in the hay, which was stacked as dry as tinder, and it was soon burning for a number of years. The fire was piled closely about the front of the store. As soon as the fire started it kept it from spreading was commenced, but it was not until it had spread about 150 yards at the west end of the hay stack that the fire in that direction. The whole of the wood stack was consumed, except a few rods of wood which were carried away by the wind. The fire spread with such rapidity that the hay was soon consumed and the heat was so intense that it was hard work to keep the fire from communicating with the houses of Messrs. Nelson and Kelly. The fire was piled closely about the front of the store. As soon as the fire started it kept it from spreading was commenced, but it was not until it had spread about 150 yards at the west end of the hay stack that the fire in that direction.
