THURSDAY MORNING, OCT. 30, 1879.

The Winter Evenings.

Now that the evenings are lengthening out, and the long winter nights are approaching, the question arises, "how shall our young people spend their evenings?" Last winter skating monopolized their attention, but this sport, though very good in its place, does not furnish intellectual enjoyment, and this want has been felt for some time. We think that a Debating Club, Literary Society, or something of this sort, if organized, might take very well. We will place the columns of our paper at the disposal of any of our young friends who might like to make suggestions on this point, and hope they will take the matter in hand and not let it drop.

Cars Wanted.

From every station along the G. T. line there comes a pressing call for cars in which to ship wheat, and the general cry is so, unless for through freight. Almost every car belonging to the company is pressed into the through freight business, which was never so large as at present. And it is impossible to obtain cars for grain or merchandise of any kind, for intermediate shipments, and many of our manufacturers and business men are losing good cash sales by not being able to get cars. The cities cannot be supplied, let alone the villages and towns, and farmers will doubtless be forced to hold their wheat which remains unsold till car room is more plentiful. Such a rush for grain cars was never known before, but we expect that as soon as possible the cars will be dispatched to the different stations.

Value of Having a Trade.

There are some people so foolish as to think that manual labor is a degradation. The moment a man deems himself respectable, as having some position in society, or, when he has made a little money, he shrinks from apprenticing his sons to any trade. No, a father now sends his son to starve in an overcrowded profession, or to earn a scanty pittance as a clerk in a ribbon store, robbing the feebler sex of their means of obtaining a livelihood, although as carpenters or coopers, builders or machinists, farmers or manufacturers, they might by industry and economy, soon earn a competence, and become masters and employers, and gain an enviable reputation. Hard manual labor is not degrading in itself, nor is it inconsistent with true gentility. A working man need not be rude, rough and coarse; he need not lack in refinement and culture. All of God's creatures who have the independence and nobility to work for their own living, can become true men and gentlemen, in the best sense of that much abused word. The nature of the work has nothing to do with it. It depends altogether on what you yourself are. If a man has a trade and aims to become skilful in it—if he is sober, trustworthy and obliging, he is sure of employment and a comfortable subsistence as, in this uncertain world, any man can be.

Census Taking.

Next year will be 1880; and when the number of the year ends in a cypher, there is a great ingathering of all sorts of statistics. In other words, the Decennial Census is taken by the Canadian Government. At some time during next year the lot of every farmer, and of every other person, will be visited and the occupant called upon to give concise answers to a long list of questions. In order that these answers may be accurate—for the value of the census depends upon the accuracy—every farmer should write down, while it is fresh in his mind, the number of acres of grain grown this year; the yield, etc., the number of head of live stock, the products of the dairy, and in fact all the results of this year's farming, and have them ready for the day when the facts are to be gathered. It is to the interest of the farmer that the census be accurately taken; so let each one be prepared beforehand, and not to forced to give hasty guesses upon such important matters. There are peculiar people, not to say 'crooked sticks,' in the world, though we are glad to believe that these, though they exist among farmers, are not especially numerous. Yet even among farmers there will be those who regard the questions put by the census taker as an impertinent inquiry into their private business, and either refuse to reply at all together, or to give blind and evasive answers. Such persons should know that the census taker is an officer of the General Government, and represents for this purpose, the will of the people. Laws carry with them a penalty for their violation and evasion, those who resist the examination of the "Census Man" may get into trouble.

A Long Time to Suffer.

Twenty-five years of endurance with Catarrh is a long period of annoyance and misery. Mrs. E J. Flanders, of Manchester, N. H., after going through it all, writes: "The Constitutional Catarrh Remedy has rescued me from intense suffering and almost the grave." This medicine is for sale by all Druggists.

INVALIDS.—Do you wish to gather flesh to acquire an appetite, to enjoy a regular habit of body, to obtain refreshing sleep, to feel and know that every fibre and tissue of your system is being braced and renovated? If so, commence at once and use the quinine wine, prepared by Northrop & Lyman, of Toronto, and in a short time you will feel the whole system invigorated and strengthened. It is a well-known fact that Quinine has been acknowledged by the medical faculty for many years as the best appetizer and tonic known. And for general debility, this combination will be found superior to all other preparations. And combined as it is with fine sherry wine and choice aromatics, it is made an agreeable and pleasant invigorator to the whole system. The properties of Quinine are a febrifuge, tonic and anti-periodic. Small doses, frequently repeated, strengthen the pulse, increase muscular force, and invigorate the tone of the nerve system. The peculiar operation of this medicine in general debility and as an appetizer, has undergone long and close observation, and it is believed it will never fail, if properly and judiciously administered, unless other diseases predominate of a different character. Persons of weak constitution may take it without the least difficulty, as it strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, and seldom require more than one or two bottles to effect a decided benefit, as it contains nothing injurious to the most delicate constitution. Remember to ask for the Quinine Wine prepared by Northrop & Lyman, Toronto," and we are sure you will be satisfied that you have full value for your money. Sold by G. E. Morrow, Acton, and all Medicine Dealers.

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs Lawrence & Co's new circular. The combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means for operating all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided month by month. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. BAPTIST WEEKLY, September 25, 1878, says, "By the combination system $15 would make $75 or 5 per cent; $50 pays $250 or 5 per cent; $100 makes $1,000 or 10 per cent on the stock, during the month, according to the market." FRANK LESLIE'S ILLUSTRATED NEWSPAPER, June 29, 78: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." NEW YORK INDEPENDENT Sept 12th, "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs Lawrence & Co. BROOKLYN JOURNAL, April 29th, "Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 from $25 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co's combinations." Send circular (mailed free) explaining everything. Stocks and bonds wanted; Government bonds supplied; Lawrence & Co, Bankers, 57 Exchange Place N. Y.

TO MANUFACTURERS, Or Capitalists.

FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN.

The Shingle, Stave and Heading Manufactory belonging to the estate of the late Edward Moore, Acton, Ont., is now offered for sale, at a bargain.

The above property is known as the Acton Shingle Mills, and is in excellent running order. A large stock of Shingles, Staves and Heading has just been cut out and the mill is now running. This year it has been thoroughly refitted and a new set of Stave and Heading machinery was put in, making it one of the most complete Shingle, Stave and Heading mills in the country. Any quantity of timber can be secured, delivered at the mill, and a good business in custom shingle sawing can be done here. The mills are distant about half a mile from the Acton depot of the G. T. R., and ready markets are available for the stock. The mill also contains a Planing and Matching machine, and there is good power for running all the machinery.

Terms Reasonable.—Title Indisputable.

For particulars apply at the mill to SAMUEL MOORE,

GUELPH.

We respectfully solicit the attention of the public to our new stock of British, American and Domestic

Dry Goods,

which for value and variety will fully maintain our past reputation for

Good and Cheap Goods.

We recognize the necessity for selling at a close price. We then with confidence say to the public, come see our stock, compare quality and prices, and rely on getting the best bargains ever offered of new goods, cheaper than old stock at half price.

Cheap because just the goods wanted, being fresh and new. For honest people to read the advertisements we are aware how perplexing it is. Who shall talk the loudest and brag the most seems to be the maxim of each, but an intelligent public know well that that is not selling good and cheap goods.
