Romance in Brief.

Skies ultra maris With flocks of white, Florida tender and green - A day to delight A maiden so sweet Looks out at the door - There's some one to meet, This is not the first time.

SELECT READING.

AN UNSELFISH LEGACY.

In Dr. Hartley's private office, one November day, two men - the doctor himself and the son of his dear friend - sat facing each other.

Modern Definitions of Commercial Terms.

Bankrupt - A man who gives everything to a lawyer so his creditors will be sure to get it.

Assignee - The chap who has the deal and gives himself lost.

A Bank - A place where people put their money so that it will be handy when other folks want it.

A Depositor - A man who don't know how to spend his money and gets the cashier to show him.

President - A big fat man who promises to boss the job and afterwards solicits it.

A Director - One of those who accepts a trust that don't involve the use of either their eyes or their ears.

Cashier - One often a man who undertakes to support a wife, six children and a brown steed on fifty dollars a month and be honest.

Collateral - Are certain pieces of paper as good as gold, due and payable on the first day of April.

Assets - Usually consist of five chairs and an old stove; to this may be added a spoon if the 'best' isn't a bad one.

The Tramp Triumphant.

A citizen of North Sydney was picking his teeth at his gate the other noon, after a hearty dinner, when a tramp came around the corner and halted before him.

She Was Certain.

A Wayne County farmer had some wheat stolen a few nights since, and he was so sure that he knew who the thief was, that he came to Detroit and secured a warrant for a certain young man living near him.

An Innocent Abroad.

The other day, the police at the Union depot noticed a feeble-looking man standing in an empty car.

The Mistress Out.

Didn't you know you were lying when you said your mistress was out? asked the Judge of a fervent girl in a New York court.
