Acton Free Press
OUR SIXTH VOLUME.

With this issue of the FREE PRESS commences the sixth year of its existence, and we are much pleased to be able to report that it was never in better health than at present. Every month since we have been connected with the journal new subscribers have been added to our list, and although merchants have not yet seen their interest sufficiently to use our advertising columns as they should, we are happy to find that they are beginning to recognize the necessity of using printers' ink. During the past year we have made many friends, but we are not, and never expect to be, in the position that all men will speak well of us. In the course of his journalistic experience, every editor comes in contact with some of the most distinguished people with abnormally fine strong capabilities, whose extreme notions always run counter to the opinions of others on any subject. But, from in the resolve to do what is right, according to the light given to us, we intend to defend the right and expose the wrong, and in whatever shape evil presents itself in our community our columns will always be open to the public to denounce it. In closing the completed volume, we enclose there-with many silent but tangible evidences of the difficulties which surround a young journalist's career, evidences of hard times not being absent. By some the printer is looked upon as mythical being, capable of living upon promises and his own "pie," possessing an indomitable appetite for second class fire-wood, and an insatiable desire to see everybody prosper but himself. Others there are who act as if they thoroughly understood that the local printer is a recognized sharer in their commercial ups and downs, a business man who has to make a living by feeding the public with news, and a decided necessity in municipal life. Some, generally the too much educated, look down upon his efforts, and the curling lip betokens that they think they could manage a newspaper so much better; others view the printer as a walking dictionary, a living encyclopaedia, a compound encyclopedia, complete in one volume, who knows everything, from the date on which the evening star first shed its light to the age of every youngster who plays upon the street. At some imaginary line between these two extremes will probably be found our true position. In our particular history we have found much pleasure in the hearty support and cheery words of many kind friends, and we have also found that our humble efforts to unmask of the Free Press a live, local paper, have been recognized. If these happier thoughts have been counter-balanced by the dark hours which come to all who enter the ranks of journalism without abundance of means, then here we only shared these difficulties with our compeers in many a Canadian town and village. Today finds the Free Press, we fondly believe, a welcome visitor in many hundred homes, a truthful historian, and an energetic coadjutor with the social, industrial and commercial life of the town in which we live. We can only trust that in the yet unwritten pages of the volume we commence with this issue, no blot may call for erasure, and that we may ever be found true to the interests with which we are intimately identified—the interests of this vicinity in every respect.

The Hanlan-Trickett Race.

Hanlan fears that his disability may make a race with Trickett impossible. He asserts that the recent race was won by force, and attributes the condition to overwork. Hanlan appeared rather dejected.

Dominion Day.

Dominion day is once more on hand, with its usual round of pleasures and attractions. Thirteen years ago our people celebrated the birth of Confederated Canada in a most loyal, joyous and enthusiastic manner, and every year since, the anniversary of that glorious event has been the occasion of general rejoicing and merry-making throughout the length and breadth of our vast Dominion. There will be no exception to this rule to-day. Many opportunities of pleasure and enjoyment are offered.

Stock versus Wheat Raising.

The evidence being taken before the Ontario Commission demonstrates a fact to which many farmers continue to shut their eyes, viz: that the day for wheat growing is rapidly passing away from the older portions of the province, the soil being exhausted, and that some other industry must replace the production of that grain as a staple. In England the fully of struggling wheat growers has been the cause of the "wheat riots," and it is not beyond possibility that the farmers of that country cannot hold their own against the produce wheat fields of the newly settled regions where crop after crop is taken from the generous soil. The result is that English farmers are being advised by economists and scientists to give over wheat growing as an essential and take to the raising of stock for the vast British markets. In this branch of industry it is expected they will be able to hold their own, and, possibly, do something more. It appears that such advice is now applicable to the older portions of Ontario. The market for good beef, pork and mutton will continue to increase, and there are excellent means for supplying it for all the crops that grain can be produced to advantage. Sound advice to our farmers seems to be that they should extend less and less upon wheat and more upon the raising and improvement of stock. Hamilton Times.

General News.

It has been officially announced that the Hon. John Beverley Robinson has been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario in the place of Hon. D. A. Macdonald, whose term of office expired some months ago. The new Governor has for nearly a quarter of a century been publicly identified with the Conservative party, but he has never been distinguished by his brilliant talents.

Bathing.

As the warm season advances and lighting will form a very desirable recreation and enjoyment in a great many it may be well to recommend to the recreation of those who have not learned to swim a few plain directions which may be found advantageous in preserving life. Men are employed by raising their arms above the water, the unobtrusive weight of which depresses the head. Animals have neither motion or ability to act in a similar manner, and therefore swim naturally. When a man falls into deep water he will rise to the surface and will continue there if he does not elevate his hands. If he moves his hand under water in any way he pleases, his head will rise so high as to allow full liberty to breathe, and if he will use his legs as in the act of walking, or rather walking up stairs, his shoulders will rise above the water. The weight of the human body and the weight of the water differ so little that the least exertion in the proper direction, and above all presence of mind, is sufficient to meet any immediate danger from drowning.

Grip classifies the various papers published in Toronto, thus:—"A Bylander stood an interested Spectator of one of the most graphic incidents he had ever witnessed in Town and Country. An Irish Canadian, who had visited most parts of the Globe, and whose National love desired to send a Telegram to the Christian Guardian of his children in Ireland. He wrote his message as if despite had him in his Grip, at the same time enquiring the cost. The reply he received shocked him. "The Monetary Times are so dull to enable me to pay so much," he said. "It will be cheaper for me to Mail the matter, and in the meantime I shall appeal to the Tribune of the people regarding your price." "By all means do so," said the Clerk who stood Sentinel at the desk, "and much good may it do you."
