THE SCARCITY OF DWELLING HOUSES.

The business prospects of one village are at present better and more encouraging than has been the case for several years previous, and a new and stirring spirit of enterprise has inaugurated advancement on all sides. With this prosperous state of things a considerable number of families have moved into our village, the influx being so large and rapid that every dwelling house in the corporation, regardless of condition, has become tenanted, while some of the more commodious, and in fact some that are not very commodious, have been utilized for two or more families.

This shows exceedingly well for the prosperity of the village, but in order to insure continued growth those interested in the welfare of our little town must conclude at once to make a move in the matter of the erection of more houses, to supply the accommodation required, otherwise the growth of the place will be stunted and we will be apt to lose citizens instead of gaining others. Now, there are a number of capitalists in town who could very profitably invest considerable money in the erection of a number of dwelling houses, to rent for say $5 to $8 per month, and at the same time be doing a good turn to the village in which they reside. We feel confident that twenty or twenty-five new buildings could be rented immediately were they to be obtained, and we certainly think that the financial men of the village should carefully consider the matter and conclude to erect dwellings sufficient for the necessary accommodation immediately.

As well as the dwellings all being occupied we are exceedingly well pleased to be able to state that all the stores and business stands on the principle streets, which are in suitable condition, are at present occupied, a matter which speaks well for the business of our growing little town.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.
The Teachers of Halton County in Convention.

A Most Successful Meeting.

Last Thursday, Friday and Saturday our village was favored with the presence of the majority of the public school teachers of our county, who were assembled in their semi-annual convention in the public school in this village. The attendance, both of teachers and spectators, was equal to that of any former convention of the association, and each session was of interest to all present. Our space being very limited this week, our readers will have to be content with a short outline of the proceedings of the convention.

The first session was opened on Thursday morning by the President, Mr. R. Little, P. S. I., of this village, and was spent in general routine business. In the afternoon G. W. Ross, Esq., M. P., of Stratford, gave a very practical address on "How to teach tablet reading lessons." Miss M. J. Crooks, of Burlington, followed with an interesting paper on "Discipline," and a discussion on the subject was led by Miss L. Meade, of Mansfield, M. Ross again addressed the convention on "Mistakes in reading."

In the evening Mr. Ross lectured to a large and very attentive audience in the Methodist church, on "Intellectual Force." The lecture was full of interest throughout and was indeed an intellectual treat.

On Friday morning Rev. D. B. Cameron, of this village, gave his views as to "The Teachers' Qualifications," giving the teachers some practical advice. Mr. D. J. McKinnon, P. S. I., of Peel county, then anounced the audience with a reading on "An Amateur Teacher's Experience." The committee on Superannuation Fund then presented their report, which was discussed at length.

The afternoon session was opened with a paper by Miss McKeever, of Burlington, on "Teachers' salaries," which was followed by a class taught by Mr. T. Moore, principal of Acton public school, illustrating his method of teaching "Physical Geography." Mr. P. McLean, of the County Model School, gave his method of teaching "General Geography," after which N. J. Welwood, Esq., B. A., head master Oakville High School, gave a short address on "Statistics."

Notwithstanding the wet and disagreeable evening a large audience assembled in the Presbyterian church to hear Rev. J. Thompson, M. A., of Ayr, deliver his lectures on "Music." This lecture was much enjoyed by all present.

The last session of the convention was held on Saturday morning and was occupied, after a further discussion on the Superannuation Fund, with general business of the association. The next convention will be held in February, but the place for holding has been left in the hands of a committee. Motions tendering the thanks of the members of the association, to the people of Acton for their hospitality, and to the friends of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches for the use of their buildings, were passed, after which the convention was closed by the company singing the National Anthem.

NASSAWAYA NEWS.

From our own correspondent.

The turnip crop is almost a complete failure this year.

Nearly all the Public School teachers of the township attended the Convention held at Acton last week.

The usual Quarterly Sacramental services will be held in the Presbyterian church, Haltonville, next Sunday.

Mr. James Collins, teacher at school No. 4, leaves Nassawaya at the close of the present year to seek his fortune on another continent.

Mr. John Barber left last week for Trinity Medical College, Toronto, at which institution he purposed taking a medical course.

James C. Turner has resigned his place in school section No. 7, and Mr.

Thos. Moore of this township has been appointed to the vacancy. Mr. Turner is attending the Normal School at Ottawa.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS.

WOMAN KILLED at Rockwood.

Between seven and eight o'clock on Saturday morning a fatal accident occurred on the Grand Trunk railway, a short distance from Rockwood. The victim an old woman named Mrs. McGrath, who belongs to that village. She was walking on the track towards the station, and evidently was not aware that a freight train was following close behind her. The engineer, on finding that she did not get off the track when he whistled, tried to stop the train, but before it could be brought to a standstill several cars had passed over the unfortunate old woman. Her mangled and lifeless remains were taken on board and conveyed to the station, where they were identified by friends.
