

POPPY FOLKS CORNER.

PHIL'S SECRET.

I know a little girl, But I won't tell who she is...

About Bakers.

POINTS ON THEIR BUSINESS BY A NON-PROFESSIONAL.

The baker, children, is indeed the best subject I have yet lectured upon...

You love cakes, don't you, dear? That is to say, all kinds of cakes...

The baker never wipes off your score. He cannot. He kneads the sponge.

You had better not loaf about life. He wants to do all the loafing himself.

The baker purchases every kind of breadstuffs, and much of the breadstuffs, though that he sells.

With all his baking he is seldom crusty. The baker has been suspected of being a pie house fraud.

The baker is a great lover of flour. He raises them. His rare flours are only found in the yeast.

He is a well bread man, and makes much a dough about it. Bakers are as much given to marrying as any other class of men.

Strange stories are told of what the baker puts in his pies; but these stories are not true I know, because I have looked into the pies.

Children, you like to have your bread done and you will be glad to know that I am done too.

Too Expensive.

Wm. H. Vanderbilt, though worth millions of dollars, says that he can not afford to gamble, smoke or drink liquor.

The general election. The general election is now on the tapis. It may perhaps be a useful hint to initiate that an absolute necessity.

Rheumatic Remedy. There is no better cure for rheumatism than Hagar's Yellow Oil used according to directions on the bottle.

Historics make men wise; poets, witty; the mathematic, subtle; natural philosophy, deep, moral, grave; logic and rhetoric, able to contend.

No more hand scolding from using steel pens when Hagar's Yellow Oil used according to directions on the bottle.

A cold horse will sometimes give a person a sore throat, but nothing will give an opera-singer a sore throat quicker than a light horse.

Ingenious Invention. Some shrewd Yankee has invented a key that will wind any watch; it is a neat invention to a charm, and it is said to work like a charm.
